Final section automobile 10-mile free for all race.

This Is "Missouri Day."

Today, "Missouri day," was sure enough "Big Thursday" at the fair, and long before the gates were thrown open to admit the thousands of visitors an immense crowd had assembled anxious to get on the inside of the gounds.

A prominent man in attendance, who has visited nearly all of the state fairs of the United States, numerous county fairs, and other big gatherings throughout the country, stated that the Missouri people sure get up early to go to fairs, spend the entire day, and do not return to their homes until late in the evening for fear of not seeing it all, and never before was this more clearly demonstrated than today, when the vast throng of people were seen hurrying to and fro, from one end of the grounds to the other.

The forenoon was spent by the judges in the different departments making awards, and this work has been practically completed. In the different exhibits, blue, red and white ribbons were to be seen everywhere, and this added considerable attractiveness to the already beautiful and interesting showings made.

The crowd today was so large that a conservative estimate of it would be almost impossible, so suffice it to say that it was the largest ever seen by several thousands, and, with continued favorable weather, a large attendance is anticipated for Friday, closing day of the greatest exhibition ever made at any state fair ever held in Missouri.

All of the prize winning exhibits were on display for the inspection of visitors, and in the afternoon an exhibition of saddle horses, combination harness and saddle stallions, roadster and carriage horses, Shetland ponies, and the American Saddle Horse championship contest for a $100 sliver trophy for the best five-gaited stallion, mare or gelding.

Notes of the Fair.

Mrs. Douglass, of Centralia, was in the judges' stand as one of the timers in today's racing program.

On account of having a big racing program for this afternoon the races were started at 12:30 o'clock.

Joseph Wilson, of Jasper county, who is among the prominent visitors to the fair, served as one of the timers at Wednesday's races.

Over four thousand visitors were brought to this city from Pleasant Hill, Jefferson City, Lexington, Warsaw and intermediate points by the Missouri Pacific today.

Gov. Folk, wife and party and the members of the state fair board were given a delightful luncheon at the Country club yesterday afternoon, the entertainment being in charge of J. A. Lamy, W. M. Johns and Geo. K. Mackey and their wives.

From 10 o'clock this forenoon all of the eating houses were crowded to the limit, and several of them ran short of food, and had to send to the city for an additional supply long before the noon hour so as to be able to feed the vast multitude.

Gate keepers and ticket sellers at the fair grounds were given some real work today, and none of them feel as if they failed to earn their money, as they were kept going from early morning until late this afternoon in handling the crowds.

Several excursion trains into the city today as soon as they arrived were put onto the fair grounds tracks by both the Missouri Pacific and Katy and transported their passengers to the grounds in addition to the people making the trip on the regular shuttle trains.

C. H. Gladish, representing the Leahy Manufacturing Co., of Higginsville, is in charge of the company's display at the fair. They make incubators, brooders, egg carriers, shipping coops, poultry and bee supplies, and captured the blue ribbon on brooders.

Strobel's airship has been repaired and is ready to make a flight, but will probably not do so before 4 o'clock this afternoon, and if at that time the velocity of the wind is too great the trip through the air by Aeronaut Dick Dallas will not be made until it abates, late this evening.

Wednesday's big sheep sale was a big success, the aggregate sum realized from the offerings amounting to $7,000. Among the sales were 37 rams for $2,920, 104 ewes for $4,062, the general average of 141 head being $45.92. Sale Manager M. V. Carroll reports that the sale far exceeded expectations of anyone

The local Humane society this morning sent a letter to the manager of an attraction on the fair grounds, that of having a monkey at which soft rubber balls are thrown, notifying him that he must cease permitting anyone to throw at the animal. The manager of the concession, who had been doing a thriving business, is making an effort to adjust the matter so that he can continue his separating the fair visitors from their coin.

The meeting of the Pettis County Old Settlers' association with the state association, which was on Tuesday's program as one of the events for 11 o'clock this morning at the Live Stock pavillion, was not held, the old settlers being too busily engaged in reviewing the exhibits and enjoying the various amusements provided for the visitors to get together for the session. Ex-Governor Norman J. Colman and Hon G. W. Barnett were ready to make the addresses arranged for, but had no audience.

WANTED TO BE LOCKED UP

Said He Killed a Man—A Case of Too Much Booze.

George Morrison, a well dressed man and non-resident, was given ten days in jail by Judge Rickman today for vagrancy.

Late yesterday afternoon Morrison applied to the jailer at the county jail, saying he had killed a man and wanted to be locked up. He was sent to Judge Rickman's office.

There he said he wanted to be locked in jail for five days in order that he could not get any liquor.

Accordingly, he was remanded to jail and arraigned in court this morning and given the fine stated above.

Woodmen of the World.

Two applications were balloted on by Sedalia camp No. 16, Woodmen of the World, at last night's meeting.

MR. C. V. WITCHER DEAD

THE END CAME AT HIS HOME IN CHICAGO, BUT BURIAL IS TO BE IN SEDALIA.

NONE OF THE PARTICULARS KNOWN

Nat S. Green, Who Managed the Dun Mercantile Agency Here a Dozen Years Ago, Passed Away at Home in Australia.

C. V. Witcher, a former Sedalian, for three months a resident of Chicago, died at his home in that city very suddenly last Monday. He was 50 years old and leaves a wife and one child, Mrs. June Harris, of this city.

The remains were shipped from Chicago this morning to Sedalia, where burial will be made, but until the body arrives no funeral arrangements will be made.

Mr. Witcher was well known in Sedalia, where he lived for a number of years. He has many friends in this city and throughout the state, all of whom will read of his death with sorrow. The burial will be private.

Nat Green Is Dead.

C. B. Smith, of St. Louis, district manager of the R. G. Dun Mercantile agency, who is here today, yesterday received a telegram from the head office in New York, announcing the receipt of a cablegram from Australia, telling of the death there of Nat Green, who was manager there for the Dun people.

Mr. Green, who was about 40 years old, was manager of the Sedalia office some twelve years ago, and went from here to Dallas, Texas, as district manager for the Dun company.

Mr. Green was only recently married, and Mr. Smith was asked to notify relatives in Missouri of the death.

STAPEL IS IN THE CITY

Editor Who Wants to Be Governor Visiting the Fair.

Henry F. Staple, editor of the Atchison County Mail, who is a candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, is in the city visiting the fair and incidentally looking after his candidacy.

"I am in this race to win and have already arranged my personal affairs so that all my time can be devoted to my campaign and the democratic party," he declared. "I am not making a race under cover, but I am going to make a fight for those reforms and changes which I think are right and I believe the people will uphold me by choosing me at the primary to lead the party on to victory next fall."

Mr. Staple has been in state politics for a quarter of a century and at present represents Atchison county in the state legislature. He was postmaster at Rockport under President Cleveland. He is a graduate of Peru state normal school at Peru, Neb., and a graduate in law of Michigan university. He has been the editor of the Atchison County Mail for about twenty-five years.

He announced his intentions of entering the race for the gubernatorial nomination there months ago and has since then devoted much time in campaigning the state in his interests. He talked of his record in the legislature this morning and upon national and state issues. Then his conversation drifted to Bryan.

"I am a lover and advocate of the Jeffersonian democracy as practiced by Thomas Jefferson and I favor the nomination of William J. Bryan for president of the United States. He is the greatest democrat in the country today and I believe that if he is nominated he will be elected.

Death of E. O. Brown.

E. O. Brown, a widower, of 807 East Ninth street, died at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon of Bright's disease, aged 70 years. He leaves one daughter, Miss Elsie, and a son, Clarence. The remains will be taken to Smithton for burial Saturday.

Mitchell Will Give Up Place.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, formally announced today that he would not be a candidate for re-election to his present place because of ill health.

Turned People Away.

Last night the New Sedalia theater, after selling every available seat in the house, had to turn away 500 people who applied for tickets. So anxious were people to see the North Bros.' attraction that over 500 ladies and gentlemen went into the gallery rather than miss the performance. Tonight the same company will give another of their splendid performances.

Resisted an Officer.

Reuben Miller, a stockman, was arrested by Deputy Constable Phalings last night, charged with disturbing the peace. En route to jail he resisted the officer and another charge was placed against him. Miller gave bond, but failed to show up today.

IS SHE IN SEDALIA NOW?

A SUIT FOR DIVORCE FOLBOWS

James Carroll Vaughan Prays for a Decree and Also Asks for the Custody of Their Minor Children.

Hazell and Lay filed a suit in the circuit court Tuesday for James Carroll Vaughan from Martha E. Vaughan and for the custody of the five children born of the marriage, says the Jefferson City Tribune.

The petition alleges that they were married in Camden county and that five children were born; that last February the defendant left her husband and departed with one M. M. Maples, taking the oldest daughter with her, and that the plaintiff believes that she is now living with the said Maples in Sedalia.

The case will come up for hearing at the November term of the circuit court.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND

Was in Chicago River and Had Cuts and Bruises Upon It.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—The body of an unidentified woman, apparently 35 years old, and fashionably dressed, was found in the Chicago river near the Halstead street bridge today, with her head and face cut and bruised and a cut about the neck and shoulders.

It is evidently a case of murder, but not for the purpose of robbery, as a watch bearing the initials, S. J., and gold rings were found upon the body.

Gus Werner Branches Out.

Gus Werner, the tinner, has purchased from Adolph Hillman the Sedalia Sheet Metal Works company, on South Ohio street, and will soon move the material, supplies, etc., to his present place of business at 218 East Second street.

Was Robbed of $21.

C. A. Long, of New Franklin, while attending the show at Wood's opera house last night, was robbed of $21, which was stolen from his pocked by a pickpocket.

Stricken With Paralysis.

George W. Hays, aged about 60 years, a retired capitalist of Tipton, was stricken with paralysis there Wednesday and is in a critical condition.

Will Pave Kentucky Avenue.

John Hyatt, a contractor, is at work with a force of men tearing up Kentucky avenue from Third to Broadway, preparatory to paving the street.

Cubs Won Wednesday's Game.

The Chicago Cubs won Wednesday's game from the Detroit Tigers, 3-8-1 to 1-10-2. Batteries—Pfeister and Kling; Mullin and Payne.

The Cardinals Won.

The St. Louis Cardinals defeated the St. Louis Browns Wednesday, 8-11-1 to 5-7-4.

"SMOOTH" MEN IN HOCK

THEY POSED AS SUCH, BUT WERE GATHERED IN BY PEACE GUARDIANS.

THE LOCAL AND VISITING OFFICERS

Arrested Them Yesterday and Last Night—Three of the Ten Are Held for Trial in Criminal Court.

Ten professional pickpockets from different parts of the country, who came to Sedalia to "do" the state fair, were detected by local and visiting officers yesterday and last night and locked in jail.

George Davis and John Newman, charged with robbing Thomas Martin, of Blackwell, of $54, were arraigned for a preliminary hearing before Judge Gresham, ex-officio justice of the peace, in police court today. Both stood trial and were held to the criminal court in a $1,000 bond each, in default of which they were remanded to jail.

Newman and Davis were first espied by James Card, and when arrested had almost $200 in currency and silver in their pockets.

John Rockwell, another professional pickpocket, known in metropolitan police circles as the "Little Jew," was arraigned for a preliminary hearing before the same judge, charged with stealing $16.50 from C. C. Maupin, of Calhoun. He stood trial and was held to the criminal court in a $1,000 bond, in default of which he, too, was remanded to jail.

The other seven criminals are still in jail and will likely be kept there until after the fair, after which they will be sent from town.

Howard Wood, chief of police at the state fair grounds, and his assistants, deserve much credit for the able manner in which they handle the crowds at the fair grounds and prevent robberies.

Detectives O'Hare, Schenk, McCarty and Stewart are continually on the go at the grounds, and their presence no doubt is the cause for the few thefts reported, while the uniformed officers have the thanks of the general public for the efficient service rendered.

Chief Boullt is also doing splendid work in the city, and the crook who gets away with the swag in Sedalia this week will be a sure enough smooth artist.

INTEREST IS INTENT

Today's Contest Between Chicago and Detroit Attracting Big Crowds.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Interest in today's Chicago-Detroit game is intense and throngs began early to migrate towards the field of battle, taxing the street car systems to their utmost to accommodate them. The weather is clear, but a strong wind made light overcoats acceptable.

The batteries for today will not be decided until later. The catching department is worrying Jennings. Schmidt and Payne have both been tried and found wanting. Archer may be given an opportunity to show his worth.

MYSTERY STILL UNSOLVED

Death of Kansas Girl Still Being Investigated by Jury.

Iola, Kas., Oct. 10.—Nothing new developed in the coroner's inquest regarding the death of Miss Sapp here today.

The mercantile firm whose name was upon the razor with which the girl was killed, and by means of which it was hoped to find the murderer, reported today that they were unable to discover to whom the razor was sold.

Will Travel Hereafter.

Ralph Hammond, for eight employed at the Mackey Shoe Co. has resigned and left today for Detroit, Mich., to accept a position with the Menzie Shoe company as traveling salesman, with territory in Missouri, Arkansasa nd Texas.

Disturbed the Peace.

Frank Walters was given ten days in jail by Judge Clark today for disturbing the peace.

UNION LABEL

HOBBLE FEDERAL JUDGES.

The recent decision of Judge Lochren, of the United States circuit court enjoining the officers of the state of Minnesota from enforcing the law of that state in regard to freight rates, adds a new chapter to the usurpation of federal courts. It will no doubt have an effect contrary to what was intendd by it. In fact, it will result in the introduction of bills at the next session of congress for circumscribing the powers of federal courts by depriving them of all authority to issue writs of injunction, habeas corpus and prohibition in cases wherein the law of a state is called in question.

And it is not unlikely that such a measure may be enacted into law.

In 1802 the democrats, at Jefferson's suggestion, abolished the circuit court of the United States created by the sixth congress in February, 1801; and that precedent is receiving the attention of all congressmen who favor the preservation of the reserve rights of the states and trial by jury.

The next great struggle in this country will be like the first—a struggle against the usurpation of federal judges, whom Jefferson so aptly described as the sappers and miners of despotism.

HEARST AND BRYAN.

Mr. Hearst is about to organize his Independence league, into a national party, and has decided that hereafter the league will have nothing to do with the two older parties. This determination is said to have been taken because Mr. Bryan refused to support Mr. Hearst for the nomination for president at the last democratic national convention, when he voted for Senator Cockrell, of Missouri.

It is also reported that in the event of Mr. Bryan's nomination for president, the league will make a nomination on purpose to defeat Mr. Bryan. How democrats will view this will appear later, but that many will drop Mr. Heart's newspapers as organs of democracy is certain.

THE ROAD TO PROSPERITY.

The young woman in the nursery jingle who was adjured to hang her clothes on a hickory limb, but not to go near the water, probably never mastered the art of swimming. By the same token, the merchant who is restrained from the use of printers' ink by an over-developed bump of conservatism will never learn to be really prosperous. No man can appreciate the wonderful stimulative power of publicity without having given it a fair trial under favorable conditions. The favorable conditions are threefold—meritorious wares to exploit, attractive, convincing "copy," and an influential newspaper medium through which to circulate it.

ROOSEVELT "BUTT IN."

The most remarkable characteristic of Roosevelt is his continual butting in. He is the greatest butter that ever grew without horns.

The last specimen is his demand for the resignation of the master of the steamer Fred Hartweg, and was, perhaps, the most unwarranted and unjust an interference in his career. The boat might have been making a little spurt to pass another boat, or it might have been frolicking a little, but the entire Pittsburg delega-tio non board declare that there was tion on boaard declare that there was of his excellency, nor was the boat anywhere near the Mississippi.

STILL WORKING FOR A SUBSIDY.

Advocates of the ship subsidy bill are already at work in Washington. There will be a desperate effort made at the coming session to get legislation of some sort through. This is a measure that by no means has popular support throughout the country. All of the seaboard cities realize that it would be to their advantage if it materially helped to build up the mercantile marine, but the inland communities may be regarded as indifferent, with the element against it that shies at the prospect of heavier public expenditures of such an indefinite extent as entrance to the subsidy field would entail.

It is quite possible that if there is subsidy legislation it will take a very mild form, and will be first urged to secure additional steamship facilities for South America. This is unquestionably needed from a commercial standpoint, though whether even a heavy subsidy would secure it is a matter for serious consideration.

YEARS OF SUFFERING, THEN ROBUST HEALTH.

Great Remedy Cured Skin Disease of Long Standing.

Mr. J. Weber, of 1065 Vine street, San Jose, Cal., writes an interesting story of terrible skin suffering which ended in robust health when he found a remedy which cured him like magic. Here is Mr. Weber's own story:

"In July, 1900, my face began to be affected with a terrible skin disease. I went to a doctor, and he told me that I had been poisoned and he wanted to operate on me. I refused to let him do so, and after a few months my face was an awful sight. You could see that it was disease to the bone. Some people claimed that I had cancer. Great boils would appear, increasing in size and paining me terribly. I began to doctor again, but no one could help me; large pimples and boils would continue to come. At that time I had as many as ten on my face. I was such a terrible sight that my friends could not bear to see me. I doctored for five years until my funds gave out and I had to stop. During this time I tried over 300 remedies.

"One day I happened to hear of D. D. D. Prescription and learned that it had cured several bad cases of eczema. I purchased a bottle and then I got a second bottle. The use of five bottles cured me. It has been eight months now and the disease has not returned. My friends ask what it was that cured me of the awful skin trouble and I answer that it was D. D. D. which healed me.

We know that every word of the above letter is absolutely true. We keep D. D. D. Prescription, the great remedy for eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum, dandruff, etc., because all the cures it has made appear to be lasting. Come in and talk to us about this remedy.—W. E. Bard Drug Co.

The Effeminate Man.

"If there is anything that makes me feel like going out and practicing with the dumb bells," said the mannish girl, "it is to see a man going about the street wearing pumps or very low shoes that look like a girl's shoes, daintily tied with wide ribbon in a fetching bow. You'd be surprised how many you see of them, too."

BRAISED MEAT THE BEST.

Many Advantages in French Method of Cooking.

Braising is a combination of roasting and stewing small joints of meat in a shallow stewpan, called a "braisoire" or braiser, which has a close-fitting lid with a grooved edge round it, on which hot coals (charcoal) are placed, whereby the meat can be cooked with a fire above it as well as under it. This process of cooking, it is said, greatly decreases loss by evaporation. It is a favorite method with the French, and is supposed to bring out an unusually fine flavor and aroma.

The pan in which a braise is to be made should always be lined with slices of bacon, carrot, onions and herbs, upon which the meat is placed. It is usually moistened with stock or stock and wine. The more delicate meats, such as sweetbreads, fillets, fowls and turkeys are sometimes covered with buttered paper; this is done to prevent the heat from the top of the pan scorching or imparting too much of a roast flavor to the meats which are to be braised.

Occasional basting during the process of this method of cooking is essential. When done, the meat is taken up, the fat removed from the vegetables and gravy, which latter is then reduced, strained and blended with some kind of gravy or thin sauce.

AIR IN THE BEDROOM.

Sleeping Chamber Should Always Be Well Ventilated.

It goes without saying that the bedroom, according to Dr. Woods Hutchinson in the American Magazine, should be well ventilated, especially in view of the heavy storing up of oxygen in the tissues which goes on during sleep. All windows should be open from the top, at least one, and better two to three feet, so that a gentle current of air can be felt blowing across the face. It is just as pure and as wholesome as day air. Night fogs and rain are only injurious in so far as they frighten you into shutting your windows. No air that ever blew out doors is so dangerous or poisonous as that inside a bedroom with closed windows. The clothing should be as light as is consistent with warmth, the mattress elastic but firm, the pillow as high as the breadth of the shoulder, so as to keep the neck and head horizontal or slightly above when lying on the side. The good, hard, common-sense of humanity has solved all these problems, and the modern hair-mattress, or its equivalent, single pillow, and blankets, or "cheese - cloth - covered "comfort," which can be cleaned and aerated by turning the hose on it, can hardly be much improved on. Beyond these there is no virtue whatever in hard beds, flat or no pillows, and cold bedrooms. The boggy feather bed, collector of the perspiration and diseases of successive generations, the bolster, the eider-down quilt, the hard sail-cloth-like counterpane, both airtight, and the latter heavy as a board, have gone to the attic or the ash-heap, where they belong, along with the four-poster and its curtains, the night-cap and the warming pan.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

A teaspoonful of pulverized alum mixed with the common stove polish will give a wonderful polish.

Scalding the milk for custard pie adds greatly to its flavor. An addition of a teaspoonful of brown sugar or molasses is also helpful.

To keep your favorite cook book open at the right page use a band of elastic an inch wide. When not in use you may strap it around the closed book.

To save the great toe of the foot wearing through the hose too quickly cut a piece of chamoise and shape it to fit over the toe by sewing two pieces together in a manner similar to a child's moccasin.

When one is compelled to hang a skirt against the closet wall instead of on hangers extended from the ceiling let the back of the skirt rest against the wall, then if there is any wrinkling it comes at the back where it is not noticeable.

If windows move hard melt a tablespoonful of lard and pour a little between window frame and casing, and also a little on the roller and rope. It works like magic. This is a good thing to know when the frames are swollen from being closed during rainy weather.

Stains made by medicine and liniment are often obstinate to remove in the hands of an amateur. Iodine marks may be removed by washing the spots with strong ammonia until it fades, after which wash with tepid water and strong soap. Ammonia is equally good for removing cod liver oil stains. Fuller's earth made into a paste and thickly applied to the spots will also remove them.

A SIMPLE HOME MIXTURE

ESPECIALLY VALUED BY ELDERLY PEOPLE WHO SUFFER WITH THESE DREAD AFFLICTIONS.

IT CORRECTS BLADDER TROUBLE

Fine Prescription for Rheumatism and Kidney Trouble—Mix at Home—Don't Cost Much and Relieves Nearly Every Person Who Tries It.

A large health publication tells its readers of a number of simple and safe prescriptions that can be made at home. The following, however, for the cure of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles receives the greatest praise, viz: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These simple, harmless ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at little cost and are mixed by shaking well in a bottle.

The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime, drinking a full tumblerful of water after each dose. It is further stated that this prescription is a positive remedy for kidney trouble and lame back, weak back and urinary difficulties, especially of the elderly people, and one of the best things to be used in rheumatic afflictions, relieving the aches and pains and reducing swellings in just a short while.

A well-known local druggist states that this mixture acts directly upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys; cleanses these spongelike organs and gives them power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood which is the cause of rheumatism.

Cut this out and hand it to some sufferer which would certainly be an act of humanity.

MAKES THE WORK EASY.

How One Clever Woman Minimized Her Labor.

One woman who does her own housework, from preference, ends the day with less fatigue than many housewives who have an assistant. She has a kitchen cabinet, a coal range, and a gas stove and a stool just high enough to allow her to sit comfortably before the froning table. Her house is as neat as any woman I can call to mind. Her husband has never ceased to marvel at her and her achievements, but system and thought are responsible for it all. It cannot be very comfortable for a man to go home from a hard day's work to find disorder, a tired woman and picked-up meals. Left-overs can be disguised, you know, and dainty table appointments and an air of serenity will cover many shortcomings of the larder. The majority of men dislike the bustle of home dressmaking and should be spared that ordeal—and a few others.—Montreal Herald.

Laundry Notes.

To make any clothing extra stiff when laundering, it is best to dry the garments first, then run through starch and dry the second time. Flour starch should not be used for dainty waists, since it gives a yellow tinge to them. A mixture of gum and gloss starch will be best and such articles should be wrapped in damp towels instead of being sprinkled before froning. First iron the sleeves, then the front, lastly the back and collar and place the waist to dry on a hanger made from a rolled newspaper tied in the middle with a string. This keeps the waist from creasing by being hung with other clothes on the rack. Small starched articles like cuffs and collars should be dried before the kitchen fire or they absorb any dampness in the room and become limp.

Corned Beef and—

Don Mariano Torlonia, of the famous ducal family of Torlonia, in Rome, praised American cigars at a dinner in New York.

"Our Italian cigars are not so good," he said. "They are made by the government. They are as long and thin as a lead pencil, and they have a straw in the middle; otherwise they would not draw. You light these Italian cigars of ours over a lamp, a specially-made cigar lamp that burns with a strong flame. The lighting requires from three to five minutes. These cigars, for all the trouble they take, are poor. I gave one to an American in Rome one morning. He put it in his pocket and said he would smoke it later.

"I met him again that night at the Cafe Nazionale, in the Corso.

"'Well,' I said, 'how did you like my cigar?'

"'Oh, it was excellent,' said he. 'I enjoyed it immensely. I had it boiled for my dinner with some corned beef.'"

Draining the Everglades.

After many years of discussion without any real action, the state of Florida has at last commenced the work of draining the great submerged tract known as the Everglades. This is to be done by cutting a series of canals leading into rivers on both the gulf and Atlantic slopes. The section to be drained comprises about 3,000,000 acres, upon which there is very little timber or brush, consequently the work of reclamation will be comparatively easy, and it is expected to have several thousand acres ready for cultivation and settlement by December of this year. Owing to the latitude and the great richness of the soil, this land will be of great value when thoroughly drained.

Death Recalls Ocean Duel.

The recent death in France of Vice Admiral Franquet recalls the fact that he was the hero of the only naval engagement in the Franco-Prussian war. The scene was Havana, where Franquet commanded the Bouvet, which kept watch on the Prussian ship Meteor. The latter was well armed, though the Bouvet had only light artillery. Franquet challenged the German captain to a naval duel, and the offer was accepted. The boats sailed from the harbor, followed by Spanish ships as umpires. The Bouvet at once rammed the Meteor. Both ships were badly damaged.

Average Corn Yield.

The average yield of corn in the United States is 25 bushels and the average value per acre is eight dollars, from which the cost of producing the crop must be deducted before it can yield a profit. There is not a cent of profit in the average crops of any kind. Average crops do not pay, and average farmers are not content with the average crop; they want the best. The fault of an average crop often lies in the cultivation. Sometimes it is in the land, and again it is in a season, but it more often lies in the farmer himself.

"The greatest thing," says some one, "a man can do for his Heavenly Father is to be kind to some of His other children." I wonder how it is that we are not all kinder than we are. How much the world needs it! How easily it is done! How instantaneously it acts! How infallibly it is remembered! How superabundantly it pays itself back—for there is no debtor in the world so honorable, so superbly honorable, as love.—Henry Drummond.

Our Farming Population.

Early in the nineteenth century about 80 per cent. of the male workers of the United States were employed on farms. During the last century the efficiency of labor has been so increased by the farm implements and machines that have come into use, that, at the present time, about 35 per cent. of the male workers of that nation produce the food and fiber of the country, and furnish an enormous surplus, which is exported to other countries.—Engineer.

A Fight Impossible.

"I don't know whether my janitor is plain idiot or just too smart for anything," declared the flat dweller. "This morning, when I said to him: 'Did you hear those people above me fighting last night?' he turned and looked hard at me and said: 'You must be mistaken. Those people above you! Why, there are only two of them, and they are man and wife!'"

A SEDALIAN IN ST. LOUIS

W. H. REYNOLDS IS MAKING GOOD SHOWING IN STATE GOLF TOURNAMENT.

ONE OF THE SIXTEEN TO QUALIFY

Consolation Contest is on Today, and the Friends of Sedalia Player Think He Stands Show of Winning.

W. H. Reynolds, who is the only representative of the Sedalia Country club at the state golf tournament now being held on the links of the Country club in St. Louis, is making a fine record for one who has played the game of golf but two years; especially as he is playing against seasoned golfers.

Mr. Reynolds was one of the sixteen to qualify in the championship contest, in which there were ninety entries.

The first round of this contest was played yesterday. Mr. Reynolds drew H. C. Potter, who is picked to win the state championship by those who are informed.

Potter defeated the Sedalia player, but had to go seventeen holes to accomplish the feat, and was winner by hard up-hill playing.

In the consolation contest, which starts today, Mr. Reynolds has fine prospects of winning.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUEUE.

It Hid a Luxuriant Suit of Straight and eVry Dark Hair.

The Father of his Country concealed a luxuriant suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now wish the old fashion were in vogue, to conceal thined hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair nor be bald, if he cure the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff can not be cured by scouring the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ has to be killed. Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparation will. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." There's no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. W. E. Bard Drug Co.

STRAIN ON THE RAILS.

They Undergo Much Severer Tension Than Bridge Steel.

Saving armor plates and projectiles, "there is no material in the whole field of steel manufacture which is subject to such severe, such absolutely brutal treatment as the steel rail," says Dexter Marshall in McClure's. It must endure every imaginable kind of stress. It is alternately bent, twisted and hammered; it must be hard enough to resist crushing and abrasion; it must be tough enough to resist fracture. It must undergo much severer tension than bridge steel; in fact, the rails of a line form practically one continuous bridge from terminal to terminal, and each rail must bear the terrific stress of direct contact with the wheels of locomotives and cars; yet, said a prominent railroad manager recently, the rails are made with much less attention to quality than the different parts of a bridge. Bridge steel is made with all possible care; the specifications of the railroads offering bridge contracts being carried out to the letter by the bridge steel manufacturers, who use only the open hearth product.

In making steel rails by the Bessemer process, the iron is first recovered from the ore by smelting; second, all the carbon and as much of the other impurities as possible are blown out by streams of air in a converter; third, the percentage of carbon desired is introduced into the "blown" metal; fourth the heated metal, now Bessemer steel is cast into an ingot.

Last of all, the ingot is rolled down into the finished steel rail. It is possible by the Bessemer process to control perfectly the carbon in the ore—the principal hardening element in the rail—but as the phosphorus, which makes the rails brittle, cannot be removed by this process, whatever percentage of phosphorous exists in the ore will persist in the rail. An ideal rail should contain 65 hundredths of one per cent. of carbon, not more than six one-hundredths per cent. of phosphorous, and 1.1 to 1.3 per cent. of manganese.

Rails of such composition wear magnificently and have been known to last a dozen years under the most exacting traffic. According to the Scientific American the standard of rail composition adopted by the manufacturers themselves and now in use by them is as follows: Carbon, half of one per cent.; phosphorous, not more than one-tenth of one per cent.; manganese, eight-tenths to one and one-tenth per cent. It will be seen that there is a 60 per cent. increase of phosphorous rails of to-day as compared with the ideal rail mentioned above. It is rails containing this excess of phosphorous that have been breaking so frequently.

Railroad President Shuts Up.

Frederick Douglass Underwood, president of the Erie railroad, is very popular with the rank and file of employes. Nearly all of them refer to him as "F. D.," but not all of them know him personally. Mr. Underwood, always interested not only in the big problems but the little ones that confront the Erie, was on a train recently which had slipped an eccentric or otherwise became temporarily disabled. He went forward to the engine to discover the cause of the stop. He found the engineer lying on his back under the locomotive, doing his best to repair the damage as quickly as possible.

"What's the trouble?" he asked.

"Nothin' much; you'll be movin' in a few minutes," said the man under the engine.

"But what has broken and how are you fixing it? I want to know," said the Erie president.

"Oh, you do, do you?" growled the engineer, struggling with a monkey wrench and a refractory nut. "Then I'll tell you that you'll go on wanting, because I'm paid to move the public as quickly and as near on time as I know how, and not to stand around and answer d—n fool questions."

MUCH CONCERN FELT

Ordinary Methods of Treating Catarrh Prove Unsuccessful.

Recent statistics showing an increase in catarrh have shaken the confidence of medical men in the usual prescriptions to safeguard human health from the ravages of this disease.

When stomach dosing proved ineffective, it was natural to look for some other treatment, and it is believed that in Hyomei an absolute cure for all catarrhal troubles has at last been found. Breathed through a neat pocket inhaler, its healing medication reaches every spot where there are catarrhal germs, destroys them, prevents their future growth, and soothes the irritated mucous membrane so that relief is felt almost instantly, while lasting cure is practically sure to follow.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00, and is sold by W. E. Bard Drug Co. under an absolute agreement to refund the money if it does not give satisfaction. It is the only cure for catarrh that has ever been sold under a guarantee to cost nothing unless it cures, but they are willing to take the risk, so if Hyomei does not help you, there will not be a penny's expense. Get an outfit at once on this liberal plan.

Over-Educated Girls.

The delicate organism and sensitive and highly developed nervous system of our girls were never intended by the Creator to undergo the stress and strain of the modern system of higher education, and the baneful results are becoming more and more apparent as the years go by.—Dr. R. W. Parsons, in The Medical Journal.

DORN & CLONEY LAUNDRY COMPANY

A RAILROAD OUT TO SEA.

New Line Is Triumph for American Engineering Art.

Railways have climbed mountains and crossed lakes and canyons, giving the world "horshoe curves," switchbacks and great viaducts to wonder at. Now a railway is going 156 miles out to sea, and the problems involved in its construction make the feat one of novelty and interest. The work is an extension of the Florida East Coast railroad from Miami to Key West, the nation's southernmost city, now accessible only by water.

It is as if human coral insects were building a solid reef between the mainland and the cigar city, employing cement as the material and using the 42 keys between the two points as natural piers upon which to anchor the sections of concrete viaduct constructed over the intervening 75 miles of water.

Where the sea is shallow great dredges are raising embankments between the keys, but to span the wider inlets, which sometimes reach a depth of 20 feet and are more directly exposed to tide and storm, six miles of viaduct will be required. Altogether, according to a writer in the Cement Age, 286,000 barrels of cement, 177,000 cubic yards of crushed rock and 612,000 cubic yards of sand will be used, together with 612,000 lineal feet of piling, 5,700 tons of steel reinforcing rods and 3,600,000 feet of dressed lumber. An industrial brigade of 2,500 workmen is employed on the work which has progressed to a point where construction trains run over 70 miles of track.

The Lackawanna terminal in Hoboken, itself a notable example of concrete architecture, is virtually a railroad depot built in a river. Piling driven into the soft tide-water mud furnishes a foundation for the great concrete buttresses on which it rests. But the Key West railway shows concrete utilized to enable man to go further in his dominance of the sea than ever before. There is something in the solidity and massiveness of the undertaking to recall old Roman aqueduct construction.

Mare Saved Her Colt.

One of the most remarkable instances of animal sagacity in this section is related by Engineer James Parrott and Conductor Frank King.

When the south bound passenger train was near Hallsburg a mare suddenly dashed up the track toward the train, running swiftly. It looked as if she would run right into the engine, and the air brakes were quickly applied, slowing the train down to six or seven miles an hour. Engineer Parrott thought the mare was blinded by the headlight, but the train was no sooner slowed down than the mare turned about and went from the train, keeping right down the tracks and making it impossible to run fast lest the animal be struck.

The mare went straight to a bridge over a creek, and when within a short distance of the bridge of the railway it was discovered that the colt of the mare had fallen with all its feet through the bridge, placing it where it would have been killed had not the mare literally flagged the train. The mare stopped and began whinnying, and the train stopped also. Engineer Parrott, the fireman and some of the passengers got off and, relieving the colt, left the mare to trot off with her young as proud as a peacock. Those who witnessed the occurrence say it was wonderful.—Houston Chronicle.

Onions a Fine Nervine.

Onions are stated to be almost the best nervine known. No medicine, it is claimed, is so useful in cases of nervous prostration, and there is nothing else that will so quickly relieve and tone up a worn-out system. Onions are useful in all cases of coughs, colds and influenza, and if they are taken regularly are very good for the complexion.

REASONABLE RULES FOR RHEUMATICS.

Western Specialist Explains a Few Simple Rules for the Avoidance and Cure of Rheumatism, Kidney and Bladder Troubles

Dr. George Edmund Flood states that rheumatism and the various forms of kidney and bladder troubles are among the most easily curable diseases—that is, when they are treated in a sensible manner

According to Dr. Flood, those persons suffering from any of these ailments should exercise the greatest moderation in the consumption of rich foods. Dr. Flood has met with great success in his practice in the treatment of these complaints, and he has advised all of his patients to substitute for such a diet as we have just mentioned, the simpler and more nourishing soups, broths, fresh milk, fresh vegetables, and plenty of pure water—lots of water.

But, says Dr. Flood, observance of these rules will not suffice to effect a cure, although such observance is necessarily of the greatest assistance in the treatment. During all his practice, that is, in the treatment of rheumatism, kidney and bladder troubles, this eminent physician has employed one simple prescription which, he states, has proven itself of unvarying curative value. Dr. Flood has kindly consented that we reproduce a copy of this famous prescription in this column for the benefit of our readers. This is the prescription:

Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic	½ ounce
Concentrated Barkola compound	1 ounce
Aromatic Elixir	4 ounces

Adult dose, one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime; children, one-fourth to one-half teaspoonful after meals.

Dr. Flood says it is pleasant to take and may be filled by any druggist, anywhere, or, better still, you can get the ingredients yourself and mix them at home by shaking well in a bottle. Dr. Flood guarantees the success of this prescription if taken according to directions

BOLD PLOT THAT FAILED

TWO ROBBERS MADE DESPERATE EFFORT TO LOOT NEW YORK BUILDING

WERE AFTER NEGOTABLE SECURITES

Clerk in Office Is Thought to Have Planned the Attempt—Beat and Chloroformed the Aged Watchman.

New York, Oct. 10.—Richard F. Grey, aged 60, watchman of the Century building, located in the financial district, last night fought off two robbers who were intent upon looting the offices in the great stucture. They were after a safe that contained hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of negotiable paper.

They rendered Grey unconscious and chloroformed him, but secured nothing for their pains.

The plot is believed to have been planned by a clerk in one of the offices and to have been aided in its execution by a professional thief. Detectives are on their trail.

Had the robbery been successful those familiar with the case say it would have caused a sensation almost as great as that which followed the looting of the Manhattan bank many years ago.

EASY TO OVERCOME WORRY.

Simple Mental Treatment to Do Away With Evil Habit.

Being human, happily or unhappily, we cannot deny the comfort to be found in the reflection that misery never lacks the company it loves. We all have our troubles, and some of us derive much satisfaction from the contemplation of them. Indeed, there are those who are happy only when wretched; but these we believe to be as few in number as they are disagreeable in association; the vast majority of humans are normal, and disposed, therefore, in conformity with natural law, to smile when the skies are clear and to grieve under the portent of clouds. Hence the ease with which worry takes possession of the mind, colors the disposition and makes a cripple of effort. That causes abound we know and must admit, as we do almost unconsciously the certainty of death; but too little cognizance is taken of the fact that the effect of mere apprehension, which is all that worry really is, may be subjected to simple mental treatment and be overcome.—George Harvey in the North American Review.

HAD TO LIFT UP HIS VOICE.

Worshiper Furnished Good Reason for His Fervency.

The successful merchant invited his parents to visit him in New York city. They came gladly, and on the following sabbath were escorted to a fashionable church in Fifth avenue. Some of the hymns were familiar. In their rendition the visiting pair contributed heavily, with the credit for volume in favor of the father. Although not always in correct time, and sometimes in discord, yet the joy of this good couple leaped forth in joyous praise, and they did not see the glowering looks of nearby worshipers or the beet-like face of their devoted son. "Father," explained the merchant that afternoon, while his mother was taking her accustomed nap, "in our churches the congregation do very little singing; it is left entirely to the choir." "I know, my boy," said the old man as he lovingly placed a hand on his son's shoulder, "that it was very embarrassing to you this morning, but if I hadn't sung as loudly as I did, the people would have heard your mother."

Bootblacks in Livery.

There is a new office building in Wall street that is piling luxury on luxury in the way of fittings and general accessories to the point where it bids fair to be a close rival to the marble and plush palaces of hotels uptown. The latest outbreak in this direction is the uniforming of the official bootblack of the building in a page's livery, blue trousers with a gold piping on the seams, a page's short tunic with ever so many round gilt buttons down the front and a dark blue straight visored cap with the name of the company that owns the structure in gold letters on the front. Of course, this bootblack page is an Italian, and he looks extremely hot and uncomfortable in his padded coat.

What the Foolish Wife Does.

It is astonishing how many women allow the smallest trifles to break up the harmony of a home. A wife separated from her husband recently, after 20 years of happy married life, merely because he refused to give up smoking. He had enjoyed his pipe in peace all these years, but she took an unreasonable wifely whim against the weed. And now comes the Austrian archduke who threw away a large fortune and the chances of a throne to marry a wife for love. And she spoils the whole romance and happiness of both, and brings a beautiful love story to the divorce court because she insists that her husband shall lead the "simple life," including a dress of sacking, and vow never to shave or cut his hair.—Chicago Journal.

FAT FOLKS FAVOR

Home Mixture That Takes Off the Fat Rapidly—Causes No Wrinkles No Stomach Ills and Requires Neither Dieting Nor Excercise.

Too much fat is both uncomfortable and dangerous, but usually fleshy people prefer to put up with its inconvenience rather than punish themselves with the tiresome excercising usually prescribed, or endanger their health by taking the so-called "cures" and patent fat "reducers."

This self-sacrifice of comfort and health to overabundant fat is entirely unneccessary, however, as Mrs. Luella Bigger tells us there is a home receipt that is far superior in every way to anything money will buy for reducing superfluous flesh. It is said this simple mixture will take the fat off of man or woman at the rate of at least a couple of pounds a week without even causing wrinkles. Moreover it does not disturb the stomach, but is a good thing for the system, clearing away pimples, and, best of all, it does not interfere with the diet. You can use it and at the same time eat whatever you like. This receipt is as follows: ½ ounce Marmola; ½ ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 3½ ounces of Syrup Simplex. Get these ingredients at any drug store, mix them together at home and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Mrs. Bigger, as is well known, is a famous beauty expert, and whatever she recommends is sure to be found eminently satisfactory.

THE CONVICT

It was noon. The dark, gray walls of the old penitentiary were baking in the rays of the burning sun, which fell like searchlights through the little windows into the narrow cells within.

The inside walls, like the outside ones, were cheerless and gray, with nothing to relieve the monotony of their blinds but printed copies of the prison regulations, which consisted only of the things prisoners were not allowed to do.

The work went slowly and the longing for the outside world, the blue sky and the green fields grew in the hearts of many of the hapless beings behind lock and bars. Nobody felt less like working than the giant prisoner in the second tier of cells, who was feared of the wardens and his fellow prisoners because of his enormous strength and violent temper. Just now he was trying to make a basket, but time and again his hands dropped down into his lap and he listened to the regular knockings on the water pipes, which, like the wireless telegraphy, carried messages from cell to cell.

A smile spread over the face of the giant when he succeeded in putting the letters together to words and the words to sentences. Suddenly the smile disappeared and in its place came a hard almost ferocious expression.

Steps were heard outside in the hall. It was the turnkey. The convict saw him, so to speak, with his ears, coming down the long hall, broad shouldered, well nourished and self-satisfied, carrying his bunch of keys in his hand.

What could he want here at this time of the day, when it was the rule never to disturb the convicts? The giant was literally foaming with fury. Was he to be punished once more for some petty violation of the rules? The keepers always knew how to find fault in those they did not like. Nearer and nearer came the steps, and now they stopped outside the door. A thought shot like lightning through the convict's brain. The turnkey was alone, undoubtedly there was not even a guard in the hall during the quiet noon hour. Behind the loose brick in the wall was a sharp piece of iron, which he had sharpened during the long months he had been confined to the cell.

Outside the sun was shining, the birds were singing and the woods were green. A key turned in the door. The turnkey came in, but in the same moment he fell to the ground as if struck down by lightning. With terrible force the giant had buried the sharp instrument in his temple.

The convict did not even look at victim. With staring eyes he sneaked down the hall. Every moment he stopped, listened and looked around.

He felt nothing but a great joy at the success of his deed. Now the road to freedom was open, the prison door was open, there was no guard outside.

The giant had now reached the yard. It was as if heaven itself had decided that he should be a free man. Near the wall stood a chopping block and a ladder. He placed the ladder on top of the block, vaulted over the wall and let himself fall down on the outside.

For a moment he laid there absolutely quiet, without moving hand or foot. Had he broken a limb in the fall?

No; he felt plainly that he was unhurt, and he had only one thought—to get away.

He jumped to his feet and ran as fast as his trembling legs would carry him across fields, over hedges and fences, until he reached the woods, panting and exhausted.

Completely tired out; he threw himself down in the grass under a shady beech tree, and, half asleep, looked through the green foliage at the blue sky and the white clouds beyond.

A sinner to whom the gates of heaven had opened could feel no happier than he did.

But only a short hour was given him to enjoy his liberty.

Suddenly he heard a noise of many voices, footsteps and excited signals. He jumped to his feet, picked up a heavy branch lying close to him in the grass, and, brandishing it around his head, he disappeared as a deer in the woods.

Too many men were following him, however. Five minutes later the giant lay bound and gagged on the ground, with a rifle bullet in one leg.

He was carried back to the penitentiary in triumph.

The inspector stood in his office behind the rail and looked at him sternly.

The convict, who was now chained hand and foot, cast down his eyes and seemed absolutely broken. He mumbled something to himself, which sounded like an excuse. "Why did he come?"

A shadow of sincere sorrow came into the inspector's face as he answered in an almost inaudible voice: "I sent him to bring you here that I might inform you that you had been pardoned."

Then the murderer was led back to his cell.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

An Old Saying.

A Portuguese poet named Camoens, who was born in 1524 and died in 1579, wrote the following in his own language: "Nunca de rabo de porco born virote," of which the equivalent in English is: "You cannot make a silk purse out of a sow's ear." Whether Camoens originated it or was only quoting it is not yet known.

If This Had Happened in San Francisco Instead of Sedalia More Than One Reader Might Doubt It

The average man is a doubter. This is not surprising—the public have been humbugged so frequently they are skeptical. Proof like the following will stand investigation. It can not be disputed.

William Ricks, of 603 West Fifth street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "I have already vouched for the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills in a statement made in 1901, when I first procured them at the Bard Drug Co. My experience warrants me in still recommending them. My son has also used them with benefit and has recommended them to his acquaintances."

Old Steenth-Century Tall-Boys.

During the last 20 years, as a sense of the beauty and perfect proportion of seventeenth and eighteenth century furniture has come to us, many tops and bottoms of "tall-boys," or double chests of drawers, which had been separated for years, have been placed together again, and their beauty, when seen as originally planned, says the House Beautiful, has brought them into favor and fashion again.

Usurp Man's Privilege.

"The only real advantage I can see in being a business woman," said one of them, "is that you can break an engagement when you want to, like the men do. You can say that an important business matter came up unexpectedly that you were obliged to attend to."

FIGHT FOR FRANCE

SOLDIERS OF FOREIGN LEGION HAVE GLORIOUS RECORDS.

All Nationalities and Types Serve Under the Tri-Colored Flag in the Colonies of the Great European Republic.

In the bloody hand-to-hand fight with the Moors over the dead body of their commanding officer, Major Prevost, the men of the French Foreign Legion were true to the organization's record for gallantry.

Miscellaneous fighting in the French colonies has been the Legionaries' specialty. They campaigned against the Black Flags and filled hundreds of alien graves in Tonkin. In Dahomey 800 of the Legionaries bore the brunt of the fighting and earned Gen. Doud's praise as "the best soldiers in the world." By tradition they never serve in France. One of their most brilliant achievements, however, was the defense of the bridge in the first battle of Orleans in 1870, where fewer than 1,000 men held an entire Prussian army corps at bay and made it possible for the French army to retreat without serious loss and save its artillery. The Legion lost 500 men in the action.

Into the two infantry regiments drifts a steady stream of plain soldiers, bankrupt adventurers, fugitives from justice, political refugees, genteel blacklegs in disgrace, men of title and men of no account, ready to march 30 kilometres a day under the flaming African sun, so they can lose their identity. It is a brigade of mystery and romance.

In one company some years ago were found a Roumanian prince suspected of having murdered his brother; an Italian cavalry officer, dismissed from his country's army for cheating at cards; a Russian nihilist prince who had escaped from Siberia; an excanon of Notre Dame of Paris suspended from ecclesiastical functions for the best of reasons; an English exmajor of Hussars and a German count who had held high military rank at Berlin. After a terrible engagement with the Kabyles, in which both the surgeon-major and his assistant were killed, no one was left to care for the wounded. "Assembly" was sounded, and riding along the line the major asked, "Any doctors or surgeons among you?" Nine men left the ranks, each of whom had taken his degree in a European university.

A hard-drinking, quarrelsome, duel-loving, devil-may-care lot of social castaways and professional soldiers, the Legionaries are ruled with iron discipline. The slightest act of aggression against a superior officer is punished with death. During the war in Tonkin 17 members were courtmartialed and shot in one day. But in the face of danger, whatever their vices or their crimes, the wearers of the smart kepi and baggy red breeches never fail to give a good account of themselves. They are always ready and eager to fight. Men like Marshal Bazaine, Gen. de Negier and Gen. Dupin have led them. Count de Maleret, a court favorite in Napoleon III.'s time, having been disfigured for life, sought their command. Villebois-Mareuil, who fought with the Boers, was once an officer in the Legion.

Nothing Doing.

Harrison Grey Fiske discussed at a dinner in New York the art of acting.

"I believe," said Mr. Fiske, "in subtlety and restraint. A nod, a shake of the head, a silent pause—these things are often more effective than the most violent yelling and ranting.

"Life is like that, subtle and silent. What, for instance, could be more expressive than this scene, a scene without a spoken word, that I once witnessed in the country?

"An undertaker stood on a corner near a noble mansion. He elevated his brows hopefully and inquiringly as a physician came from the house. The physician, compressing his lips, shook his head decidedly and hurried to his carriage. Then the undertaker with a sigh passed on."

Matrimony No Miracle.

After long years, matrimony may be said to wear off some of the rough edges, but the long years might have worn them off had these people remained single. So think well about it, men and maids, before you enter upon its precincts and choose wisely, for the one you marry is the one you must live with, and matrimony works no miracle with character.

Forced to Exercise Suffrage.

Austria has passed a law by which its citizens are not only given a vote but are compelled under penalty to use it. About 40,000 are to be called up and fined for neglecting their duty. This is a revival of the exquisite simplicity of the Athenian legislators, who literally roped in the citizens with a reddened rope. The man who had a red mark on him was fined.

Keeping Interest in Life.

If a woman isn't worrying because she hasn't everything she wants she is usually fussing because she has what she doesn't want. In this way life never becomes monotonous.

Will It Come to This?

It was a bright Sunday morning in 1917. "John," called the impatient woman at the foot of the stairway, "please come down. I have been waiting two hours for you to dress.

"Keep on waiting, Martha," shouted her gleeful husband; "you didn't think anything of making me wait for you to dress ten years ago! I told you then that men would some day wear shirt waists that button at the back and get even. Revenge is sweet."

First Peace Congress.

An early American peacemaker was Elihu Burritt, the "blacksmith scholar" of Connecticut. It was mainly to his efforts that the Paris peace congress of 1849 practically owed its existence. Though now almost forgotten, the same principles were discussed and the same propositions laid down as obtained at The Hague in 1899.

Useful Unique Bandbox.

One woman has a bandbox in which she keeps her good hat so arranged that the side opens like a swinging door, so that she can readily remove the hat from the box without the awkward necessity of taking the latter down from the high closet shelf.

Part of Her Learning.

The child was quietly sitting on a footstool, nursing a sick dolly. The mother was earnestly advising her visitors not to send their daughter to Paris to learn French. "I can speak from experience," she said. "I went over as a girl to get the accent. * * * They learn other things besides French. * * * In particular, they learn to be untruthful." "Did you, mother?" innocently inquired the child.

First Cigarettes In England.

Laurence Oliphant, the celebrated author and traveler, is said to have introduced the cigarette into England about the year 1844. They became quite common after the Crimean war, owing to their use by the Turkish officers.

Meteor vs. Meter.

"Yes, my son."

"This paper says a meteor travels so fast it can't be seen."

"That's right, my son."

The Deaf Hear—It's Wonderful

A representative of this paper called yesterday on Dr. Webber, representing Geo. F. Way, the inventor of the Way Ear Drum, in his parlors at the New Millers hotel and found him busily at work, examining and advising a large number of deaf persons who had called to consult him and test his invention. It is remarkable how the simple little device which Mr. Way invented is so effective in restoring the hearing of the deaf. Yet, when we realize that Edison, with rubber, metal and mica, has produced a device that reproduces the human voice with absolute perfection, it is very reasonable to believe in the invention of Mr. Way, which is but a mechanical device made in harmony and with an understanding of the human ear and the natural law governing the sense of hearing. Knowledge is power, and it is such practical knowledge, coupled with his inventive genius, which has enabled Mr. Way to produce an ear drum which really does restore the hearing. Of course, Mr. Way does not claim to cure every case of deafness. That is impossible, but he has brought help to nine out of ten persons who have tried the Way Ear Drums. Dr. Webber is very frank and in all cases tells his vistors plainly just what can be done for them. The Way Ear Drums are easily placed in the ears, and as easily removed, are invisible, painless and will not collapse, and they do help the hearing. All who are deaf or suffer from impaired hearing in any way or with "head noises," should call and see Mr. Webber.

AMUSEMENTS

At Wood's Theater.

Wood's opera house was packed again last night from pit to dome, every seat being sold and a lot of standing room, and a great many turned away. The play produced by the Parker-Jersey Stock company was the great western comedy-drama, "On the Western Frontier," which pleased everybody. The company will be here all week and put on a new play each night, and play a special ladies' and children's matinee Saturday. Play tonight the celebrated comedy-drama, "For Her Sake," with plenty advanced vaudeville between the acts. The prices the Parker-Jersey company are charging this week for their excellent attractions are very popular with the people. Secure your seats early.

One of the best stock companies on the road will open a week's engagement at Wood's opera house Sunday night, October 13. It is the Belle Rosa-Green Stock company. The company is headed by Miss Belle Rosa and Mr. James F. Green. Miss Rosa is very clever and an actress of great ability. Mr. Green will be remembered by the old Sedalians, he having been here several times with Marie Heath in the Turkish Bath. As a comedian he has no equal on the stage today. The cast also includes such well known people as Miss Virginia Jeffries, who is a great favorite. She was for two seasons a member of Joe Jefferson's company and crossed the Atlantic with him. Miss Jeffries has been on the stage a number of years, having first appeared when a child of 5 years. The company also has in the cast Mr. Edwin Walcott, who was formerly with David Warfield; also several others just as well known. The company is very strong throughout and never fails to please. Be sure and see them. Ladies free Monday night as usual.

If taken patiently and persistently will relieve the most obstinate cases of indigestion, constipationfi bad blood, bad liver, no matter how long standing. That's what Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea will do. 35 cents, tea or tablets.—W. E. Bard Drug Co.

Death of Rachael Armstrong.

REGARDING RAILROADS

WILL AGAIN INSPECT THE LEXINGTON BRANCH OF MISSOURI PACIFIC.

COACH, CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources for the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

John A. Knott, chairman of the Missouri Pacific board of railroad commissioners, is going to take another walk over the Lexington branch of the Missouri Pacific railroad. He declared this intention in Kansas City yesterday. About a month ago he made the trip alone over this branch, walking the entire distance. He said yesterday that he found some things that were radically wrong.

"Immediately after my trip over the Lexington branch the Missouri Pacific put 100 men to work and rushed some repairs in the worst places," Mr. Knott said. "Ten days after I walked over that branch of the line the other two members of the board made an inspection trip and, while they found many repairs needed, they did not report so many defects as I did. Since then the Missouri Pacific has been very busy making other repairs and I shall take another stroll along the track to see how it looks."

Hospital Arrivals.

Following are new arrivals at the Katy hospital:

Will Jones, coal heaver, Denison, Texas

Thomas Paul, crusher laborer, Chockie, I. T.

P. J. Cunniff, brakeman, Denison, Texas.

Levy Elliott, trucker, Muskogee, I. T.

J. L. Weaver, car repairer, Denison, Texas.

J. F. Smith, bridgeman, Atoka, I. T.

Automatic Couplers.

C. S. Cummings, a Katy brakeman, reported for work today, after a few days' lay off.

Master Mechanic Carbrey, of the Missouri Pacific at St. Louis, is here attending the fair.

Harry Umstead, night agent for the Katy at Clinton, came up this morning to attend the fair.

Harry Pace, agent for the Katy at Beaman, returned there this morning, after visiting relatives here.

The Missouri Pacific carried eighty-three coach loads of passengers from the fair grounds to town yesterday.

Carl Holland, messenger at the Missouri Pacific telegraph office, is on the sick list, suffering from an absess.

C. C. Clayton, traveling accountant for the Missouri Pacific, was here today, on his way to Kansas City from Syracuse.

George Brittendall, division lineman for the Missouri Pacific, returned this afternoon from a business visit at Tipton.

Harry Wilkerson, a Missouri Pacific blacksmith, is laying off and working temporarily at the Sedalia Drug company.

Frank True, a former Missouri Pacific operator here, is now a train dispatcher at Pajoria, Cal., and draws $155 a month.

The Missouri Pacific's gross earnings for July were $4,112,501; increase, $251,212. The net earnings were $1,110,818; decrease, $123,208.

C. L. Stone, traffic manager of the Missouri Pacific; J. W. Higgins, assistant general manager, and W. J. McKee, general superintendent at Coffeyville, Kas., came in from the west this morning and took in the state fair.

The Katy ran a special train composed of six coaches from Nevada to this city this morning, running the train as first No. 2. Every foot of space on the train was taken up by passengers, and standing room on the platforms was at a premium.

Ancient Writers on Poisons.

Poison lore, "poison-lehre," as it was long called, was considered a forbidden subject for many ages. Gaten, in his work "On Antidotes," remarks that the only authors who dared to write of poisons were Orpheus, Theologus, Morus, Mendesius the younger, Heliodorus, of Athens, and a few others. Unfortunately, none of their treatises is in existence.

Big Seller.

"She is very wealthy?"

"Very."

"No; she is the author of a book entitled 'Hints to Beautiful Women.'"

"I presume all the beautiful women in the country purchased it?"

"No; but the homely women did."—Houston Post.

Dr. Evans Lost $150 Diamond.

Dr. Henry Evans, of Beaman, had a $150 diamond stud stolen from him at the Katy station this morning. Detectives Schenk and McNutt were detailed to run down the thief.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says: "Fully 80 per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds it beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by Arlington pharmacy.

Struck Sheriff Sprecher.

A visitor at the state fair imbibed too freely of liquor in a Main street saloon at the noon hour today and started out to raise trouble. He kicked several business houses' signs in the street, and when requested not to do so by Sheriff Sprecher, who had his star hidden, the man struck the officer. He was taken to jail and locked up and will be tried tomorrow.

SEDALIA, MISSOURI, THURSDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 10, 1907. PART TWO

VOL. 1, NO. 264. PRICE FIVE CENTS

FIFTH DAY OF THE FAIR

A Great Crowd Wednesday.

Nearly seventeen thousand people passed through the gates at the state fair grounds yesterday, it being the largest Wednesday crowd recorded in the history of the fair.

The exhibition was considered the best ever held here, not only in the extensiveness of the exhibits, displays, racing program and entertainment features, but in everything, and although trouble was again experienced as on Tuesday, "Sedalia day," by the transportation companies in handling the crowds going to and from the grounds, everyone seemed to be in a happy frame of mind and enjoyed themselves hugely.

One of the principal features of the afternoon was the showing in a grand parade of German coach horses, Percherons, Belgians, Shetland ponies, jacks and jennets, the famous Missouri mules, and both beef and dairy breeds of cattle, the parade being given between racing heats on the race course.

President E. E. Swink and Vice President A. M. Thompson, of the board of fair directors, headed the parade, and it was pronounced by all witnessing the grand spectacle as being far superior to any ever before attempted.

The showing of J. Crouch & Son, importers of fine stallions, with headquarters at Lafayette, Ind., and Sedalia, was unexcelled, and their fine stallion, Hannibal, who has never met defeat in any exhibition, was shown to good advantage.

The Crouch exhibit was pronounced by horsemen and so announced from the judges' stand as the greatest ever made by one firm or ever given in the whole west.

Between other heats on the racing card Surena, the guideless wonder, owned by E. C. Kennedy, of St. Edwards, Neb., trotted an exhibition mile, a running horse setting the pace, without either sulky or driver,

R. W. BROWN,
Superintendent Beef Breeds Cattle.

in 2:09, lowering the record made by the same horse Tuesday of 2:10½.

Three bands were on the grounds during the entire day, and all of them furnished excellent music throughout the entire afternoon from the grand stand.

Judging and making awards in nearly all of the departments not completed Tuesday took up the entire day, and the work of awarding the premiums and placing of ribbons will be finished if possible today.

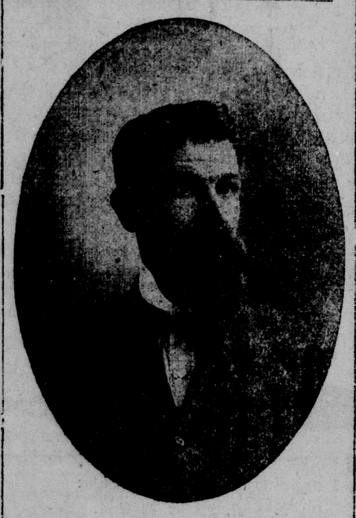

The racing program was a big attraction and the grand stand, quarter stretch, bleachers and all along the outside of the race course near the grand stand for fully a quarter of a mile on either side was a great mass of humanity craning their necks to see what horse would finish first in the different events.

The results of the races were as follows::

WOES OF TELEPHONE LINEMAN.

He Was Ambitious, but Grew Dizzy and Fell Into the River.

"Nearly anyone can become a good telephone lineman after three or four years," said a Kansas City electrician. "A few men, though, never can learn the trade because they grow dizzy when they get to the top of a pole.

"Safety belts have been worn only about ten years. Just a little while before they came into use I had a man working with me who couldn't learn to control himself when on a pole. He could climb all right, but after he got there he couldn't do anything except to hang on so tight that he left his nail marks in the wood.

"One day we were working on a telephone line close to town, and had a good-sized audience watching us. This would-be lineman thought he'd try to nail some brackets up about 20 feet from the ground. He put his ax in his mouth and shinned up the pole. Then he stopped. The natives came around to watch him and he did his best, but it was no use. There he stayed for a full minute and couldn't put his hands up to get the ax. So he came down again.

He tried one day to cross on a high truss we were wiring over the Missouri river. We told him he couldn't do it, but he went ahead, and, as usual last control of himself and fell. When we pulled him out he had changed his mind about becoming a lineman. Later he went into the grocery business."—Kansas City Star.

Stomach troubles, heart and kidney ailments, can be quickly corrected with a prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The prompt and surprising relief which this remedy immediately brings is entirely due to its restorative action upon the controlling nerves of the stomach, etc. Sold by W. E. Bard Drug Co.

The Original

The idea of a Cough Syrup that will act on the bowels, and thus assist in expelling colds from the system is new and original in Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. Nearly all other cough cures are constipating, especially those containing Opiates. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar moves the bowels, contains no Opiates.

Laxative

A certain, safe and harmless remedy for all Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Cough, La Grippe, Bronchitis, Influenza and all Lung and Bronchial affections. Mothers praise the children's favorite, Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar.

One of the Important Duties of Physicians and the Well-Informed of the World is to learn as to the relative standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, as the most eminent physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of contemplation and of effort may be made to contribute to that end and the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the appoval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

HELP WANTED

"Help Wanted." That's the cry of employers all over the great Southwest. Mechanics, farmers, clerks, laborers—in fact, men of all trades and professions are in big demand in Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory. Wages are high—the cost of living is comparatively moderate and the climate is the most healthful in the United States. Why stay in the big, crowded cities when opportunities like this stare you in the face? Take a trip down there. Look at the great industrial and commercial activities that are being organized and are expanding every day. Hear the general call for help—talk with the prosperous people who are already there.

WHO GOT THE CAT?

A certain story is going the rounds downtown which is rather amusing. The man who told it on himself to a fellow suburbanite, who made solemn pledge not to repeat it, may be surprised to see it in print, but the story was really too good to keep, and perhaps he will forgive his friend and his friend's friends who have told it in turn. Jones lives in New Jersey in a town which has a law forbidding the throwing of dead cats or dogs in ash or garbage cans. Now the Joneses had a most sagacious cat, which was the pet of the household. In the fullness of her years Tabby was gathered of her Tabby's superior intelligence Jones family unfortunately possessed no back yard to use as a burial ground and besides Mrs. Jones felt that a cat of her Tabby's superior intelligence and personality should have a more unique resting place. A watery grave appealed strongly to her imagination and she decided that the mortal remains should be neatly and carefully done up in a paper parcel and dropped gently overboard by Mr. Jones when crossing the ferry on his way to his office.

So the morning after Pussy's decease Mr. Jones, wearing a self-conscious look and carrying a neat bundle, left for the city. As he was boarding the ferryboat he ran up against the pastor of his church and two of the wardens. They immediately hailed Jones, who was a newcomer in the parish, and he was obliged to join their group. He stood and chatted, planning to escape from them before the boat docked and to make his way to the least-frequented deck to dump his bundle overboard. But he reckoned without his pastor, who, just as he was saying good-bye, caught him by the arm, and with flattering familiarity walked forward to the gangplank, asking some question which, in all common politeness, he was obliged to stay to answer, and before he knew it he and his parcel were on dry land, and the opportunity for Pussy's receiving a watery interment were for the morning frustrated. As he walked toward Broadway he decided that the watery-grave idea had had its chance and that the best thing now would be to deposit the mortal remains in the first ash-can he saw; but with the perversity of fate he didn't see any, and he was obliged to take the rapidly growing heavier bundle to his office and deposit it on a shelf, trusting the homeward trip would give him the desired opportunity.

But not so! Just as he was edging toward the railing of the aft deck when the boat was in midstream, three ladies emerged from the cabin and he groaned inwardly as he recognized the social leaders of the whist club which he and his wife had recently joined. They greeted him cordially, and poor Jones knew that Pussy's chances for reaching the Hudson were nil for that trip. One of the ladies had a small boy and a large basket of fruit, and Jones, with his bundle tucked under one arm, was obliged to play the squire of dames, and help the lady, the boy, and the basket aboard a trolley car when they landed in Jersey City. He usually took the trolley, but he knew that his sole remaining chance for getting rid of the bundle that day lay in his taking the train. When he got on board he found the car filled with the exception of one seat. This he took, carefully depositing his parcel in the rack beside a couple already placed there by the man whose seat he shared.

When he arrived at his station he hastily made his exit, carefully remembering to forget the bundle. Just as he was crossing the platform and the train was beginning to pull out he was called by the conductor, who ran after him with the bundle he left behind. Poor Jones was, of course, most politely grateful, outwardly, and inwardly most vexed. He walked home with a realizing sense that dead cats are as difficult to get rid of as the traditional live ones.

Mrs. Jones listened to his story with proper wifely sympathy, but when she looked at the bundle she gave a little shriek. But this isn't it! Your bundle I tied up with white string, and this has brown!" They hastened to unroll the parcel and found, not a feline corpse, but a nice tender-looking leg of mutton! Perhaps this may meet the eyes of that man in the car who got the other bundle, and perhaps he will then have his faith in his butcher and human nature restored. Let us hope so.

In Memory of George Eliot.

In Aubury park, Warwickshire, England, the ancestral seat of the Newdegates, a tapered pillar in gray granite on a three-stepped pedestal has been erected to perpetuate the memory of George Eliot. Her birthplace is nearby, and her father, brother and nephew served the Newdegate family in the office of land agent. The monument is the gift of F. A. N. Newdegate.

Finds a Seven-Inch Tooth.

Bloomington, Ill.—Jacob Hochstrasser, of Kane county, made a remarkable discovery of mastodonic remains upon his farm. He found four enormous teeth and a large number of bones, sufficient to fill a bushel basket. One of the teeth measures seven inches in length and 18 in circumference. Among the bones in his possession are those composing the head of the animal. One bone weighs ten pounds and contains a portion of a tusk. The finder is willing to turn the bones over to any college desiring to exhibit them.

Fussy Bachelor.

"Women," growled the fussy old bachelor, "remind me of eggs."

"Must be handled with care—is that the answer?" queried the young man.

"No," rejoined the F. O. B.; "one can never tell their age by their looks."

Trial catarrh treatments are being mailed out free, on request, by Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. These tests are proving to the people—without a penny's cost—the great value of this scientific prescription known to druggists everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Remedy. Sold by W. E. Bard Drug Co.

"THE ADVERTISING DECIDES"

It seems like a long time ago that people "inherited their stores"—patronized stores from family habit and traditions.

And yet, even now, some of the more "conservative" are inclined to attach too much importance to store reputation and good will. These things do have great value of course; but they do not outweigh all other things, by any means.

The newest store in the city will always be able, through enterprising methods and effective newspaper advertising, to capture a share of the business "inherited" by the oldest one. And so it comes about that the long-established store must keep step with the newest ones in selling methods, in stocks, in equipment, in service—and especially in advertising. If it does not, then it practically presents to newer competitors a share of its trade. In the competitive fight, therefore, it is not all decided by good-will, by store followings. "The advertising decides."

WITH THE JACKASS BATTERY.

Men and Mules Required for Work in the Mountains.

One of the most interesting organizations which took part in the maneuvers at Camp Tacoma, Washington, of western troops under Gen. Frederick Funston was the 11th battalion, field artillery, Maj. C. A. Bennett commanding.

The battalion consisted of the seventeenth and eighteenth batteries, sometimes referred to as "jackass" batteries, says Leslie's Weekly, because of the use of mules. The battery pieces are transported in sections on the backs of mules, the guns and carriages being divided into four parts, making four packs for the same number of animals.

This enables the batteries to be transported through the most difficult regions accessible to troops, and the guns can be brought into action in mountainous country. In the United States army these batteries are comparatively new, but they received their baptism in the Philippines and have proved their practical value in many skirmishes upon the cotlas and forts of the Moros.

It is surprising how rapidly the mules are unloaded, the parts of the gun thrown together and the gun loaded, sighted and ready to be fired. At a test of the eighteenth battery the men ran the mules back fifty paces, unloaded and assembled the gun and fired in 45 seconds. This was a world's record.

The work requires not only intelligent but powerful men. The gun itself weighs 36 pounds and the trail the same, but the men handle the pieces with ease.

The mules, too, are familiar with the drill and perform their parts in a very intelligent manner. They know their respective positions, and when the load is lifted they immediately jump forward, so the piece can be placed directly on the ground.

The gun used in these batteries has a range of from 3,500 to 4,000 feet. It fires a large shell, but has a lower muzzle velocity than the larger field pieces. In design the piece is somewhat similar to the "screw" gun of the British army.

You never have any trouble to get children to take Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup. They like it because it tastes nearly like maple sugar. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup is a safe, sure and prompt remedy for coughs and colds and is good for every member of the family. Sold by Arlington pharmacy.

Jute Sacks by the Thousand.

Immense numbers of jute sacks are annually used in the shipment of nitrate from Chile. They come principally from Australia and the East Indies, and are never used the second time, as the nitrate rots the fiber. During 1906 about 20,000,000 sacks were used, and the demand is constantly growing.

Obstinate cases of constipation and nasty, sick headaches promptly disappear when you take DeWitt's Little Early Riser Pills. Sold by Arlington pharmacy.

Extra Service at Walch Bros.

Attention of fair visitors and Sedalians as well is called to the very excellent service at Walch Bros.' cafe, 109 and 111 West Second street, this week. A large corps of experienced waiters and cooks, nearly twenty in all, are employed and the result was apparent today when hundreds of people were served with the greatest precision and promptness with fine dinners and lunches.

Walch Bros. never do anything by halves, and anticipating the necessities for this week they have amply provided for everybody with everything that is good to eat. A very important feature of this extra service is the moderate prices asked. Meals and short orders are served at all hours of the day and night. Especial attention is called to the service of fish of all kinds and other delicious eatables.

Extremes in Flats.

"This old world is always at cross purposes," said the tired woman. "When the heat gets so you can't stand it at all everybody in the neighborhood opens the windows, and there is bedlam to pay. Then when a cool breeze comes up and you could stand the cries if you had to, they shut down their windows and everything is just as quiet as can be."

To check a cold quickly get from your druggist some little candy cold tablets called Preventics. Druggists everywhere are now dispensing Preventics, for they are not only safe, but decidedly certain and prompt. Preventics contain no quinine, no laxative, nothing harsh nor sickening. Taken at the "sneeze stage" Preventics will prevent pneumonia, bronchitis, la grippe, etc. Hence the name, Preventics. Good for feverish children, 48 Preventics, 25c. Trial boxes 5c. Sold by W. E. Bard Drug Co.

Notes of the Fair.

The directors of the Wisconsin board of agriculture, composed of, the president, George McKerrow; John M. True, secretary; Senator George Wylie, Charles Everett, C. G. Wilcox, Grant U. Fisher, John Herbst, Charles Hill, O. F. Roessler, George Cox and J. J. Nelson, are in the city as the guests of the fair board, and are enjoying the exhibition immensely.

In making the start of the Missouri derby, 1¼ miles, yesterday afternoon, Friendless, ridden by Rees balked and was left at the post, trying to make the horse start the jockey was thrown, but escaped injury.

Lord Redmond, owned by W. R. Colton, of Rich Hill, Mo., and driven in the 2:24 pace for a purse of $1,000 in finishing the fifth and last heat of that race Wednesday afternoon, fell to the track just as he passed the flag and a short distance from the wire. The mishap caused considerable excitement for a short while on the track, and it took some time for the judges to reach a decision as to whether the horse was entitled to place in the race or not, but as he had finished first in the first two heats, and had conformed with all the regulations of the association, he was given second place, Reno Ye winning the race by taking the last three heats in succession.

RECIPE FOR DAISY CAKE.

Delicate Confection Calls for Care in the Making.

Separate four eggs, beat the yolks until creamy, and add one cup sugar gradually. Beat until light; add one-quarter pound butter, beaten to a cream; then add one tablespoonful evaporated cream, diluted with enough water to make one-half cup, and one teaspoonful vanilla. Stir in one and one-half cups of flour; add two even teaspoonfuls baking powder; mix thoroughly and bake in layers. This is for the yellow part.

For the white part, beat one-half cup butter to a cream; add gradually one and one-half cups sugar; then stir in the well beaten whites of four eggs and add one cup lukewarm water and two and one-half cups flour. After the flour is added beat continually for five minutes until the batter is perfectly smooth; add the juice and rind of a lemon, an even teaspoon baking powder, and bake in layers. Make an ordinary boiled icing filling and put the layers together, alternating yellow and white. Ice the top with orange icing and color it with the grated rind. Make a perfectly plain, soft, white icing and with a pastry tube decorate it in the form of a daisy.

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

No skin disease can exist without an underlying cause, and in most instances that cause is either a humor in the blood or an excess of fiery acids in this vital fluid. These humors and acids get into the blood, generally because of an inactive and sluggish condition of those members whose duty it is to collect and carry off the waste and refuse of the body. This unhealthy matter is left in the system to sour and ferment, and soon the circulation becomes charged with the acid poison. The blood, in its effort to rid itself of this foreign matter, begins to throw off the humors and acids through the pores and glands of the skin. These coming in contact with the delicate tissues and fibers with which the skin is so abundantly supplied produces irritation and inflammation on the surface, and Eczema, Acne, Tetter, Psoriasis, Salt Rheum, or some other troublesome and disfiguring skin disease is the result. External applications, while they soothe the itching, and are beneficial in keeping the skin clean, can never cure skin affections, because they do not reach the blood where the real trouble is located. A thorough cleansing of the blood is the only permanent cure for skin diseases. S. S. S., the greatest of all blood purifiers, is the best treatment. It cures by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the circulation so that the skin, instead of being irritated and diseased by the exuding acrid matter, is nourished and soothed by a cooling, healthy stream of blood. S. S. S. goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, removes the foreign matter and thereby permanently cures every form of skin trouble. Do not expect to cure a blood disease with local applications alone, but begin the use of S. S. S., and when you have removed the cause the skin will be free from disease. SEDALIA, MO., FRIDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1907—PART ONE

VOL. 1. NO. 40. $1 PER YEAR

THIRD DAY OF THE FAIR

SEDALIA DAY ATTRACTED THE LARGEST CROWD OF ANY PREVIOUS TUESDAY.

WAS IDEAL OCTOBER DAY, TRULY

The Aairship Was One of the Pleasing Features—Automobile Race Another Big Card—The Harness Race Results.

"Sedalia day" at the state fair yesterday proved the biggest success from every standpoint of any Tuesday ever known in the seven years' history of the institution, and a conservative estimate of the number of visitors to the grounds puts it at 12,000.

Ideal is the one best word that describes the weather conditions, and the big features were the automobile race of ten miles for a purse of $1,000, two ascensions of Strobel's airship and the harness and running races.

"Dick" Dallas was the aeronaut operating the airship in its flights, one being made in the forenoon, and the other shortly after the racing program had been started. The first flight was made without incident, the aeronaut proving himself capable of guiding and controlling the machine with apparent ease. Spectators looked in astonishment at the airship while it was making its course high in the air, and were more than pleased with the exhibition.

In returning from a sail through the air over the city and the downtown district to the fair grounds, on the second trip, the operator of the airship hovered too low in nearing the race course and the rudder struck against the frame work where the aerial trapeze acts take place, causing the nose of the gas bag, which had beenlo sing gas, to drop against the propellor tearing a large hole in it, and doing great damage. Mr. Dallas was only a few feet in the air when the airship fell to the track, and luckily escaped injury.

An effort will be made to have everything in readiness for a flight late this afternoon, but in the event the airship cannot be placed in proper shape in time for it, it will be ready for giving exhibitions of aerial navigation Thursday and Friday.

In the automobile race there were six starters, the makes of machines,

JOHN A. RANKIN,
Superintendent Sheep Department.

with their owners, being: C. F. Mensing, Kansas City, (Stoddard-Dayton); W. N. Mitchell, Chicago, (Ford); Harry Rubey, Macon, Mo., (Stevens-Duryea); F. C. Cheatham, Warrensburg, (Thomas); Emil Dorn, Kansas City, (Buick); Dr. W. S. Shirk, Sedalia, (Mitchell).

Two machines were started together, the time being taken and those finishing first, second, third and fourth received a division of the purse. C. F. Mensing won the race, making the ten miles in 12:36; H. N. Mitchell, Chicago, second, time 13:47; Harry Rubey, third, time, 14:01; F. C. Cheatham, fourth, time, 14:12¾. Dr. Shirk distanced. Mr. Dorn failed to finish the race owing to his machine being disabled in making the eighth mile around the course.

The harness events were considered equal in every way to any ever pulled off on the fair grounds track, the results being as follows:

The Monday Races.

Monday's racing program of three events, 2:35 trot, 2:30 pace and running race for three-fourths of a mile, proved very interesting, especially the 2:35 trot, which finished the three heats within one-fourth of a minute of each other in the time.

Nellie Axtel, owned by D. A. Smith, Cessna Park, Ill., won the three heats, while Belbar, owned by Lee Carpenter, Sedalia, won second pace in the race by finishing second in the second and third heats. Farmer Girl was third in the race. The summary:

2:35 trot, purse $600:

Today Is Governor's Day.

"Governor's day" opened under most auspicious circumstances, and from 7 o'clock this morning until late in the afternoon all trains, street cars and private conveyances reaching the fair grounds were crowded to their utmost capacity.

Like "Sedalia day" the weather was very favorable, and the attendance was fully up to the expectations of everyone.

Governor Folk, Missouri's chief executive, arrived in the city this forenoon, being met at the station by a reception committee composed of ex-Governor Norman J. Colman, S. W. Hudson, Senator Thomas Wornall and a delegation of Sedalians and people from other parts of the state, in automobiles, who formed an escort to the governor to the fair grounds.

On arrival there a reception was tendered him in the Live Stock pavilion, which he dedicated last state fair, and following the reception an address was delivered by him.

Governor Folk was entertained at luncheon by the Sedalia Country club at their club house, and in the afternoon he and members of his party occupied boxes in the grand stand to witness the races.

Program at Woman's Building.

There was a good crowd at the Woman's tent this morning and at 10:30 the Ladies' Musical club gave the following program:

1. Instrumental duet — Misses Dempsey.

Sheep Men Elect Officers.

The Missouri Sheep Breeders' association held a very enthusiastic meeting this forenoon in the lecture room of the dairy building and disposed of a large amount of routine business.

The association, formed last year with 13 members, now has 300, and a large portion of them were in attendance.

During the session the place of meeting was decided on for future years, Sedalia being selected, and Wednesday of each fair week was designated as the time.

Officers were elected s follows:

President, S. H. Groves, Tipton; vice president, H. R. Brasfield, Unionville; secretary and treasurer, M. V. Carroll, Sedalia.

Before adjournment was taken meeting was arranged for this evening at 7:30 o'clock, which will be held at the Ruralist office.

Sheepmen's Day Also.

Besides being "Governor's day," today is "Sheepmen's day," and this afternoon a big sale of imported sheep is being held in the sheep and swine pavilion, one of the largest and most enthusiastic crowds of sheepmen ever assembled in Missouri being in attendance.

The pick of the best flocks of England and Canada, including Cotswolds, Oxfords and Shropshires are the offerings and the bidding is very spirited.

M. V. Carroll, editor of the Ruralist, is the sale manager, with Col. R. L. Harriman, of Bunceton, and Col. C. J. Hieronymus, of Sedalia, as auctioneers.

Final section automobile 10-mile free for all race.

This Is "Missouri Day."

Today, "Missouri day," was sure enough "Big Thursday" at the fair, and long before the gates were thrown open to admit the thousands of visitors an immense crowd had assembled anxious to get on the inside of the gounds.

A prominent man in attendance, who has visited nearly all of the state fairs of the United States, numerous county fairs, and other big gatherings

HON. W. B. McROBERTS, Monticello.

throughout the country, stated that the Missouri people sure get up early to go to fairs, spend the entire day, and do not return to their homes until late in the evening for fear of not seeing it all, and never before was this more clearly demonstrated than today, when the vast throng of people were seen hurrying to and fro, from one end of the grounds to the other.

The forenoon was spent by the judges in the different departments making awards, and this work has been practically completed. In the different exhibits, blue, red and white ribbons were to be seen everywhere, and this added considerable attractiveness to the already beautiful and interesting showings made.

The crowd today was so large that a conservative estimate of it would be almost impossible, so suffice it to say that it was the largest ever seen here by several thousands, and, with continued favorable weather, a large attendance is anticipated for Friday, closing day of the greatest exhibition ever made at any state fair ever held in Missouri.

HOBBLE FEDERAL JUDGES.

The recent decision of Judge Lochren, of the United States circuit court enjoining the officers of the state of Minnesota from enforcing the law of that state in regard to freight rates, adds a new chapter to the usurpation of federal courts. It will no doubt have an effect contrary to what was intendd by it. In fact, it will result in the introduction of bills at the next session of congress for circumscribing the powers of federal courts by depriving them of all authority to issue writs of injunction, habeas corpus and prohibition in cases wherein the law of a state is called in question.

And it is not unlikely that such a measure may be enacted into law.

In 1802 the democrats, at Jefferson's suggestion, abolished the circuit court of the United States created by the sixth congress in February, 1801; and that precedent is receiving the attention of all congressmen who favor the preservation of the reserve rights of the states and trial by jury.

The next great struggle in this country will be like the first—a struggle against the usurpation of federal judges, whom Jefferson so aptly described as the sappers and miners of despotism.

HEARST AND BRYAN.

Mr. Hearst is about to organize his Independence league into a national party, and has decided that hereafter the league will have nothing to do with the two older parties. This determination is said to have been taken because Mr. Bryan refused to support Mr. Hearst for the nomination for president at the last democratic national convention, when he voted for Senator Cockrell, of Missouri.

It is also reported that in the event of Mr. Bryan's nomination for president, the league will make a nomination on purpose to defeat Mr. Bryan. How democrats will view this will appear later, but that many will drop Mr. Heart's newspapers as organs of democracy is certain.

THE ROAD TO PROSPERITY.

The young woman in the nursery jingle who was adjured to hang her clothes on a hickory limb, but not to go near the water, probably never mastered the art of swimming. By the same token, the merchant who is restrained from the use of printers' ink by an over-developed bump of conservatism will never learn to be really prosperous. No man can appreciate the wonderful stimulative power of publicity without having given it a fair trial under favorable conditions. The favorable conditions are threefold—meritorious wares to exploit, attractive, convincing "copy." and an influential newspaper medium through which to circulate it.

ROOSEVELT "BUTT IN."

The most remarkable characteristic of Roosevelt is his continual butting in. He is the greatest butter that ever grew without horns.

The last specimen is his demand for the resignation of the master of the steamer Fred Hartweg, and was, perhaps, the most unwarranted and unjust an interference in his career. The boat might have been making a little spurt to pass another boat, or it might have been frolicking a little, but the entire Pittsburg delegation non board declare that there was tion on boaard declare that there was of his excellency, nor was the boat anywhere near the Mississippi.

From all quarters come expressions of strong disapproval of the president's course, as entirely uncalled for and unnecessary. It looked like a needless attempt to display his authority and greatness.

STILL WORKING FOR A SUBSIDY.

Advocates of the ship subsidy bill are already at work in Washington. There will be a desperate effort made at the coming session to get legislation of some sort through. This is a measure that by no means has popular support throughout the country. All of the seaboard cities realize that it would be to their advantage if it materially helped to build up the mercantile marine, but the inland communities may be regarded as indifferent, with the element against it that shies at the prospect of heavier public expenditures of such an indefinite extent as entrance to the subsidy field would entail.

It is quite possible that if there is subsidy legislation it will take a very mild form, and will be first urged to secure additional steamship facilities for South America. This is unquestionably needed from a commercial standpoint, though whether even a heavy subsidy would secure it is a matter for serious consideration.

Order of Publication.

State of Missouri, } ss
County of Pettis, }

In the probate court for the county of Pettis, August term, 1907.

H. R. Camp, administrator of William L. Jones, deceased.

Order of publication.

H. R. Camp, administrator of William L. Jones, deceased, presents to the court his petition, praying for an order for the sale of so much of the real estate of said deceased as will pay and satisfy the remaining debts due by said estate, and yet unpaid for want of sufficient assets, accompanied by the accounts, list, and inventories required by law in such case, on examination whereof it is ordered that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased be notified that application as aforesaid has been made, and that unless the contrary be shown on or before the first day of the next term of this court, to be held on the second Monday of November, next, an order will be made for the sale of the whole, or so much of the real estate of said deceased as will be sufficient for the payment of said debts; and it is further ordered that this notice be published in some newspaper in Pettis county, this state, for four weeks before the next term of this court.

State of Missouri, } ss
County of Pettis, }

I, D. E. Kennedy, judge and ex-officio clerk of the probate court, held in and for said county, hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original order of publication therein referred to, as the same appears on record in my office.

Witness my hand and seal of said court. Done at office in Sedalia, in said county, this seventh day of October, 1907.

D. E. KENNEDY,
Judge and E-officio Clerk.

Notice of Final Settlement.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned administrator of the estate of Eliza H. Bouldin, deceased, will make final settlement of his accounts with said estate as such administrator at the next term of the probate court of Pettis county, Missouri, to be holden at Sedalia, in said county, on the 11th day of November, A. D. 1907.

DAVID W. BOULDIN,
Administrator.

Will Succeed Mr. Byng.

J. G. Callison, of Windsor, will exhibit Walnut Boy, with a record of 2:11¼, and thirty-five of his get on Thursday.

Judging from the crowd at the fair grounds yesterday, the attendance on Thursday, if the weather conditions are favorable, will be by far the largest ever known since the fair was started seven years ago.

Hiner's Third regiment band, of Kansas City, furnished the music in the grand stand yesterday afternoon, and received a big ovation. E. M. Hiner rendered beautifully two cornet solos, being accorded tremendous applause.

The different churches serving meals on the fair grounds, and also everybody having stands or places where food could be procured, did a thriving business yesterday, several of them selling out everything they had during the noon hour.

Several new amusement features were introduced in the vaudeville stunts on the platform opposite the grand stand at the fair grounds yesterday, and are being presented again today, which adds much to the entertainment of the large crowd between the heats of the racing program.

Transportation facilities to and from the fair grounds yesterday proved inadequate to handle the large crowds, especially at the close of the racing program, when everybody made a mad rush for either the shuttle trains or the street cars, and a large number of them being unable to find a suitable place to either seat themselves or to stand up and ride, walked the entire distance into the city.

FINE CLOTHING

In advertising clothes for fall we will not use exaggerated values or make impossible claims, but we will say that Capp's Fine Clothing is far better than anything offered for the price. You don't find this brand on the bargain counters. There are clothes more expensive and clothes cheaper, but the Capps' brand, of Jacksonville, Ill., is good enough for anybody and priced within the reach of all.
We will soon have something to say about Overcoats. We have a large stock of boys' school suits. Bring in your boys.

MR. C. V. WITCHER DEAD

THE END CAME AT HIS HOME IN CHICAGO, BUT BURIAL IS TO BE IN SEDALIA.

NONE OF THE PARTICULARS KNOWN

Nat S. Green, Who Managed the Dun Mercantile Agency Here a Dozen Years Ago, Passed Away at Home in Australia.

C. V. Witcher, a former Sedalian, for three months a resident of Chicago, died at his home in that city very suddenly last Monday. He was 50 years old and leaves a wife and one child, Mrs. June Harris, of this city.

The remains were shipped from Chicago this morning to Sedalia, where burial will be made, but until the body arrives no funeral arrangements will be made.

Mr. Witcher was well known in Sedalia, where he lived for a number of years. He has many friends in this city and throughout the state, all of whom will read of his death with sorrow. The burial will be private.

Nat Green Is Dead.

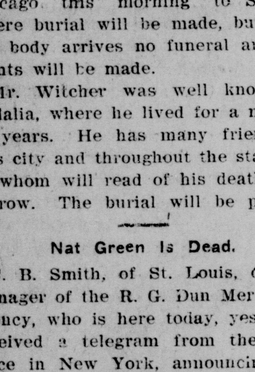

C. B. Smith, of St. Louis, district manager of the R. G. Dun Mercantile agency, who is here today, yesterday received a telegram from the head office in New York, announcing the receipt of a cablegram from Australia, telling of the death there of Nat Green, who was manager there for the Dun people.

Mr. Green, who was about 40 years old, was manager of the Sedalia office some twelve years ago, and went from here to Dallas, Texas, as district manager for the Dun company.

Mr. Green was only recently married, and Mr. Smith was asked to notify relatives in Missouri of the death.

Display of Minerals.

In the mineral department of the Art hall is a display of lead ore from the mines of V. C. Day & Co., located south of Smithton. These specimens are taken from the mines in their natural condition, without polish or previous arrangement for exhibition, and a careful inspection of them will convince one of their richness, and the promising prospects of these mines with further development.

The company has already made several shipments of ore, having sent out a load this week to Collinsville, Ill., and have invariably received prices equalling the best market quotations given for Joplin ore. This display is of a Pettis county industry, and we feel more than justified in calling the attention of the public to it.

State Fair Notes.

Rex McDonald, the Chicago world's fair champion saddle stallion, will be exhibited Thursday and also his colts, the exhibition to be made in front of the grand stand on the racing course.

A meeting of the state fair board was scheduled for last night, but Secretary Rippey was the only at the state fair offices at the appointed time, and the session was postponed until today.

Strobel's airship, which had the misfortune to have a huge hole punctured in the gas bag Tuesday afternoon, is being worked on today by a large force of men, and the damage done has been repaired so that a flight would have been made possible late this afternoon but for the fact that a sufficient supply of sulphuric acid, used in forming hydrogen gas, could not be procured in time to inflate the bag used.

Order of Publication.

STATE OF MISSOURI, ss

County of Pettis.

In the probate court for the county of Pettis, August term, 1907.

William J. Imhauser, executor of Frederick Luecke, deceased. Order of publication.

William J. Imhauser, executor of Frederick Luecke, deceased, presents to the court his petition, praying for an order for the sale of so much of the real estate of said deceased as will pay and satisfy the remaining debts due by said estate and yet unpaid for want of sufficient assets, accompanied by accounts, list and inventories required by law in such case, on examination whereof it is ordered that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased be notified that application as aforesaid has been made, and that unless the contrry be shown on or before the first day of the next term of this court, to be held on the second Monday of November, 1907, next, an order will be made for the sale of the whole, or so much of the real estate ofsaid deceased as will be sufficient for the payment of said debts; and it is further ordered that this notice be published in some newspaper in Pettis county, this state, for four weeks before the next term of court.

STATE OF MISSOURI, ss

County of Pettis,

I, D. E. Kennedy, judge and ex-officio clerk of the probate court, held in and for said county, hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original order of publication therein referred to, as the same appears of record in my office.

Witness my hand and seal of said court. Done at office in Sedalia, in said county, this tenth day of September, 1907.

WANTED TO BE LOCKED UP

Said He Killed a Man—A Case of Too Much Booze.

(Thursday's Daily.)

George Morrison, a well dressed man and non-resident, was given ten days in jail by Judge Rickman today for vagrancy.

Late yesterday afternoon Morrison applied to the jailer at the county jail, saying he had killed a man and wanted to be locked up. He was sent to Judge Rickman's office.

There he said he wanted to be locked in jail for five days in order that he could not get any liquor.

Accordingly, he was remanded to jail and arraigned in court this morning and given the fine stated above.

"SMOOTH" MEN IN HOCK

THEY POSED AS SUCH, BUT WERE GATHERED IN BY PEACE GUARDIANS.

THE LOCAL AND VISITING OFFICERS

Arrested Them Yesterday and Last Night—Three of the Ten Are Held for Trial in Criminal Court.

(Thursday's Daily.)

Ten professional pickpockets from different parts of the country, who came to Sedalia to "do" the state fair, were detected by local and visiting officers yesterday and last night and locked in jail.

George Davis and John Newman, charged with robbing Thomas Martin, of Blackwell, of $54, were arraigned for a preliminary hearing before Judge Gresham, ex-officio justice of the peace, in police court today. Both stood trial and were held to the criminal court in a $1,000 bond each, in default of which they were remanded to jail.

Newman and Davis were first espied by James Card, and when arrested had almost $200 in currency and silver in their pockets.

John Rockwell, another professional pickpocket, known in metropolitan police circles as the "Little Jew," was arraigned for a preliminary hearing before the same judge, charged with stealing $16.50 from C. C. Maupin, of Calhoun. He stood trial and was held to the criminal court in a $1,000 bond, in default of which he, too, was remanded to jail.

The other seven criminals are still in jail and will likely be kept there until after the fair, after which they will be sent from town.

Howard Wood, chief of police at the state fair grounds, and his assistants, deserve much credit for the able manner in which they handle the crowds at the fair grounds and prevent robberies.

Detectives O'Hare, Schenk, McCarty and Stewart are continually on the go at the grounds, and their presence no doubt is the cause for the few thefts reported, while the uniformed officers have the thanks of the general public for the efficient service rendered.

Chief Boulit is also doing splendid work in the city, and the crook who gets away with the swag in Sedalia this week will be a sure enough smooth artist.

INTEREST IS INTENT

Today's Contest Between Chicago and Detroit Attracting Big Crowds.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—Interest in today's Chicago-Detroit game is intense and throngs began early to migrate towards the field of battle, taxing the street car systems to their utmost to accommodate them. The weather is clear, but a strong wind made light overcoats acceptable.

The batteries for today will not be decided until later. The catching department is worrying Jennings. Schmidt and Payne have both been tried and found wanting. Archer only be given an opportunity to show his worth.

CAN'T DENY IT.

If This Had Happened in San Francisco Instead of Sedalia More Than One Reader Might Doubt It

The average man is a doubter. This is not surprising—the public have been humbugged so frequently they are skeptical. Proof like the following will stand investigation. It can not be disputed.

William Ricks, of 603 West Fifth street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "I have already vouched for the merits of Doan's Kidney Pills in a statement made in 1901, when I first procured them at the Bard Drug Co. My experience warrants me in still recommending them. My son has also used them with benefit and has recommended them to his acquaintances."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND

Was in Chicago River and Had Cuts and Bruises Upon It.

Chicago, Oct. 10.—The body of an unidentified woman, apparently 35 years old, and fashionably dressed, was found in the Chicago river near the Halstead street bridge today, with her head and face cut and bruised and a cut about the neck and shoulders.

It is evidently a case of murder, but not for the purpose of robbery, as a watch bearing the initials, S. J., and gold rings were found upon the body.

James Carroll Vaughan Prays for a Decree and Also Asks for the Custody of Their Minor Children.

Hazell and Lay filed a suit in the circuit court Tuesday for James Carroll Vaughan from Martha E. Vaughan and for the custody of the five children born ot the marriage, says the Jefferson City Tribune.

The petition alleges that they were married in Camden county and that five children were born; that last February the defendant left her husband and departed with one M. M. Maples, taking the oldest daughter with her, and that the plaintiff believes that she is now living with the said Maples in Sedalia.

The case will come up for hearing at the November term of the circuit court.

Sunday Schools' Work

DR. G. L. SHEPHERD, CO. SUPT.—NO 33.

The Sunday school worker, no matter what his position, meets with many discouragements. So does every christian worker and every educator, everyone who is striving for the betterment of mankind. It will seem at times that all labor is lost, that the world is growing worse, but this is always a mistake. The world is growing better every year, and the Sunday school is a principal factor in this progressive movement.

More than twenty-six millions of people in America, Great Britain and the colonies use the International Sunday school lesson every Sunday. As has been stated in this column, these lessons are prepared by some of the ablest and most earnest consecrated men that England and America can produce. This fact alone should be an abundant assurance of a great forward movement, but there are many additional marks of rapid progrss.

A world-wide tour, to be known as "The World's Sunday School Visitation," is contemplated to confer and co-operate with the Sunday school workers of the world, especially in Japan, India and China, for the purpose of improving the work and encouraging the workers. It is proposed that this tour take place from January to July, 1909. Such an undertaking would not have been dreamed of a few years ago, and it is more than probable that the next few years will witness stupendous movements undreamed of at present. In the meantime we should each be using our best efforts to do our own part as a true soldier in this vast army.

Signs of progress at home: There are dates set for fifty-four county Sunday school conventions in Missouri this season, and township conventions without number. Denominational conventions are each and all giving increased attention to the Sunday school work. It occupies a considerable place on nearly every program. "He shall not fail, nor be discouraged till he have set judgment in the earth: and the isles shall wait for his law."—Isaiah 42:4.

Our October meeting of the Sedalia Sunday School union will be held in the East Sedalia Baptist church Tuesday evening the 23rd, at 7:30 o'clock. Let us look forward to it, remember the date and avoid conflicting engagements. Let us try for the best meeting of the year.

Remember that the teachers' training class, conducted by Mrs. Meriwether, is a union class. All are invited to meet at the First Christian church every Friday evening.

"It is better to teach one truth twenty ways than twenty truths one way."

"The most pitiable sight is a teacher teaching all he knows."—Marion Lawrance.

We hope soon to report some township conventions in Pettis county.

A Great Crowd Wednesday.

Nearly seventeen thousand people passed through the gates at the state fair grounds yesterday, it being the largest Wednesday crowd recorded in the history of the fair.

The exhibition was considered the best ever held here, not only in the extensiveness of the exhibits, displays, racing program and entertainment features, but in everything, and although trouble was again experienced as on Tuesday, "Sedalia day," by the transportation companies in handling the crowds going to and from the grounds, everyone seemed to be in a happy frame of mind and enjoyed themselves hugely.

One of the principal features of the afternoon was the showing in a grand parade of German coach horses, Percherons, Belgians, Shetland ponies, jacks and jennets, the famous Missouri mules, and both beef and dairy breeds of cattle, the parade being given between racing heats on the race course.

President E. E. Swink and Vice President A. M. Thompson, of the board of fair directors, headed the parade, and it was pronounced by all witnessing the grand spectacle as being far superior to any ever before attempted.

The showing of J. Crouch & Son, importers of fine stallions, with headquarters at Lafayette, Ind., and Sedalia, was unexcelled, and their fine stallion, Hannibal, who has never met defeat in any exhibition, was shown to good advantage.

The Crouch exhibit was pronounced by horsemen and so announced from the judges' stand as the greatest ever made by one firm or ever given in the whole west.

Between other heats on the racing card Surena, the guidless wonder, owned by E. C. Kennedy, of St. Edwards, Neb., trotted an exhibition mile, a running horse setting the pace, without either sulky or driver, in 2:09, lowering the record made by the same horse Tuesday of 2:10½.

Three bands were on the grounds during the entire day, and all of them furnished excellent music throughout the entire afternoon from the grand stand.

Judging and making awards in nearly all of the departments not completed Tuesday took up the entire day, and the work of awarding the premiums and placing of ribbons will be finished if possible today.

The racing program was a big attraction and the grand stand, quarter stretch, bleachers and all along the outside of the race course near the grand stand for fully a quarter of a mile on either side was a great mass of humanity craning their necks to see what horse would finish first in the different events.

The results of the races were as follows::

The Game This Afternoon

Chicago, Oct. 9.—With nerves still tense from the strain of yesterday's battle, baseball enthusiasts gathered early to witness today's struggle for the championship of the world.

Hours before the gates were opened the streets in the vicinity of the grounds were thronged with people. The crowds were so dense that street car traffic at times was almost completely stopped.

The weather is damp and cold, with a strong wind.

It was thought the batteries would be Pfiester and Kling, and Siever and Schmidt.

The general sentiment, which is largely local as a matter of course, today favored Chicago as the winner of the entire series, an the strength of the showing made in yesterday's game. It was figured that Chicago had shown better batting ability and ran bases in a much livelier fashion.

DEATH OF J. M. SCHOELL

He Fell in a Fit Last Saturday and Fractured His Skull.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

John M. Schoell, an employe of the Emerson-Marlowe Egg and Poultry Co., and one of Sedalia's well known citizens, died of an injury, received last Saturday, at his home, 238 West Pettis street, Monday night.

Mr. Schoell had been troubled for some time with epileptic fits. Of late he suffered from them quite frequently, and while at work last Saturday he was seized with one.

During the attack he fell forward and struck his head, fracturing the skull. He had been bedfast since and grew worse until the end came.

Mr. Schoell was 51 years of age, and leaves a wife and three children, as follows: Mrs. George Young, Mrs. Will Dixon and Opal Schoell, all of this city.

Funeral services were held at the family residence at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, Rev. S. M. Lesher officiating, and interment was made in the city cemetery.

American Poultry Association Show for Sedalia.

Secretary W .E. Hurlbut, of the local Poultry association, is in receipt of a letter from Mr. T. E. Quisenberry, secretary of the Missouri State Poultry association, from which the following extract is taken:

"We have just landed the American Poultry association show, to be held in connection with our own. This will give us many special prizes and institute speakers that we could not have gotten otherwise. It comprises the states of Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Indian territory (now Oklahoma), and Missouri, comprising the southwest branch of the A. P. A., and Sedalia got almost a unanimous vote. This is great and our show will certainly be a hummer. We want a good building down town by all means, if it is possible to get it."

Licenses and Marriages.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

August C. Wilckens and Miss Myrtle E. West, both of Higginsville, were married at the recorder's office here by Circuit Judge Louis Hoffman this morning.

The same judge also united in marriage J. A. Friedly, of Lamonte, and Daisy D. Vickery, of Sweet Springs.

Licenses were issued to the following:

Thomas J. Fell, Waverly; Alice Wilkerson, Sweet Springs.

Lester U. Greer and Lulu Ethel Steelman, both of Beaman.

G. T. Knaus and Nellie R. Teufel, both of Sedalia.

Mitchell Will Give Up Place.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 10.—John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers, formally announced today that he would not be a candidate for re-election to his present place because of ill health.

CAR BARNS IN FLAMES

NEW YORK CITY HAD ANOTHER SPECTACULAR FIRE TODAY.

THOUSANDS WERE IN A PANIC

Many Police and a Number of Priests Were Required to Bring Them to a State of Calmness.

New York, Oct. 9.— Hundreds of lives were endangered and thousands of persons thrown into a panic, 125 electric cars were destroyed and a property loss of $400,000 was caused by a fire in the Fourteenth street car barns of this city early today. Three hundred and fifty horses were taken out safely. As a result of the fire the car service on all of the cross town lines was greatly hampered today.

The flames gained great headway, and when the firemen arrived the walls separating the big structure from the adjoining tenement houses were smoking hot, and the occupants of the tenement houses poured into the streets in a panic.

The police were kept busy in attempting to control the people, most of whom were foreigners, and it was not until several priests appeared and implored the people to calm themselves that anything like order was restored.

A BIG CORN EXPOSITION

NATIONAL IN ITS SCOPE WAS OPENED IN CHICAGO SATURDAY.

ARE OVER $66,000 IN PREMIUMS

There Are 1520 Varieties, Among Them Being Corn of a Blue Color and White Corn on a Purple Cob.

Chicago, Oct. 5.—In the magnificently decorated Coliseum building today the first greatest national corn exhibition ever held in this country was opened to the public. Every corn growing state in the union is represented among the hundreds of displays of white, red and golden ears, forming the most complete agricultural display of its kind ever seen. Sixteen thousand dollars in cash prizes and over $50,000 in special prizes will be awarded. The exposition will last until October 19. Corn husking bees and similar rural entertainments will be held daily during the show.

In addition to the corn displays, an exhibit is shown of household articles made from different parts of the corn plant, including the husks, stalks and tassels. Among the articles shown are rugs, portiers, table covers, mats and picture frames.

Elaborate decorations, costing nearly $30,000, have been installed in the Coliseum building, corn plants being the dominant material used. In addition to a miniature corn farm in the center of the big building, an ancient temple dedicted to the goddess of corn, has been erected, where at certain periods of each day the virgin of the sun will offer sacrifices of corn. On either side are shields of the different states, done in corn, each showing the amount of last year's corn crop.

A unique feature is the corn demonstration kitchen, where 300 ways of preparing corn for human beings to eat are illustrated by expert cooks. Mrs. Elizabeth Hiller, formerly principal of the Chicago domestic science training school, is queen of the kitchen and will give daily instructions in the making of pannhause, Philadelphia scrapple, corn pudding and ice creams and other delicacies in which corn is the principal ingredient.

Among the 1,520 known varieties of corn on exhibition is corn of a blue color, and white corn on a purple cob. Fourteen states in the corn belt are represented, and exhibits have been received from England and other foreign countries.

ROBBERS WERE FOILED

After Desperate Efforts Russian Band Unable to Secure Money.

Riga, Russia. Oct. 9.—A band of armed men made an attempt Monday evening to get away with a large sum of money in transit over one of the railroads between stations here. The robbers boarded the last car and opened fire on the one ahead in which bank officials carrying the money were traveling. The officials returned the fire and consternation reigned. A gendarme, two passengers and one of the robbers were killed, and a bank official and several passengers, including one woman, were wounded. The other robbers escaped, but the bank officials saved the money.

Saxon Government Wants Youngest Child of King's Late Wife.

Dresden, Saxony, Oct 9.—The Saxon government has instituted proceedings before the Italian courts demanding that the ex-crown princess of Saxony and her new husband, Signor Toselli, be ordered to deliver up the little princess, youngest daughter of the former crown princess, to representatives of the king of Saxony.

County Court to State Fair.

Judges H. J. Priest, S. North and J. H. Holloway, who compose the county court of Ralls county, were in the city yesterday morning, says Tuesday's Hannibal Journal, en route to Sedalia, where they will attend the state fair, now in progress in that city.

Ticket Sales Were Good.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

The amount of sales from tickets to and from the fair grounds of the Katy yesterday was much larger than the sales from Tuesday of last year. The crowds brought here by the Katy trains today were enormous. Over 400 tickets to Sedalia were sold at Boonville, over 300 at Windsor, while Clinton purchased 150.

Notes of the Fair.

Mrs. Douglass, of Centralia, was in the judges' stand as one of the timers in today's racing program.

On account of having a big racing program for this afternoon the races were started at 12:30 o'clock.

Joseph Wilson, of Jasper county, who is among the prominent visitors to the fair, served as one of the timers at Wednesday's races.

Over four thousand visitors were brought to this city from Pleasant Hill, Jefferson City, Lexington, Warsaw and intermediate points by the Missouri Pacific today.

Gov. Folk, wife and party and the members of the state fair board were given a delightful luncheon at the Country club yesterday afternoon, the entertainment being in charge of J. A. Lamy, W. M. Johns and Geo. K. Mackey and their wives.

From 10 o'clock this forenoon all of the eating houses were crowded to the limit, and several of them ran short of food, and had to send to the city for an additional supply long before the noon hour so as to be able to feed the vast multitude.

Gate keepers and ticket sellers at the fair grounds were given some real work today, and none of them feel as if they failed to earn their money, as they were kept going from early morning until late this afternoon in handling the crowds.

In making the start of the Missouri derby, 1¼ miles, yesterday afternoon, Friendless, ridden by Reese, balked and was left at the post. In trying to make the horse start the jockey was thrown, but escaped injury.

Several excursion trains into the city today as soon as they arrived were put onto the fair grounds tracks by both the Missouri Pacific and Katy and transported their passengers to the grounds in addition to the people making the trip on the regular shuttle trains.

Strobel's airship has been repaired and is ready to make a flight, but will probably not do so before 4 o'clock this afternoon, and if at that time the velocity of the wind is too great the trip through the air by Aeronaut Dick Dallas will not be made until it abates, late this evening.

Wednesday's big sheep sale was a big success, the aggregate sum realized from the offerings amounting to $7,000. Among the sales were 37 rams for $2,920, 104 ewes for $4,062, the general average of 141 head being $45.92. Sale Manager M. V. Carroll reports that the sale far exceeded expectations of anyone.

The directors of the Wisconsin board of agriculture, composed of the president, George McKerrow; John M. True, secretary; Senator George Wylie, Charles Everett, C. G. Wilcox, Grant U. Fisher, John Herbst, Charles Hill, O. F. Roessler, George Cox and J. J. Nelson, are in the city as the guests of the fair board, and are enjoying the exhibition immensely.

The local Humane society this morning sent a letter to the manager of an attraction on the fair grounds, that of having a monkey, at which soft rubber balls are thrown, notifying him that he must cease permitting anyone to throw at the animal. The manager of the concession, who had been doing a thriving business, is making an effort to adjust the matter so that he can continue his separating the fair visitors from their coin.

The meeting of the Pettis County Old Settlers' association with the state association, which was on Tuesday's program as one of the events for 11 o'clock this morning at the Live Stock pavillion, was not held, the old settlers being too busily engaged in reviewing the exhibits and enjoying the various amusements provided for the visitors to get together for the session. Ex-Governor Norman J. Colman and Hon G. W. Barnett were ready to make the addresses arranged for, but had no audience.

Lord Redmond, owned by W. H. Colton, of Rich Hill, Mo., and driven in the 2:24 pace for a purse of $1,000, in finishing the fifth and last heat of that race Wednesday afternoon, fell to the track just as he passed the flag and a short distance from the wire. The mishap caused considerable excitement for a short while on the track, and it took some time for the judges to reach a decision as to whether the horse was entitled to a place in the race or not, but as he had finished first in the first two heats, and had conformed with all the regulations of the association, he was given second place. Reno Yet winning the race by taking the last three heats in succession.

MAN ATTEMPTED HIS LIFE

AFTER CONFESSING THAT HE WITNESSED SUICIDE OF MISS MAY SAPP.

STORY COMPLICATES THE CASE

Girl's Family Refused to Believe the Suicide Theory—Throat Was Cut in Rear of Home at Moran, Kansas.

Iola, Kan., Oct. 9.—Two sensations marked the developments for twenty-four hours in the mystery surrounding the death of Miss May Sapp, the 20-year-old daughter of J. N. Sapp, a prominent farmer of Moran, Kan., who was found in her father's yard the evening of September 29 with her throat cut and a bloody razor lying near her.

Monday night the case took a new turn, when Samuel F. Whitlaw, a grain and feed merchant, made a voluntary confession to the sheriff, county prosecutor and others that Miss Sapp committed suicide because of her unrequitted love for him.

Yesterday Whitlaw while being brought to Iola, attempted to commit suicide by drinking wood alcohol. He was revived, however, and will appear at the inquest.

Whitlaw was formerly a school teacher and Miss Sapp was one of his pupils. They had been friends for several years. Whitlaw told the officesr Monday night that he and the girl had never been intimate. He declared that the girl had become infatuated with him, and had repeatedly urged him to leave his family and run away with her.

He said that on the night of the tragedy he met her at the rear of her father's house and told her that their relations must cease, whereupon she drew a razor across her throat. Whitlaw wrote out a confession, evidently with the intention of committing suicide. He lost the confession and determined to make it verbally before the officers. He said he would repeat his story before the coroner's jury.

Whitlaw is 40 years old and has a wife and three children. Miss Sapp was a niece of Col. William Sapp, formerly chairman of the democratic state central committee of Kansas.

Whitlaw Closely Guarded.

Iola, Kas., Oct. 9.—The coroner's jury that is investigating the death of May Sapp was taken to Moran this morning. The several witnesses will be examined. The jury will probably be brought back to Iola late today.

Samuel F. Whitlaw is being closely guarded in the county jail here. A rumor prevailed last night that Whitlaw had committed suicide but is was proven groundless. The county officers decline to let newspaper men see the prisoner.

Two brothers of Whitlaw visited him yesterday, but his wife and three children apparently made no effort to see him.

A ROBBERY AT HOUSTONIA

Alleged Pickpocket Taken From Lexington Branch Train.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

Angie Arata, alias "String Kid, an American Italian and professional pickpocket, was arrested by James Card and Detective McCue, of the Missouri Pacific, at the Missouri Pacific station this morning.

The officers received a telegram from Houstonia that a theft had been committed, and on the arrival of the Lexington branch train the man was jerked from the train and locked in jail.

On being caught by the detectives Arata remarked "If there were no pickpockets you officers wouldn't have any job."

Circuit Court Entries.

(Wednesday's Daily.)

The following entries were made on the docket in the Pettis county circuit court today:

Hiram F. Robbins et al vs. Sedalia National bank et al, unlawful detainer; dismissed by plaintiff at plaintiff's cost.

Joseph C. Smith et al vs. William H. Smith et al, partition; judgment not rendered.

Eloping Heiress Still Missing.

New York, Oct. 9.—The mystery which surrounds the disappearance of Miss M. FIRST DAY OF THE FAIR

OPENING ON SATURDAY WAS UNDER THE MOST FAVORABLE AUSPICES.

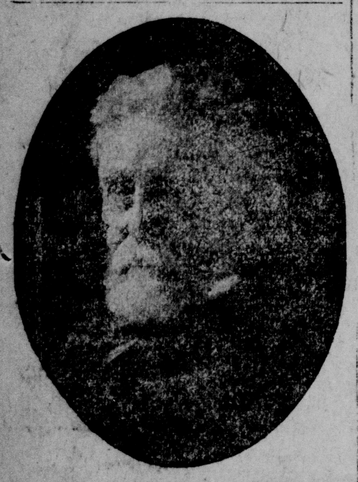

THE WEATHER WAS TRULY IDEAL

Grounds Will Be Closed Today—To Be No Children's Day This Year—All is in Readiness for Big Crowd Tommorrow.

(Sunday's Daily.)

Missouri's seventh annual state fair opened Saturday under the most favorable circumstances possible. The day was an ideal one, not a single cloud being in the sky, and with such conditions continuing throughout the present week the largest attendance in the entire history of the fair will be the result.

All day yesterday the superintendents of the different departments were busily engaged in arranging the various displays, which are more extensive and varied than ever before.

HON. NORMAN J. COLMAN, St. Louis.

Many carloads of cattle, sheep, swine and other live stock entries arrived yesterday and last night, and today all the cattle and horse barns are filled to their capacity.

The cattle exhibit is the largest ever held here, all breeds being represented, and the showing made is indeed a most creditable one.

Everything will be in readiness and all exhibits properly placed before the opening of the gates tomorrow morning.

PALACE OF AGRICULTURE, MISSOURI STATE FAIR.

Monday is "Old Settlers' day," and it is expected that hundreds of the older residents of the state will be here to participate in the celebration.

Hon. Norman J. Colman will deliver the address of the day at 1 o'clock, following which the judging of sheep and swine will start.

The first thing to be taken up in the morning will be the meeting of all expert judges at their respective departments to receive their instructions then proceed to make the awards.

Tuesday is to be "Sedalia day;" Wednesday, "Governor's day;" Thursday, "Missouri day," and Friday, "Fraternal day."

Throughout the entire week band concerts will be given and a high-class vaudeville entertainment will be a feature each day, the vaudeville stunts to be executed across the track from the grand stand between racing heats.

One feature of previous fairs, that of having what was styled "Children's day," has been eliminated this year, the members of the fair board being of the opinion that it caused considerable dissatisfaction by reason of many people being refused free admittance, although they were over school age.

There was no regular racing program scheduled by the fair board for yesterday, but two events were pulled off under the auspices of the Gentlemen's Driving club, of this city, the first one being a 2:20 pace and the Attorney Kellogg Says He is Pleased at What They Show in Favor of Government's Contention in Case.

New York, Oct. 7.—The result of an inspection of certain books in the secretary and reasurer's office of the Standard Oil company by a staff of government accountants will probably be told today, when the taking of testimony in the suit of the United States against the Standard Oil company is resumed.

The fact that these accountants had been at work on the books for several days was not made public until yesterday. Kellogg asked for the records of the board of liquidation trustees, by which he wanted to show that the present Standard Oil company, of New Jersey, is really the same old trust under a new name and with the same interest in control. He was told that the stock transfer books were missing, but later Assistant Comptroller Fay, of the company, admitted that there was such a book at 26 Broadway, and Kellogg demanded and secured permission to inspect it. Kellogg said he is pleased with what he found.

WILL MEET IN SEDALIA

DES MOINES BRANCH WOMEN'S FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

SESSION IS TO LAST FOUR DAYS

Meet at the First Methodist Church, and Some of the Brightest Women in the Work Will Be Here.

At the First Methodist church of Sedalia, October 17-20, will be held the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Des Moines branch, W. F. M. S. of the Methodist Episcopal church. This convention will bring to Sedalia a gathering of 200 or more of the bright, consecrated women of Methodism from Iowa and Missouri, who have upon their hearts and minds the interests of the great missionary work of their church. They will spend three days in hearing how the work has been carried on during the past year in the various fields where their missionaries are laboring, in strengthening old plans and devising new ones for the prosecution of this great enterprise in the year to come. The principal officers of the branch are as follows:

President—Miss Elizabeth Pearson, Des Moines Ia.

Corresponding secretary—Mrs. W. B. Thompson, Des Moines, Ia.

Recording secretary—Mrs. J. J. Compton, Kansas City, Mo.

Treasurer—Mrs. W. H. Arnold, Des Moines, Ia.

This organization is one of the eleven associate branches into which the women of Methodism divide the work of foreign missions, and it includes the states of Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana, numbering 20,000 members in its various auxiliaries, young people's societies and children's bands.

In the twenty-four years of its history it has sent out upwards of twenty young women to labor among the women and children of India, Burma, China, Japan and the Philippines.

It has raised and disbursed $664,189.29 and this year sends $60,000 to pay the salaries of its teachers, physicians and Bible women; support hospitals, schools and orphanages; erect new buildings and repair old ones—in a word, conduct in a fitting manner the great task it has undertaken of helping to Christianize the people of those lands.

One of the special pieces of work this year is the erection of suitable buildings at Vikarabad, India, for the flourishing school, built up during the past four years by the efforts of Miss Elizabeth Wells, a daughter of Missouri, a graduate of the Wesleyan college at Cameron. These were made possible by the gift of $5,000 by Mrs. Mary Knotts, of Kansas City, Mo., and will be known as the Mary A. Knotts Memorial. The corner stone was laid July 19th by Bishop Robinson with impressive exercises.

It will be a delightful privilege, and one it is hoped all will avail themselves of, to meet these representative women of Methodism and learn from the secretaries of the various departments how the home side of this great enterprise is managed. In addition to these reports and perhaps of greater interest to the general public, addresses will be given in the afternoon and evening of each day by returned missionaries and others.

Among those who have recently come home for rest and recuperation are Miss Kate Ogborn, of Nan Chang, China; Miss Annie Elicker, of Khandwa, India; Miss Laura Bobenhouse, of Aligarh, India, and Dr. Agnes Edmonds, of Chang King, West China.

Miss Winifred Spaulding will present the work for the women and girls in the Philippine islands. Miss Estie L. Poddy, of Sioux City, Ia., under appointment to Tienstin, China, will tell the story of her call. Miss Iva Rurham-Vennard, principal of the Epworth Evangelistic institute, of St. Louis, will have charge of the hour given each day to Bible and devotional exercises.

The newest and best missionary books and pamphlets will be on sale.

Circuit Court in Session.

(Monday's Daily.)

The first day of the October term of circuit court convened this morning, with Judge Louis Hoffman on the bench.

Former Sedalian to Manila.

Major George W. Burr, of the United States army, who was reared and educated in Sedalia, and whose wife is a sister of Edward L. Kent, the Missouri Pacific machinist, has been ordered to Manila, and will sail with his family about October 10.

Mrs. Kent, the mother of Mrs. Burr, who has been making her home with her daughter, will come to Sedalia to live with her son, Edward, after she has paid a visit to relatives elsewhere.

Wants to Meet Baptiste Again.

Lou Baptiste, the wrestler, today received a challenge from Frank D. Tripp, who lost the bout at the Sedalia theater Friday night. Tripp says that he will wager a sum of money that Baptiste cannot throw him three times in one hour. Mr. Baptiste, who won the other bout fairly and squarely, has the challenge under advisement.

"FATTY" IS SUSPENDED

Gave a Permit for a Dance, and Chief Boulit Objected.

(From Monday's Daily.)

George Thatcher, better known as "Fatty" Thatcher, a police officer appointed by the mayor, was suspended by Chief of Police Boulit today for giving a permit to a Mrs. Wilson to conduct a dance in North Sedalia Saturday night.

Recently several Saturday night dances have been given by the same party and at each dance a fight occurred, while on one occasion a cutting affray took place. Marshal Boulit issued orders to have the dances stopped.

Saturday night Mrs. Wilson went to Mayor Collins' office to secure a permit to conduct another dance. The mayor was absent and Thatcher, acting for the mayor, issued the permit, signing his (Thatcher's) name.

After the dance had been in operation a short time another fight occurred, and a police call was sent in. Officer Baley responded, but the disturbers had disappeared.

The matter was reported to Chief Boulit, who suspended Thatcher.

WANT INDICTMENTS QUASHED

Insurance Officials Charged With Crimes Ask Dismissal.

New York, Oct. 7.—The trials of the five former insurance companies' officials who were indicted as a result of the recent insurance investigation were temporarily postponed when the cases were called in the supreme court today. In each case motions for the dismissal of the indictments were made. Arguments on the motions will be made next week.

HAD GOOD GAME OF BALL

THE "ALL STARS" DEFEATED THE CLINTON CLUB SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

ABOUT 1300 PERSONS ATTENDED

Score Was 6 to 3 in Favor of the Professionals—Harry Suter and Lee Garvin Were in the Points for Sedalia Team.

(Monday's Daily.)

Sedalia baseball fans were given a reminder of the good old days yesterday, when several local favorites on the diamond, who first played in this city under the tutorship of Joe Roe, the one-time baseball king, assisted by a few pick-ups, and styling themselves the All Stars, defeated the Clinton club at Liberty park by a score of 6 to 3.

That baseball still appeals to local fans was demonstrated by the crowd that witnessed the exhibition, fully 1,300 people being spectators.

Harry Suter, who played with Austin in the Texas league, and who assisted materially in winning the pennant for that city, pitched an excellent game, allowing but four hits, and about the only time when the visitors had a chance to cavort about the bases was when a misplay, on account of lack of team work, or an error was made.

Lee Garvin, one of the most popular catchers who ever played ball in Sedalia, did the receiving, and was accorded a warm welcome by the fans.

The feature of the game was the hitting of Eddie McDill, who made two three-base hits, a single and secured a free pass to first once on four wide ones.

Rogers, a young fellow from some little town in Henry county, pitched for Clinton, and did fairly well, but he was simply up against the boys who know how and when to hit, which made things easy for them to hat out a victory.

The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Clinton ..0 0 0 1 0 0 2 0 0—3	4	4
All Stars.0 0 0 0 2 1 3 0 x—6	10	3

Summary: Three-base hits—McDill 2; Rohn. Two-base hits—Howell 2; Suter. Hit by pitched ball—By Suter 1. Struck out—By Suter 10; by Rogers 5. Base on balls—Off Rogers 2. Sacrifice hits—Garvin, Suttles. Time of game—1:50. Umpire—H. V. Leist.

WILL WED OCTOBER 16

Will McEniry, Formerly of Sedalia, and Miss Kehoe.

(Monday's Daily.)

Will McEniry, second eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles McEniry, of this city, and Miss Margaret Catherine Kehoe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kehoe, of Houston, Texas, will be united in marriage at St. Joseph's church at Houston on the evening of Wednesday, October 16. After a two weeks' bridal trip the couple will be at home after November 1 at Houston.

Mrs. McEniry and daughter, Miss Mary, will attend the wedding.

Mr. McEniry formerly resided in this city, but now is employed as locomotive fireman out of Houston. He has many warm friends in this city who will wish him and his bride-to-be a long and happy married life.

Who Lights These Ares?

Ohio street business men whose places are adorned at night by large arc lights are complaining of the lamps being lighted by unknown parties after the closing hour each night. One of the men has offered a reward of $5 to anyone who will furnish the names of the guilty parties.

Knights of Father Mathew.

(From Monday's Daily.)

St. Vincent de Paul's council No. 38, Knights of Father Mathew, met in their hall over the Sedalia Drug company store for the first time Sunday afternoon. Aside from transacting routine business, a committee composed of John S. McGaw, H. L. Moore, R. D. McCubbin, Patrick Curran and Lon Burrowes was appointed to meet on October 17 to arrange an entertainment to be given in the early part of November.

Unveiled a Monument.

(Monday's Daily.)

NOW COMES THE BATTLE

CHICAGO AND DETROIT START THE SERIES IN CHICAGO TOMORROW.

THOSE WHO WILL PARTICIPATE

Three Games in Chicago and Three in Detroit—Sixty Per Cent of Receipts of the Series to the Winning Team.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Details of the world's championship series between the Chicago club, winner of the National league pennant, and the Detroit club, pennant winner in the American league, were arranged at a meeting of the national commission here Sunday. The schedule of games follows:

Tuesday, Oct. 8, Chicago; Wednesday, Oct. 9, Chicago; Thursday, Oct. 10, Detroit; Friday, Oct. 11, Detroit; Saturday, Oct. 12, Detroit; Sunday, Oct. 13, Chicago.

By agreement of all the clubs representing both leagues, the rules already existing governing the playing of the championship series were amended so that 60 per cent of the balance of the first four games played shall form a pool for the players of the two teams, 60 per cent of this amount to go to the winning and 40 per cent to the losing team.

The schedule as adopted was determined by lot. If any of the games scheduled are postponed on account of rain or for any cause the teams are required to play the postponed games on the first day available at the same park. If a seventh game is necessary to decide the series the city in which it is to be played will be chosen by the commission.

The players eligible to play in the championship series were designed as follows: On the Chicago team: Brown, Chance, Durbin, Evers, Fraser, Hofman, Howard, Lundgren, Kling, Moran, McCormick, Overall Olis, Pfeister, Reulbach, Sheckard, Slagle, Shultz, Steinfeldt, Tinker, Walsh and Zimmerman.

On the Detroit team: Archer, Cobb, Coughlin, Crawford, Donovan, Downs, Jones, Jennings, Killian, Lowe, Mullen, McIntyre, Payne, O'Leary, Rossman, Schmidt, Sievers, Schaefer and Willett.

President Pullman, of the National league, selected Harry O'Day as umpire for his organization during the series.

President Johnson, of the American league, named John F. Sheridan.

The official scorers selected by the commission were A. J. Flanner and F. C. Richter.

The scale of prices for admission to the games was fixed at $1, $1.50 and $2 for Chicago, $1, $2 and $2.50 for Detroit. The reason for the lower prices at Chicago was the large seating capacity of the Chicago park. The games will be called at 2:30 in Chicago and at 2 o'clock in Detroit.

POSTMASTERS ARE HERE

BIG COLONIZATION PLAN CULMINATES IN DELIVERY OF DEEDS TO 60,000 ACRES

Dr. Charles F. Simmons Makes Report to Purchasers of Live Oak County Property Who Were Not Present When the Tract Was Subdivided and 4,200 Buyers Were Placed in Possession of Their Holdings.

Excelsior Springs, Mo., Sept. 23, 1907.
To the Purchasers:

I beg to report the following:

First. On Sunday, September 8th, we had our appointed union church service, which was participated in by ministers of all denominations represented by the purchasers, which service was led by Rev. Dr. F. G. Smith, of Chicago, who is not surpassed as an orator and lecturer in this nation. The audience, which was probably one of the largest ever assembled in the county, was held spell-bound for about two hours, and there were many times when there was not a dry eye to be seen, while at other times the immense audience was convulsed with laughter. So pleased were they all with his lecture that before they would let him off, they had him to lecture three times.

On Monday the club captains registered the aplications they represented, so as to fix the basis of representation; and on Monday night there was such a downpour of rain and wind, which blew over many of the tents in our tented city, so that on Tuesday morning that large assembly looked more like half drowned rats than any body of men I have ever seen, but everybody was in good humor, and the work of entering the credentials of each club captain, being delayed by the rain, was not completed until so late in the afternoon that the division did not commence till Wednesday morning, September 11th, when the following proceedings were had, to-wit:

Minutes of the Assembly.

Simmons City, Tex., Sept. 11, 1907.

At a meeting held by the Applicants and their representatives, at Simmons City, Live Oak county, Tex., on September 11th, 1907, for the purposes of dividing Dr. Charles F. Simmons' Nueces river farm among the purchasers, in accordance with the plan of distribution, as set forth in the booklet, "Home, Sweet Home," the meeting was called together by Horace J. Newberry, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, and J. W. Craddock, of Millington, Tenn., was nominated and elected temporary chairman by acclamation, and E. P. Simmons, of San Antonio, Texas, was elected temporary secretary.

It was moved and seconded and unanimously adopted that the name of the town should be "Simmons City."

After quite an interesting talk by Dr. C. F. Simmons, in explanation of the business for which the applicants had assembled, on motion duly seconded, J. W. Craddock was made permanent chairman, and E. P. Simmons permanent secretary.

The election of trustees, in accordance with Rule 9 of the Plan of Distribution of Dr. C. F. Simmons' Nueces river farm was then declared in order by the chairman, which resulted as follows:

A. L. Matlock, of San Antonio, Texas, was on motion, unanimously elected as one of the trustees by acclamation. Then A. M. Avant, of Pleasanton, Texas; Noah Hardy, of Hutchinson, Kan.; C. D. Wale, of Excelsior Springs, Mo.; Hon. D. W. Eastman, of Enid, Oklahoma, and J. M. Stewart, of Fort Worth, Texas, were nominated for the positions of trustees.

Upon motion it was decided to elect the two remaining trustees by ballot, and that each applicant voting should cast his ballot for two trustees, and the two trustees receiving the highest number of votes would be declared elected.

Five tellers were then selected to collect and count the votes.

The votes upon the election of the two remaining trustees resulted as follows. A. M. Avant, of Pleasanton, received 2125 votes; Hon. D. W. Eastman, of Enid, Oklahoma, received 1468 votes; C. D. Wale, of Excelsior Springs, Mo., received 1205 votes; J. M. Stewart, of Fort Worth, Tex., received 1030 votes; Noah Hardy, of Hutchison, Kas., received 984 votes, whereupon A. M. Avant, of Pleasanton, Texas, and Hon. D. W. Eastman, of Enid, Oklahoma, were, on motion duly seconded, unanimously declared duly elected trustees, and the secretary was instructed to record the election of the trustees as follows.

"A meeting of the applicants and their representatives was held at Simmons City, on the 11th day of September, 1907, for the purpose of electing three trustees, in accordance with Rule 9 of the Plan of Distribution of Dr. Charles F. Simmons' Nueces river farm, to whom the farms and town lots should be conveyed by the trustees now holding title to said property.

"J. W. Craddock, of Millington, Tenn., was chosen chairman, and E. P. Simmons, of San Antonio, Texas, was elected as secretary, on motion duly seconded.

"An election was then had for trustees to whom said town lots and farms should be conveyed, in acordance with said Rule 9 of the Plan of Distribution of Dr. Charles F. Simmons' Nueces river farm, and A. L. Matlock, of San Antonio, Tex; A. M. Avant, of Pleasanton, Tex., and Hon. D. W. Eastman, of Enid, Oklahoma, were duly elected and appointed as said trustees, and authorized to accept and carry out said trust in acordance with the said Plan of Distribution."

After the election of the said trustees, Dr. Charles F. Simmons delivered to said trustees the maps of said farms and town lots, also the deed of conveyance from J. P. Barclay, R. L. Ball and E. P. Simmons, the trustees then holding the legal title to said farms and lots, together with the abstracts of title to the same signed by three eminent lawyers, to-wit, Robt. L. Ball, R. P. Ingrum, and A. L. Matlock, who certify that the titles to said property, in their opinion, are good and clear of incumbrance. Also Dr. Simmons notified the trustees that the $50,000 railroad bonus fund is deposited in the National Bank of Commerce, San Antonio, subject to the order of the trustees as soon as they execute bond for same as provided by the trust deed.

On motion duly adopted, an advisory committee of one representative from each state represented at the meeting was selected to confer with the trustees in regard to the manner of distributing said property among the purchasers.

The advisory committee retired for consultation, and on returning, Mr. R. M. Adam, of South Carolina, as chairman of the advisory committee, offered the following resolution, to-wit:

"That the applicants select one man to bid in all the lots and farms, and that the party so selected be instructed to not bid any more than $120 for any lot and farm when it was put up for sale," which resolution was duly seconded, and Mr. R. M. Adam addressed the assembly on the resolution.

Thereupon Dr. Charles F. Simmons addressed the assembly in opposition to the adoption of the resolution, contending that the adoption of said resolution would, in effect, result in the entire abrogation and nullification of Rule 10 of the Plan of Distribution, which rule he contended was a material and vital part of each contract under which the lots and farms had been purchased by the applicants.

Secondly, that as he and his wife had transferred the legal title to this property to the three trustees who held it for the purchasers until the applicants selected their three trustees at the opening, with the distinct agreement that the lots and farms were to be divided by the terms of Rule 10, which provides for the distribution by the auction sale, and that the abrogation of the rule by the adoption of the resolution, and property divided by any other rule than that indicated in Rule 10, would not convey title to any purchaser at the division.

Thirdly, that the adoption of the resolution would permit an element of chance to enter into the distribution, which would be another violation of the vital principle of the Plan of Distribution, which, by the adoption of the resolution, would be changed so that chance would enter into the division, while by the auction plan there was no chance nor opportunity for any one to be deceived, nor to violate the law.

Fourthly, that as no title would pass to any purchaser if the resolution was adopted and carried into effect, and as there would be an element of chance entering into the division, the distribution could not and would not be held if the resolution passed, because the admission of any element of chance in the division would be a violation both of state and national law, and Dr. Simmons asserted that he had shouldered the responsibility of that division being conducted by a fair auction of the property between the applicants at at the opening, and that no division could occur if that resolution was adopted, and that there was a sufficient number of deputy sheriffs and government officers present to arrest every man who undertook to force a division of that property in violation of the law; and Dr. Simmons asked that some applicant move to table that resolution, which motion was promptly made and seconded and proctically unanimously carried, and the resolution was tabled.

The maps of the town lots and the farms were then posted up on a billboard by the trustees for examination by the applicants.

A list of the numbers of all farms containing 5, 10, 20, 40, 80, 160, 320 and 640 acres, respectively, was read in the open meeting by A. L. Matlock, chairman of the trustees.

The division of the property then proceeded, and was carried out by the trustees in accordance with the rules prescribed in the "Home, Sweet Home" booklet, governing the distribution of Dr. Charles F. Simmons' Nueces river farm.

J. W. Craddock, of Millington, Tennessee; Noah Hardy, of Hutchison, Kansas, and T. M. Dolan, of Clifton, Kansas, were nominated and elected as committee on resolutions, and reported to the meeting the following resolutions, which were adopted by unanimous vote:

"We, your committee appointed on resolutions, beg to submit the following report:

"1st. Resolved, That we congratulate the various certificate holders upon their good fortune in securing an interest in 'The Dr. Simmons Live Oak County Ranch," the most healthful and the most beautiful garden spot in the south, and we also congratulate Dr. C. F. Simmons for the manly way that he has conducted this distribution, and manifested such liberality in providing thousands of homes of those who were so fortunate as to take advantage of this philaanthropic offer.

2nd. Be it further resolved that we recommend the fair, honest and impartial distribution of this entire property in the most feasible way that the majority of this body has approved.

3rd. Be it further resolved that this body adopt a majority rule on all questions that may come before it.

4th. Be it resolved that we, your committee, feel that the people who have assembled in this little city be congratulated for their good behavior, and their courtesies toward each other.

5th. Be it further resolved that we extend to Mr. Thos. Dolan and his assistants our sincere thanks for the many kindnesses received at his hands while in the discharge of his duties upon the grounds and at the hotel.

6th. Be it further resolved that it should be the policy of the residents of both this city and vicinity to follow the precedent set by this body of people in the spirit of enterprise, the result of which will build one of the greatest cities in Southwest Texas.

7th. Be it further resolved that we have implicit confidence in the integrity and ability of Dr. Charles F. Simmons, and we hereby pledge ourselves to work in harmony with him for the upbuilding and future progress of this city and vicinity.

(Signed.) J. W. CRADDOCK,
NOAH HARDY,
T. M. DOLAN,
Committee on Resulutions."

On motion duly seconded Dr. C. F. Simmons was unanimously authorized and instructed to lease the Nueces river ranch in Live Oak county, for a term of six (6) months, beginning October 1st, 1907, at the rate it is now being leased, and that he hold the lease money as trustee for all purchasers, to be applied, with their consent, to the erection of a building on Washington square, in Simmous City, to be used as a public school house, church and public hall; but it was specifically stated that said lease must be made so that it will not in any way interfere with the rights of the purchsers from the said C. F. Simmons to take possession of their respective farms and lots. Upon the adoption of the above resolution, Dr. C. F. Simmons agreed to bear one-half of the expense of erecting said building.

Dr. C. F. Simmons reported the collection of $583.33 1-3 as rents for the Nueces river ranch, from Jennings & Davis, for the month of September, 1907, and explained that one-third of the amount belonged to him and two-thirds belonged to the purchasers.

On motion the purchasers voted unanimously to appropriate the two-thirds of said sum belonging to them to the boring of a well upon the Public Square, in Simmons City, and Dr. Simmons thereupon donated his one-third of said money for the same purpose, and was instructed and authorized unanimously to apply said $583.33 1-3 or so much thereof as may be necessary, to secure the completion of said well.

On motion the meeting adjourned sine die.

Chairman.
E. P. SIMMONS,
Secretary.

SECOND. Herewith I hand you report of trustees who divided the property, which I have just received, which shows that the division was accomplished strictly in accordance with the rules laid down in my book "Home,Sweet Home," which were a part and parcel of each contract upon which the lots and farms were sold, and that the deeds are now being prepared and compared with the original field notes, to see that no mistakes in descriptions occur, and that the deeds will, by the trustees, be forwarded to each purchaser as fast as completed.

"REPORT OF TRUSTEES.

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 21, 1907.

Dr. C. F. Simmons.
Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Dear Sir:

We, the trustees elected by the applicants for your Live Oak county, Texas, farm and town lots, to divide said property in accordance with the rules laid down in your booklet, "Home, Sweet Home," hereby report that we have accomplished that duty strictly in accordance with the letter and spirit of said rules, and that we have deposited in the National Bank of Commerce, San Antonio, subject to the order of the purchasers, the sum of $1,501.00, which represents the total amount of overplus over $120 bid by a few of the purchasers on the 4,200 farms and 4,200 town lots divided. This is about 35 cents due to each purchaser of a farm and town lot from this fund. Please ascertain from the purchasers what they wish done with this fund.

The deed to each farm and town lot is being prepared, and as soon as completed will be compared with the original field notes, to see that no mistake in description occurs, and then the deeds will be immediately forwarded by us to each purchaser.

The division was eminently fair and equitable in every respect. A perusal of the list of purchasers and the amount paid by each for their farm and town lot will show that if there was any choice between the farms, those who did not bid any more than the $120 which they had paid in, certainly received the choice farms and town lots, for it does appear to us that any discreet man desiring a farm would prefer a body of good land to any tract of even larger acreage composed of rocks and worthless clay hills, and so far as we know, the division was perfectly satisfactory to all concerned.

Respectfully,

(Signed.) A. L. MATLOCK,
A. M. AVANT,
D. W. EASTMAN,
Board of Trustees.

THIRD. As soon as my printers can lithograph the maps I will send each purchaser a map of Simmons City, together with a map of the farms, so the purchaser can locate his farm and town lots on his own maps; and for the convenience of the purchaser, I shall, at my expense, keep one of the surveyors who surveyed out this property on the ground for thirty days to show the purchasers their town lots and farms.

FOURTH. Mr. Thomas Dolan, who lives on this property and whose post office is at Oakville, Texas, but whose post office will soon be Simmons City, has kindly consented to remain on the property for the present, and those desiring substantial corner posts placed at the four corners of each of their lots and farms by corresponding with him can employ him to set their corner posts, with their initials on each post, so that at any time in future the purchaser can locate his own farm and town lots without the assistance of a surveyor, which will be quite expensive after the brush has grown up on the survey lines, which are now fresh and farms easily locatable.

FIFTH. Every purchaser should have, and will at some time in future need an abstract of their town lots and farms, nad Hon. A. L. Matlock has agreed to get up an abstract on each lot and on each farm for the small price of $1 for each abstract, and as soon as the abstracts can be made and printed each purchaser can secure an abstract of their town lot and a separate abstract of their farm from him by remitting $1 for each abstract desired.

Quite a number of the applicants and club captains present at the opening have already deposited their money for the abstracts as soon as they shall have been completed. No purchaser should neglect to obtain an abstract on each farm and town lot when they can be had for so small an amount of money, as any reputable lawyer would charge from $25 to $50 for going through the several hundred pages of all my abstracts of that property to run down from the state any individual tract, and any party to whom you sell will require an abstract, so it will be a convenence as well as a necessity for each purchaser to obtain their abstracts while they can be obtained so cheaply. Each abstract will have on it the certificate of the three attorneys showing the title to all of the land which I have sold and divided to be good and clear of any incumbrance.

SIXTH. Complying with the unanimous instructions by the purchasers represented at the opening, I beg to advise you that I have, as trustee, leased the property conveyed to the purchasers for a term of six months, beginning Oct. 1, 1907, at the rate it is now being leased, which amounts to $3,500 for the six months, it being specifically stated in the lease that it will not in any way interfere with the rights of the purchasers to take possession of their respective farms and lots, which under the lease they have a perfect right to do at any time they see proper; but I have agreed that for all of the land which is fenced up and taken from the lessees, that they will be rebated for the length of time that they are deprived of the use of the property which my be fenced up by the purchasers.

In consideration that the purchasers donate one-half of the cost of a three-story building on the public square of Simmons City, to be used, the bottom story as a church, and the second story as a school house, and the third story as a public hall, I agreed that I would bear one-half of the expense of erecting said building, and the purchasers present and represented agreed that the purchasers would donate their proportionate part of the rent money for the said term of six months to the erection of said building. From this you will understand that my donation was based upon the purchasers agreeing to pay their half from their rent money, and I request that each purchaser write to me at Excelsior Springs, Mo., whether the arrangement entered into by the purchasers present and represented at the opening meets your approval.

Also the lessee requests the purchasers to agree to rent the lands for an additional three months at the expiration of the present lease, so as to give them an opportunity to fatten their cattle on the ranch so they can be shipped to market from the ranch, and for that three months they agreed to pay a rental of $1,750, and I assured them that I thought the arrangement would be satisfactory to each purchaser, and I request that you write me whether this meets your approval.

Under the Texas law, a land owner must own ten acres of land before he can turn any cattle or horses into a pasture, and only one head for each ten acres can be turned into a pasture where other owners have unfenced land. So the trick of certain persons owning five-acre tracts in eprsons owning five-acre tracts in this ranch, will not entitle those persons securing such leases, to turn in more than one head for each ten acres owned or leased. Therefore, you see the trick will not work.

SEVENTH. I call your attention to that part of the report of the trustees which shows that there is in the hands of the trustees $1,501.00, which is the total amount of the overplus over $120, which was bid by all those who paid any more than $120 for their farms or lots. This overplus amounts to 35 cents to each purchaser, and you will note that the trustees request that I obtain instructions from you as to what disposition the purchasers desire to make of this 35 cents coming to each purchaser, and I request that you write me at Excelsior Springs, Mo., what you want done with your 35 cents on each lot and farm you purchased.

This fund is more than sufficient to have all the principal streets in the new city grubbed out and to some extent beautified by having the trees trimmed up, and if used in that way will result in much good to all the purchasers, while the amount is so small that it practically amounts to nothing to any of the purchasers: and if it is your pleasure that it be employed in that way, and you so instruct in your letter to me, I will employ a competent man to have that work done for you as cheaply as the labor can be obtained; so don't fail to write me on this subject at your early convenience.

EIGHTH. A complete list of the purchasers of the farms and town lots together with the number of their town lot and the number of acres they obtained in their farms on each purchase will be furnished each purchaser, and it is a source of much gratification to me that those who did not bid any more than $120, which they had previously paid, obtained nearly all of the choice farms and town lots, if there was any choice between them; but as I have often heretofore explained, the farms were so equitably divided as to acreage so as to give full and equal value to each purchaser, that I have never believed, and do not yet believe there was ten cents difference between the value of any of the farms, but you and I can not prevent some people fom throwing away their money if they see proper, and I think the trustees hit the nail squarely on the head when they said "that any discreet man desiring a farm woud prefer a body of good land to a tract of even larger acreage composed of rocks and worthless clay hills."

Having by this sale demonstrated that it is possible, practicable, feasible and legal for a large tract of land to be equitably and satisfactorily divided by the auction plan of distribution, I am content to have the plan rest upon its merits alone, having the satisfaction that by it I have been enabled to kindle a ray of hope and new ambition in the hearts of thousands of poor people, who but for this plan might never have been able to own their own homes and earn a competenee for their old age and for their children to follow in their footsteps.

I hope this plan of division will satisfy those persons who desired to have this property divided by some scheme of chance or lottery, or drawing, all of which are illegal, both under our state and national laws, and to those persons may I most aptly repeat the question of the Apostle Peter to the rich man when he asked, "Is thy heart right?" and if those persons would experience such change of heart that they would consent to be governed by the national and state laws made for the government of our people, they and their progeny would be much happier in this world, and if our Bible is true, they will stand a much better chance for a better home across the sea of death; so if you hear any one complaining about the plan of division you will know in advance where he stands on the question of lottery and chance, and the violation of our national and state laws.

NINTH. A corps of competent railroad engineers are now locating the railroad, the first section of which will extend from Simmons City north to either San Antonio or to a junction with another railroad leading into San Antonio, and the construction of this road will be pushed as fast as circumstances will permit. Regardless of what any one else may do, this road from Simmons City, in Live Oak county, through McMullen county and then through my lands in Atascosa county, will be built, and at the present rate of sales, all of the applications for my 95,000 acres of land in Atascosa county will be sold within the next sixty days, immediately after which the applicants will elect their six land judges, who will indicate to my surveyors where the different sized farms shall be surveyed out, and when this is completed the property will be immediately divided between the applicants, and their deeds retaining a vendor's lien for the balance of the unpaid purchase money will be delivered to the purchasers, and I am gratified that out of the more than six hundred inspectors who have examined this property, no one has ever reported that the property is not as good or better than it is represented by my literature.

Don't fail to carefully examine the list of purchasers of my Live Oak Co. farms, and note the fine farms they received for a very small amount of money. Respectfully yours,

C. F. SIMMONS.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease.

Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalency of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

Home of Swamp-Root.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

SONG BY A SEDALIA GIRL

Composed and Written While at Maywood Hospital.

Sedalia talent is again in evidence, as shown by the fact that Miss Anne J. Ragg, of 1101 East Fifth street, has composed a song entitled, "When the Bright September Days Have Come," which shows considerable skill, both in words and music, and which must be heard to be appreciated.

The song was composed and written in the summer of 1906, while Miss Anne was confined to her bed at Maywood hospital, owing to an operation on an injured ankle, caused by a fall.

No one was aware of her work except her special nurse, Miss Eva Hardiman, until the song was ready to be submitted to the publishers, which was done while Miss Anne was at Hot Springs, Ark., last winter. Not till this summer was it completed, and after many commendations Miss Ragg concluded to place it before the public, so it can now be obtained from music dealers.

Miss Anne is the youngest daughter of Mrs. C. B. Ragg, and was born and grew to womanhood in Sedalia, so it can truly be said she is one of Sedalia's daughters. She shows considerable ability as a musician, and should be complimented on her success as a song writer.

A LETTER FROM GOTHAM

THE RECENT VICTORY OF MURPHY OVER McCLELLAN IN NEW YORK.

WHAT IS MR. HEARST PLAYING FOR

Is It True That Mr. Roosevelt Alone Stands Between Bryan and Victory?—The Fish and Harriman Fight.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Oct. 5.—The result of the democratic primaries here will be more far reaching than appears on the surface of things. The defeat of Mayor McClellan and the victory of Charles F. Murphy as leader of Tammany hall means that Murphy and his up-state friends will be able to control the vote of New York state in the next democratic national convention. That means that Murphy and his combination will be in a position to demand some recognition when the nominations are made, and that these leaders will demand something substantial is certain.

They will continue to boom Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, of New York, who was the first democrat to carry the state of New York in years, as a candidate for president. Their real purpose, however, is to secure the second place for their candidate. They believe that with Chanler as vice president they can carry the state of New York again for their candidate for governor, and perhaps secure a democratic legislature. The latter is their objective point, for they believe that with the state government in their hands the democratic political leaders who have been out of office for many years will be able to rehabilitate their machine. The latter is still sadly in need of repairs, especially as the last campaign with its schism over William Randolph Hearst proved too much of a strain on the ancient concern.

What Hearst expects to do and what attitude he will assume toward one or the other of the national parties is not yet quite clear. The announced intention of the Independence league to go it alone in the next campaign, on the heels of the published statement from Mr. Hearst that under no circumstances would he again be a candidate for president, has confounded the politicians in both parties. As General Grosvener, of Ohio, has correctly estimated, Hearst still holds the balance of power in the empire state, and, therefore, as well as because of his influence in other localities he must be reckoned with.

Mr. Hearst's admirers have been pointing with pride to the similarity between the methods which he has been advocating for some years for the control of corporations and the legislation enacted by a republican congress and the legislatures of both parties in various states during the past legislative session.

But even though this is admitted to be true, the result is merely this, that Mr. Hearst has been deprived of one of his best campaign arguments.

Nor has the administration of Governor Hughes, whom Hearst so bitterly opposed, served to help the Hearst propaganda. He must, therefore, look for some new point of attack, something that the other parties have not yet taken up, and he has lit upon the judiciary as needing of reform.

The attack made upon the bench at the state convention of the Independence league, which was called to nominate candidates for the court of appeals, has never been equalled for violence of expression and denunciation. It is possible that the scheme was suggested to Mr. Hearst indirectly by District Attorney William Travers Jerome, who made a similarly violent attack on the judges of the criminal courts in New York City.

True it is that the expounding of the law by some of the judges has been curiously in favor of the corporate interests. In one instance, the son of a supreme court judge bragged that his father had been placed on the bench at the instance of the Metropolitan street railway of New York, by which corporation the son was employed at a big salary in a minor capacity as one of their legal force.

It seems, therefore, likely that the Independence leaguers will take up the government by injunction issue again. It is doubtful, however, if that by itself will prove sufficiently strong to attract the voters. In connection with the states' rights question, however, the argument might prove attractive, so it is thought, if it were directed against the federal judiciary.

Prominent democrats here believe that William Jennings Bryan has at last struck a great political keynote in his arraignment of the Roosevelt administration. As this interference has been mainly in favor of corporations, to-wit, the railroads, it is plain that the states' rights will have the opposition of the vested interests. In other words, the republican party being committed to the policy of centralization of government, will probably get the support of the capitalists, in spite of Mr. Roosevelt and his policies. That an effort will be made to put the corporation tag on the republican party is to be expected, especially as it is well known that the rank and file of the republican machine leaders are opposed to the administration.

The opinion is being very generally expressed that with Bryan as the logical candidate of the democrats, only Roosevelt stands between them and victory. Should Roosevelt adhere to his announced decision not to run again, the democratic party would have a fair chance to reach the White House with its candidate.

This would be especially the case if the much-heralded business depression should assume large proportions. Signs that hard times are approaching are not wanting in the east. It is not so much the falling markets in Wall street as the daily reports of business troubles which are disturbing the sentiment.

A million dollar distilling company recently had trouble in placing a loan of $50,000, although the collateral offered was the very best. The banks simply pleaded the lack of funds for even their immediate customers.

Nor does the closing down of some of the mills of the steel corporation tend to bear out the optimism of Judge E. H. Gary's opinions about the outlook. It is well known, however, at least in Wall street, that Judge Gary's predictions about the state of trade are as unreliable as the advice of the late firm of John W. Gates used to be on the future of the stock market.

The latter is still in a state of blue funk and in spite of the attempts at cheerfulness which some of the financial writers are making, there is no reason to expect any improvement, at least not this year, or perhaps next year; certainly not any improvement of a permanent character.

On of the main reasons for this opinion is that the great malefactors have had complete falling outs in recent months. Jealousies, conspiracies and minor combats have been fanned into one huge conflagration, and no one can foresee how much one high financier will be willing to tell on the other. Thomas Fortune Ryan and August Belmont are preserving the appearance of entente cordiale, but it is well known that beneath the surface all kinds of trouble is waiting for a chance to come boiling out.

That chance may be the investigation of the traction combination by the grand jury, which is bound to come. The general opinion of the average man seems to be that Belmont will then have his revenge on the Ryan interests. All those who have heretofore on different occasions challenged the legality, righteousness and legitimacy of the Ryan methods are convinced that if the courts are willing and the district attorney does his duty, outraged justice, decency and the rights of the stockholders, as well as the public, will be avenged, where vengeance alone will satisfy.

In the fight between Stuyvesant Fish, former president of the Illinois Central, and E. H. Harriman, who ousted him from the presidency, there is a curious social entanglement. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish is a well known social leader. Mr. Harriman has social ambitions, not for himself, but for his daughters, who have so far not succeeded very well in the act of climbing the social ladder.

It is said on very good authority that Harriman wanted Mrs. Fish's help, but that the fastidious Mrs. Fish did not listen with much kindliness to Mr. Harriman's overtures.

Harriman then turned to the younger element in the social pool. He made friends with Cornelius Vanderbilt and Robert Goelet. Both of these young scions of notable families were anxious to increase their fortunes, and they readily agreed to Harriman's proposition.

It was to be millions for them and society for Harriman's daughters. Vanderbilt, Goelet and a half dozen other rich young men made large fortunes in the rise of the Harriman stocks, but they made the fortunes on paper only.

They overstayed the market, and finally, as the story runs, had to go to Harriman for help.

Harriman dug into one of the dozen rich treasuries over which he has control, and now the young men are all in Mr. Harriman's debt, and therefore have to remain loyal to the magnate, whatever their sentiments may be.

AN ICE HOUSE FOR FARM.

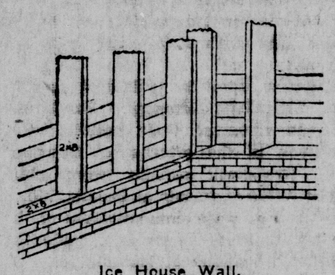

When Planning It, Be Sure and Don't Get It Too Small.

The farmer in planning his ice house should not make the mistake in building too small, especially if he lives in my locality, excepting the extreme northern states. It is not so much a question of how much ice he needs for family use, but how much is going to waste and whether it will last through the hot season until cool weather arrives again. A large block of ice will last much longer relatively than one somewhat smaller. Fifteen feet square on the outside should be about the size to build an ice house for the farm. Allowing 1½ feet for the space between the two walls and the space between the inner wall and the ice, this will give a block of ice 12 feet square, and if it is 12 feet high it will contain theoretically 52 tons, but in practice not more than 40 to 45 tons, according to how closely it is laid. The loss of ice from melting is very great in all ordinary ice houses, and especially is this true where it is taken out daily in such small pieces as is usually the case.

The house should be built above ground and if it can be placed where it will be protected from the noonday sun by shade trees, it will be found to be of advantage, says the Orange Judd Farmer. A low cost ice house can be built with ordinary lumber and by any one handy with tools. The essentials to be observed are: First, drainage below and ventilation above; second, a perfectly tight foundation. Warm air rises and if a current of warm air gets started through the ice it will cause quick melting. Third, a reasonably double wall surrounding the ice on sides and top.

The foundation should be made of brick, concrete or stone masonry, and in which sills 2x8 should be bedded in cement. On this erect 2x8 studding 24 inches apart. On the inside for the inner wall ½-inch sheathing material may be used of almost any kind of lumber. Some durable wood is to be preferred, as these boards are apt to decay quickly. For the outside good novelty siding may be used. It should be free from knotholes and cracks. The rafters should be 2x4, with sheathing on the underside. It is important to have air space between shingles and sheathing beneath the rafters, as everyone knows how hot it gets under a barn roof in summer. The space between the two walls on the four sides may be left empty if the outer inclosure is very tight, as a dead air space is one of the best nonconductors. But it will not be a dead air space if there are holes or cracks in the siding, but the air will circulate and prove of little value as a nonconductor.

If the ground on which the house is situated is of a gravelly, porous nature, no provision need be made for drainage, as the water will be absorbed as fast as the ice melts. Otherwise, the floor should be graded off, so as to slope to one point, where surplus noted may be taken off by means of a trapped outlet pipe to exclude all air while allowing the water to escape.

The opening of the house should begin about four feet from the ground and extend upward nearly to the top of the roof. The outer may be made in two or three sections, and the inner inclosure supplied by boards crosswise, put in as the house is filled and taken out as it is emptied. It is a mistake to provide too much ventilation. For an ordinary house 1-foot square openings at each end under the apex of the roof are sufficient, and it would be of advantage to provide for closing these on warm days.

In filling the house never lay the ice on the ground. The warmth of the earth will melt the ice continuously. The cakes of ice should be laid on old rails or any kind of timber. Straw or cornstalks are not good, as they crush tightly to the earth, and get wet, and water is a good conductor of heat.

The ice on the pond should be worked out carefully and the blocks made of uniform dimensions. In laying, the joints should be broken and a space of 8 to 12 inches should be left between the ice and the wall. This may be filled with straw, the same material being used to cover over the top of the ice after the house is filled. The house should be painted white.

An ice house 15 feet square and 12 high will require approximately the following amounts of lumber: 26 pieces 2 by 8 inches by 12 feet, eight pieces 2 by 8 inches by 15 feet, 14 pieces 2 by 6 inches by 10 feet, 726 feet sheathing, 850 feet siding, 900 feet shingles. It will cost at present prices of lumber about $80, independent of the foundation.

Sweet Skim Milk.

If all milk is hauled to the creameries in a sweet condition and pasteurized the farmers will be able to always haul away perfectly sweet skim milk.

Use a Separator.

The farmer that owns a few cows should investigate the matter of hand separators.

SENATOR BAILEY IS 44

WILL CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY IN A QUIET MANNER TODAY.

BORN IN STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Was Looked Upon as a Presidential Possibility Until He Got Tangled Up With Disreputable Standard Oil Crowd.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Gainesville, Texas, Oct. 5.—Joseph Weldon Bailey, the famous representative of Texas in the United States senate, will tomorrow celebrate his 44th birthday. Senator Bailey is a native of Mississippi, having been born in Copiah county, that state, October 6, 1863. He became a citizen of Texas in 1885, was elected to congress in 1891 and to the United States senate in 1901 and again this year.

Once a popular idol of the people of the Lone Star state, considered by many even as a presidential possibility, the senator has admittedly lost much in the regard of his fellows through the charges that were made against him during his campaign for return to the senate last winter.

Personally he is as popular as ever among his neighbors in Gainesville, his home city, very few of whom have ever placed any credence in the accusations made by his enemies. Throughout the state, however, there are thousands of voters who looked upon the verdict of the legislature as "Guilty, but don't do it again." To these Bailey is now a whitewashed idol, and they refuse to longer bow down to him.

Among the accusations made against Bailey last winter were that he had been mainly instrumental, if not wholly responsible, for the Waters-Pierce Oil company, a Standard auxiliary, being allowed to do business in Texas after it had been ousted under the stringent anti-trust laws of the state.

The senator contended that his act was one of friendship, and that he had never received a fee as attorney. Bailey admitted that he had received money from H. Clay Pierce, head of the oil company, but that these were personal loans and that he had paid back every dollar received.

After one of the fiercest political battles ever waged in Texas, Senator Bailey was exonerated from the charges made and returned to the senate for another six years.

A year ago Senator Bailey celebrated his 43rd birthday in the midst of a battle that had no other issue than his political life or death. No one appeared to oppose him for the senatorial toga. It was a fight for principles and not for office, and the Bailey supporters were victorious. Yet the senator did not escape unscathed. The months that have intervened have not been sufficient to wipe out the stain. Perhaps the stain, whether rightfully or wrongfully applied, will never disappear. There are thousands of people in Texas to whom the name of Bailey recalls the odor of kerosene. They consider that Senator Bailey, a poor man before he was elected to the senate, now deals in thousands where he once dealt in dollars. "How did he get it?" is a question that is still being asked in Texas, long after the smoke of battle has cleared away.

Innocent, as he has been declared by the state legislature, or guilty, as some of his fellow Texans continue to believe, Senator Bailey begins the 44th year of what promised to be an exceptionally brilliant life under a cloud of suspicion that only many years of patient and earnest public service can dissipate.

Once a man apart in the United States senate—an imposing figure standing for honesty and integrity and all the civic virtues, the chosen leader of the common people—Senator Bailey will return to his seat in the senate next December shorn of his halo. Suspicion, whether rightly or wrongly, has placed upon Bailey's name a stigma that is nothing short of tragic in its results.

Will Wear Regulation Helmets.

All police officers in Sedalia are soon to don the metropolitan police helmet, according to orders given by Mayor Collins Saturday. Measurements of the craniums of the different policemen were taken Saturday and soon the sleuths will be sporting their new headgear on the streets.

WHO IS ENTITLED TO IT?

The $955 Insurance Carried by the Late Samuel Ross.

(Sunday's Daily.)

The national council of the Knights and Ladies of Security, through Attorneys George A. Huron, C. C. Kelly and W. W. Blain, Saturday filed an interplea suit in the Pettis county circuit court, asking the court to decide who is the proper person to secure the amount of insurance, $955, carried by the late Samuel Ross in Queen City council No. 546, of this city.

The defendants in the suit are Mrs. Emily E. Ross, mother of Samuel Ross, and Mrs. Hazel Ross, wife of Samuel Ross. The insurance policy is made payable to deceased's mother, but the wife contends that she is entitled to it, and if it is not paid to her she will hold the council responsible for the same.

BRYAN IN KENTUCKY

Starts Out From Louisville on a Campaign Trip.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 5.—Chairman Henry B. Hines, of the democratic state campaign committee, has completed arrangements for William Jennings Bryan's tour of Kentucky in behalf of the democratic state ticket.

The famous Nebraskan is expected to reach Louisville tomorrow evening, and will spend the night here. Early the next morning he will leave on a special train, accompanied by a dozen of the leading democratic lights of the state.

The first stop will be at Elizabethtown on Monday morning. Other addresses will be made Monday at Munfordville, Bowling Green, Russellville, Central City and Owensboro. On Tuesday Mr. Bryan and his party will visit the extreme western portion of the state, making stops at Morganfield, Marion, Princeton, Paducah, Mayfield, Fulton and Murray.

Governor Beckham, Judge Hager, Senator McCreary and National Committeeman Woodson are among those who will accompany Mr. Bryan over the state. From Kentucky the Nebraska orator will go to Nashville, Tenn.

OLD SETTLERS' MEETING

Thirty-Three New Members, Making a Total of 396.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

At the regular meeting of the Old Settlers' association of Pettis county, Saturday afternoon, thirty-three new members were taken in, making a total membership in the association of 396.

Tomorrow is "Old Settlers' day" at the state fair grounds, and members of the association will meet at 10 a. m. at the court house and after each is supplied with a badge will proceed to the fair grounds, where they will "take in" the fair.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

The cause of Rheumatism is a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought about by indigestion, chronic constipation, and the accumulation in the system of refuse matter which the natural eliminative organs have failed to carry out. This refuse or waste matter ferments and sours, generating uric acid which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and Rheumatism gets possession of the system. One may also be born with a predisposition or tendency to Rheumatism, because like all blood diseases it can be transmitted from parent to child. The aches and pains of the disease are only symptoms which you may scatter or relieve with liniments, plasters, blisters, etc., or deaden with opiates. As soon, however, as such treatment is left off or there is any exposure to cold or dampness, or after an attack of indigestion or constipation, the wandering pains, sore muscles and joints, and tender places on the flesh return, and the sufferer finds that he has merely checked the symptoms while the real cause of the disease remains in the blood. Rheumatism can never be cured while the blood remains saturated with irritating, pain-producing uric acid poison. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by driving the cause out of the blood. It thoroughly cleanses the blood and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and expelling all foreign matter from the system. S. S. S. stimulates and invigorates the blood so that instead of a weak, sour stream, constantly depositing acrid and corrosive matter in the muscles, joints, nerves and bones, the body is soothed and nourished by rich, health-sustaining blood, which completely and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. is composed of roots, herbs and barks which possess both purifying and tonic properties—just what is needed in every case of Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and medical advice free. Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Brights or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggist recommend and sell

MR. DARROW IS VERY ILL

THE CHICAGO LAWYER IS MARTYR TO CAUSE OF ORGANIZED LABOR.

REPORTED TO BE DYING IN BOISE

Counsel Who Won Haywood His Liberty, Broken by Operation and Slight by Miner He Saved, Is in a Sad Plight.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Clarence Darrow, spectacular genius of the bar, sociological student and novelist, was reported Sunday to be dying in Boise, Idaho. He had undergone an operation for tumor of the brain, and, although all that is possible is being done for him, his friends fear that he cannot survive, despite the fact that he is some better.

The operation was performed in Boise, Wednesday, at the Augustana hospital by a Portland surgeon, assisted by local physicians. Letters received in Chicago from Darrow's wife show that she is greatly worried. Darrow was in Boise preparing for the continuation of the miner's trials.

As attorney for Wm. Haywood, Darrow worked beyond his strength. Throughout the trial of the miners' chief he scarcely slept or ate. When Haywood was acquitted Darrow returned to Chicago for a short rest. His health was broken and he suffered under the criticism aroused by his speech before the Haywood jury.

For the first time in his life he answered his critics. Before then, it never seemed to give him a moment's concern that many of his ideas were antagonistic to the majority of his fellow men. He wrote a letter to Collier's, defending his position at Boise. He denied that his utterances were anarchistic and declared that it was unjust for his critics to base their diagnosis of his speech on the scant quotations of a 75,000 word address that were printed in the newspapers.

Then another blow came to him. After Haywood's acquittal, Darrow advised him to seek retirement for a time. Instead, Haywood sought the limelight of martyrdom. While he was in Chicago, Haywood never called on Darrow. This slight was too persistent to have resulted from thoughtlessness. It cut Darrow deeply. But still, he returned to Boise to prepare for the trial of Steve Adams. Then came the operation.

Darrow has been a noted figure for years in American law and politics. He represented the mine workers in the arbitration of the great anthracite strike and has represented labor in other big disputes. For recreation he developed a marked literary talent.

His most discussed work was "Resist Not Evil." In this he sought to teach the inadequacy of punishment as a detriment to crime. "A Persian Pearl and Other Essays" was a semi-biographical description of Robert Burns and Walt Whitman. "Farmington," a prose poem, described an imaginative boy's dream—in a sense, a picture of his own boyhood.

A GRADING BOARD.

Work of Sorting Apples Made Easy By Its Use.

A very useful device for help in sorting apples or other fruit where close assorting is necessary is a grading board as shown in the cut. This is merely a piece of light wood with round holes bored of different dimensions, the size being made according to the fruit to be packed. The difference between the various sizes may be either ¼ or ½ inch. The grading board should always be on the sorting table and used frequently, says Farm and Home, but it will not be necessary to put every apple through it.

QUICK WORK OF PACKING.

System Used by One Successful Handler of Fruit.

In picking apples in my own orchard and in orchards that I buy, I do not allow an apple picked until I am there to commence barreling same. I never let an apple touch the ground that goes into a barrel. In picking I use half bushel baskets and short sacks hung over a picker's shoulder, says a correspondent of Farm and Home. Use long and short ladders tirely, as pickers climbing in among the limbs bruise the apples that are in sacks and spill apples out of the baskets.

I pack entirely from packing tables that are built on a slight slant, the wide end of the table being padded to prevent the bruising of apples as they are being poured onto the table. The narrow part of the table is slatted with lath one inch apart, which allows twigs, leaves, etc., to drop through. At the mouth of the table I have an apron that is tacked to the under side of the table; this we lay over the barrel allowing the apples to run into it. When the apron is full we lower it into the barrel, which prevents the bruising of apples as they are put into the barrel.

The cost of picking and packing covers a wide range where trees are heavily laden, the cost being not nearly as large as when there is a light crop. Under ordinary circumstances the picking and packing can be done for 15 to 18 cents per barrel. I work four men at the packing table, one man to face, one to press, one at mouth of table to run the apples, and one to sort out culls.

The packing table does away with having cull apples all over your orchard, as all the culls are thrown under the table. When the time comes in the fall to gather your cull and windfalls for making cider, it is a very easy matter to drive from pile to pile to pick up the apples and put them in the wagon. I have my teams ready to haul my apples to cars, where they are put in cold storage in St. Louis in 15 hours from the time they were hanging on the trees.

AGRICULTURAL BITS.

Give plenty of water; laying fowls require it.

Applying manure to grass lands during the fall is a good thing to do, providing the manure is not put on so thickly that it smothers the plants.

The manure is not a small item of profit from the poultry house. In cleaning up the poultry house the droppings should be put in barrels or boxes and kept dry.

Never give fowls sulphur in damp or wet weather, and give it cautiously even in dry weather. If fed, and the fowls get wet, it is said to cause rheumatism and weakness of the legs.

The prices of farm implements are to be boosted this season. Why not meet the advance by painting and fixing up the machine on hand now? A few gallons of paint, a new piece of woodwork here and there, will put the machine back in service for two or three years.

Young poultry should not be allowed to go hungry, nor should they be given more than they can eat up clean at one time.

A patch of rye near the poultry yard for the hens to run upon when the ground is bare, is an egg producer.

HORTICULTURAL NOTES.

Fertilize the orchard; plow and spray.

Fruit crops are often so large that the abundance of one year offsets the smallness of crops in other years.

Evergreens are hardy, pretty and make excellent windbreaks. May is the proper month to plant them. Try some and beautify the dooryard.

Keep the bark of your trees healthy by the application of a good wash. A healthy tree, like a healthy man will withstand the attacks of disease more easily than a weakly one.

The man who cheerfully sets the spade where his wife directs, and lends himself willingly to her desires in the flower garden, has in him the vital elements of good citizenship and is a safe man to trust.

M. W. CADLE IS PLEASED

WITH THE SETTLEMENT OF MISSOURI PACIFIC ENGINEERS' TROUBLE.

PRAISE FOR LABOR COMMISSIONER

The Latter is the Right Man in the Right Place—New Schedule to Be Signed Up at an Early Date.

M. W. Cadle, first assistant chief engineer of the B. of L. E., who returned Friday night from St. Louis, is well pleased with the settlement of the order's grievances against the Missouri Pacific management and the renewal of the men's old contract.

Mr. Cadle says that Labor Commissioner Neill, who was called into the negotiations by the railway management, under the Erdman act, is one of the brightest men he ever met, and is certainly the right man in the right place. Mr. Neill's work did much toward bringing about a settlement of the existing grievances.

There are 1200 engineers in the employ of the Missouri Pacific, and it is safe to say that on an average each of these 1200 men has four persons dependent upon him for support, so that a strike would have directly affected between 5,000 and 6,000 people, with many more indirectly.

To prevent a strike required the greatest diplomacy upon the part of Chief Engineer Stone, Assistant Cadle and Labor Commissioner Neill, but they were equal to the emergency, and an amicable agreement was finally reached, the company agreeing at the last moment to pay the men's back wages that had been held up by the company.

Mr. Cadle will remain here a couple of days, then goes to St. Louis to sign up the new schedule, carrying with him the unanimous verdict of, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

ILLINOIS STATE FAIR OVER

Gate Receipts Greater Than for Any Previous Year.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 7.—The Illinois state fair was brought to a close Saturday, with an attendance of 3,000. The total gate receipts for the fair are greater than for the previous year.

Races were the principal feature of Saturday's program. Exhibitors began removing their exhibits at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Many of the live stock exhibits were shipped to the state fair at Sedalia, Mo.

George H. Madden, president of the state board of agriculture, made the following statement last night:

"The state fair this year has been the most successful in point of receipts, attendance and exhibits in the history of the fair. The gate receipts amount to $57,000, within a few hundred dollars of 1905, the highest year in point of gate receipts.

"The amount received for concessions is $14,000, the largest yet known, and the total receipts of the board will reach $100,000, excelling any former year. The state board of agriculture will have nearly $30,000 in its treasury when all expenses are paid. There have been a number of excellent races and the exhibits have been larger and better than ever before."

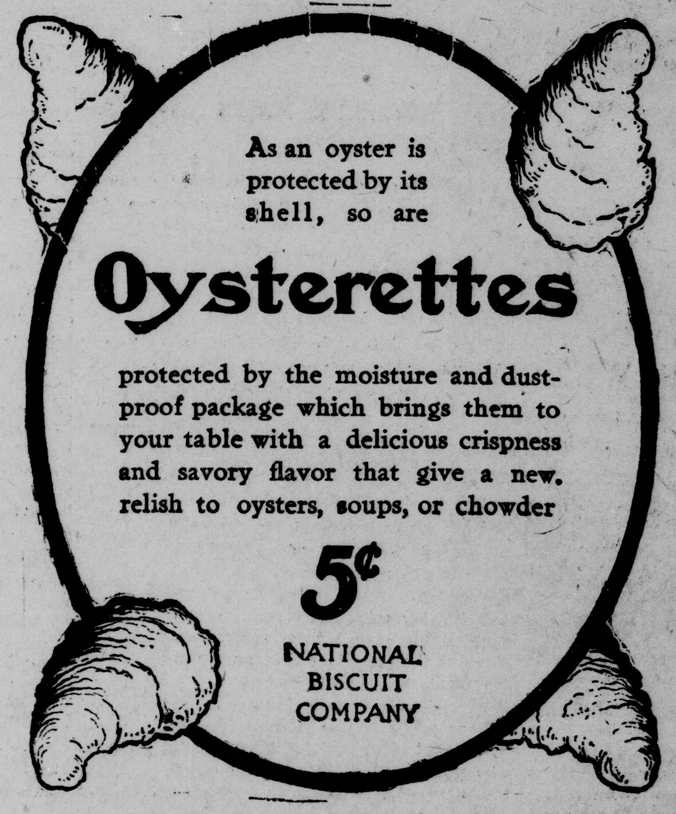

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says: "Fully 80 per cent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds it beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it, or when you eat the wrong kind of food, the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by Arlington pharmacy.

WAS MENTALLY UNBALANCED

Clarence Haase, of Cole Camp, Was Taken in Custody.

(From Sunday's Daily)

Clarence Haase, a middle-aged man of Cole Camp, was found in a demented condition by William Harriman in South Sedalia Saturday morning. He was taken to Sheriff Sprecher's office and turned over to the sheriff, who had the man placed on the afternoon train for Cole Camp.

Haase has been working on a farm at Concordia. He intended going home and walked from Concordia to Sedalia. When he reached here his reason became dethroned, and although he could answer rationally all questions, he showed signs of insanity.

He told Sheriff Sprecher he had been in an insane asylum for four months some time ago.

When first found it was thought Haase was the Mr. Shepey, of Clinton, who disappeared from home recently, but relatives here asserted to the contrary.

Has Another Position.

Miss Margaret Kennedy, an accomplished young lady and expert hat trimmer from Chicago, who has been filling a good position at Mrs. A. N. Bayne's millinery store, has resigned to accept another good position with Mrs. Monahan-Collier.

SECOND DAY OF THE FAIR

IT IS OLD SETTLERS' DAY AND THE ATTENDANCE IS FAIRLY GOOD.

EVERYTHING RUNNING SMOOTHLY

The Weather is Bad. but the Indications Are That Record-Breaking Crowds Will Be Here Before the Week Closes.

(From Monday's Daily.)

When the gates to the state fair were thrown open this morning it appeared as if old Jupiter Pluvius was going to let the heavy clouds overhanging the sky leak and prevent many people from attending, but by 11 o'clock the clouds commenced to scatter, and although old Sol put forth sunshine only a portion of the day, the weather was considered very favorable.

From 7 o'clock until late this afternoon the cars on the street railway were loaded to their limit, and hundreds of people came to the grounds in vehicles.

All of the exhibits and displays were properly arranged and the appearance of the interior of the buildings was very different from that of Saturday, when the preparatory work was under way.

Today was devoted to the "Old Settlers," and the reunion attracted fully as many of the early settlers of the state as was anticipated.

Ex-Governor Norman J. Colman made the address of the day, speaking of the earlier settlement of the great state, Imperial Missouri, and giving a resume of happenings, general progress and achievements up to the present time.

Women's Building Dedicated.

The women's building, this year a temporary structure in the shape of a large tent was formally dedicated this morning at 11 o'colck, Mrs. W. K. James, of St. Joseph, president of the Missouri State Federation of Women's Cubs, making the dedicatory address.

Mrs. James is a very entertaining speaker, and in her remarks spoke of the building as being one where the women visitors to the fair might find a suitable place, not only for rest, but for recreation and entertainment as well.

The club women of the state have plans for a permanent structure and will make an effort to have such a building completed before the fair of 1908.

Mrs. James referred to the plans, and concluded her talk with a few remarks on civil service reform, and what the club women were doing in working through their committee for legislation to benefit the home and effect a better educational condition in the state.

Ex-Governor Norman J. Colman responded in a short and interesting address to Mrs. James' remarks.

Each day this week some special feature, either talks on important topics, or the rendition of programs, will be given.

Tuesday morning Dr. Edna D. Day, in charge of the model kitchen display, will address the women on "Home Economics," and on Wednesday morning, a special musical program in charge of Mrs. J. H. Rodes will be given by the Ladies' Musical club, of Sedalia. Other entertainment features will be arranged for from day to day, and the big tent is open all the time for the women of the state to visit and enjoy themselves.

The $1,000 Auto Race.

Tomorrow the automobile race for a purse of $1,000 will be a big feature, the entries being from this and other states. Dr. A. H. Heaton is the superintendent in charge, and although the entries have not yet been closed, it is very evident that some of the fastest machines made will be driven in these races.

Among the entries made is a six-cylinder touring car from Macon, Mo., owned by Harry M. Rubey, president of the State Automobile association; two six-cylinder Ford autos, owned by a Mr. Mitchell, of Chicago; two machines from Warrensburg; a six-cylinder Sterns, owned by South Side Garage, Kansas City, and a six-cylinder machine, owned by C. C. Mead, of Detroit, Mich.

Fifty machines are expected to arrive this afternoon and tonight from Kansas City, bringing in a large delegation of enthusiasts to witness the auto races.

Excursion Trains Coming.

The Missouri Pacific will run excursion trains from Jefferson City, Pleasant Hill, Lexington and Warsaw to this city on account of the state fair on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Each train is scheduled to arrive about noon.

The M., K. & T. will run no excursion trains, but will provide plenty of coaches to haul all who care to come to the fair

Weigand Gross and Ben Sullivan, Missouri Pacific brakemen, will run on the shuttle trains to and from the fair grounds this week, the former with Conductor Brummerhoff and Sullivan with Conductor Lister.

The fair grounds trains on the Missouri Pacific will begin running at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, and the second train will leave at 8:40 a. m. The trains will run on a twenty-minute schedule in the morning and as often as possible during the afternoon.

C. M. Winner, Missouri Pacific conductor, will be in charge of the Pleasant Hill excursions this week; G. S. Hayden in charge of the Lexington excursion; Norman Crawford in charge of the Warsaw excursion and P. L. Swickhamer in charge of the Jefferson City excursion.

Harry Spilliers, D. C. Walker, J. V. Tapp and J. H. Willis, Katy brakemen, will be on the fair grounds trains this week.

C. E. Blair and Tom Russell, Katy conductors, will be in charge of the Katy fair grounds trains this week.

Ehibits of Dairy Products.

The dairy products and dairy machinery exhibit are located in the dairy building, west of the grounds, just west of the Art building. The dairy exhibits of butter and cheese are nearly all in, the final time limit being Monday noon.

Butter and cheese are making a good showing, about 40 per cent of the cheese factories and but 20 per cent of butter factories having entered. There is considerable dairy butter, principally from local people, about Sedalia. There seems to be a great deal of interest shown among the good farmers' wives about Sedalia and surrounding country in making dairy butter. This interest makes competition brisk and shows the dairy industry, although in its infancy, in this state, is in a healthy, growing condition

Entering the dairy building from the north, there is presented on the different sides of the alley the several separator booths. All these booths are neatly and tastily decorated. Several new machines are exhibited this year.

The pure food commission exhibit is located in the dairy building. Mr. Cline, state dairy and food inspector, is in charge of this booth and during the week will show visitors how they are losing money and sometimes their health by buying adulterated foods.

The southeast corner of the dairy building is curtained off for a lecture hall. It will be used in the afternoon as a kindergarten for the taking care of children. This feature will be very helpful to tired mothers.

Probably the greatest feature in the dairy building is the milink machine made by the B. L. K. Co., Little Falls, New York, and operated by Mr. O. E. Harwood, of the A. H. Barber company, of Chicago. This machine operates beside a platform built up three feet high on which are four cows. Regular milking will occur in early morning and afternoon at 3:30 and 5:30 o'clock.

The working of the machine will be demonstrated all day by Mr. P. P. Lewis, of St. Louis county. Mr. Lewis uses one of these machines daily on his home farm and will tell farmers the strong and weak points in regard to the value of the machine as an investment

Prof. R. M. Washburn, superintendent, and F. L. Austin, assistant superintendent of the dairy department, have the work of the depatrment down to a system and through their untiring efforts are going to have one of the finest, most interesting and complete exhibits ever made by this department.

City Detectives Here.

Edward Schenk, Frank McCarty and Charles Stewart, all St. Louis detectives, and Andy O'Hare a Kansas City detective, arrived here Sunday to do "plainclothes" work during the fair.

Messrs. O'Hare and Schenk are both well known here, having established a creditable reputation the first year that they were assigned to duty in this city. Messrs. McCarty and Stewart come highly recommended, and with such men as these to assist the police very little robbery or thievery will be successfully executed this week.

Mare 2, under 3 years, 2 entries—1, Forest Girl, L. E. Pearce, Pleasant Hill, Mo.; 2, My Kind, S. Y. Sanders.

The Pantry Department.

The judging in the pantry department began this afternoon, the following ladies acting as judges: Mrs. E. E. Swink, Farmington; Mrs. J. E. Cover, Farmington; Mrs. W. C. Burrichter, Panora, Ia., and Mrs. J. D. Clarkson, Kirkwood.

The following awards have been made:

Best cocoanut cake—Mrs. C. S. Williams, city, 1st; Mrs. Harry Mayer, city, 2d.

Best fruit cake—Mrs. Harry Mayer, 1st; Mrs. John Walmsley, city, 2d.

The Board in Session.

This afternoon the fair board is holding a meeting for the purpose of completing the work of arranging for the automobile races. Up to the present time a sufficient number of entries have not been made to pull them off as originally planned, but the matter will be satisfactorily arranged so that the races well be pulled off. Several other matters are to be taken up, among them being the consideration of protests and other businetss.

But very little has been accomplished in the judging of exhibits and stock, several of the judges arriving late, and in many instances the entries not being ready for exhibition.

Standard bred roadster and gaited saddle horse awards have been made as follows:

Notes of the Fair.

The telephone and telegraph offices at the grounds did a rushing business all day today.

Earle R. Wade, representing the Daily Drovers' Telegram, is here for the fair in the interest of that publication.

The hospital department is in charge of Dr. Guy Titsworth, and is located, as in former years, in the Administration building.

The postoffice sub-station in the Administration building makes a general mail delivery from 10 to 11 a. m. and from 12m. to 1 p. m.

In the pantry department the judges are Mrs. E. E. Swink, Farmington; Mrs. J. E. Cover, Farmington, and Mrs. W. C. Burrichter, Panora, Ia.

Hiner's Third Regiment band, of Kansas City, arrived at the grounds during the noon hour, and will furnish music for the remainder of the week.

The judging in the gricultural, horticultural and floriculture departments will not begin until tomorrow. In most of the other departments the awards are now being made.

The Concordia band arrived in the city last night and furnished the music for the day, giving a concert program in the forenoon, and playing between the racing heats this afternoon.

The "Black Prince," known on every racing circuit in the country, is here to start the running races. He has been starter here for several years, and is considered one of the best in the business.

The Columbia exhibit this year is in charge of Mr. L. Knudson and Mr. H. R. Nelson. There are many things of interest in this department, among them being large pictures, showing the farm life at the university.

Forty carloads of stock arrived yesterday and last night from the Illinois state fair, and twenty-eight carloads of horses and other exhibits came in from the Interstate fair at Kansas City and points in Iowa and Nebraska.

The state highway commissioners will meet here Wednesday with Gov. Folk to take some action in regard to constructing a southern route highway from St. Louis to Kansas City. The chief engineer of the board of commissioners, Mr. Hill, is here today.

In electing a secretary for the state fair to succeed Col. J. R. Rippey, who does not desire re-election, the board should name some gentleman who will make Sedalia his permanent home, and not some one who will spend only two or three months here each year.

The uniformed police on the fair grounds for the week are Charles Stewart and Frank McCarthy, of St. Louis; J. C. Highley, William Byington, Charles Adams and John Hill, of Farmington. Besides these officers there are numerous others under the direction of E. H. Wood, chief of the fair grounds corps.

Although many people, including members of the fair board, were of the opinion that no horticultural exhibit would be made, or if it was that it would be a very small one, the display in that department is equal to some made in previous years, when an abundant supply of fruit could be secured anywhere.

In the Agricultural building Shepard & Cross, of Lamonte; Wm. Romig, of Dresden, and Frank Rau, of Sedalia, have one of the most extensive exhibits of Pettis county products ever made. This exhibit is at the north and east sides of the hall, and is one of the principal displays in the building. The same exhibit took first prize at the Interstate fair in Kansas City.

CAREER IS REMARKABLE

THAT OF LATE AUGUST BONDI, WHO WAS KNOWN IN SEDALIA

IN JOHN BROWN'S FIRST BATTLE

It Was in 1856 That He Joined the Kansan's Original Band of Eleven Men—The Fight Against Pro-Slavery Men

Salina, Kan., Oct. 5.—August Bondi, who died in St. Louis Monday, was a member of John Browns original band. Bondi was a native of Austria, and began his fighting under Kossuth. His first work in America was as a typesetter for a German paper in St. Louis. In March, 1855, Bondi started for Kansas on the "Polar Star." He crossed the line into Kansas April 2, 1855, and in May settled on Mosquito branch to Pottawatomie creek in Franklin county. In 1856 he joined the little band of free state men, which was organized under the leadership of John Brown. June 2, 1856, they were in their first battle, which is said to be really the prelude of the civil war.

There had been some fighting in Kansas and affairs began to look dark for the free state men. The border ruffians were stealing the horses and cattle of the settlers and burning their homes Among the number who had suffered was John Brown and his sons and some of his neighbors. Brown organized a band of eleven men and intended to increase his force in order to cope with the border ruffians and drive them from Kansas. Of the eleven original members, six were from his own family, four sons, a brother-in-law and himself. Bondi was one of the band.

Recently Mr. Bondi visited Solomon Brown in Portland, Ore. "I had a splendid visit with Solomon Brown," said Mr. Bondi. "We talked over the old times and the events in the early days of Kansas. They were all fresh in our memories." Then he gave a short story of the battle of Black Jack and other events of the early history in Kansas.

Our organization was composed of John Brown and his four sons, Owen, Solomon, Frederick and Oliver; Charles Kaiser, Theodore Weiner, George Townsley, Benjamin Cochrane, Henry Thompson, a brother-in-law of John Brown, and myself. The border ruffians heard of our organization and plans and a price had been placed on our heads. We made our first camp on Taway creek, now called Ottawa creek, in Franklin county, near the Douglas county line, and here we remained for six days—from May 24 to June 1, 1856. We were rationed twice a day with a pone of bran bread—and that was all we had to eat. But we were determined in our cause, and the rations were a small matter with us in those days. It was in this retreat that James Ridpath, then a correspondent for a New York newspaper, discovered Brown and his little army.

Our band had been reinforced the night before the battle of Black Jack by about forty free state men from the vicinity of Prairie City. Soon after the reinforcements arrived three border ruffian scouts wee seen in the distance, and Captain Brown sent seven men after them. They were brought into camp. From them we learned where the main border ruffian camp was. They gave us the news that pro-slavery men had gone down into our part of the state and made prisoners of all the free state leaders there. A few men were left in charge of the prisoners, and the rest of our force, seventeen strong, at once set out for the pro-slavery camp.

We rode until 2 o'clock in the morning, finally stopping in a post oak grove. At the first break of day, June 2, we started, all except Frederick Brown, who was left to guard the horses. Brown had agreed upon a plan of battle with the forty free state men who had joined us. He told them that upon the sighting the camp he would give the command to charge, and that they should charge with us. When the command was given our company of seventeen men, without looking back, rushed to the bottom of the hill, where we were commanded to halt. Captain Brown had noticed that the other companies, numbering forty men, had remained behind and were firing a few shots from a position on the hilltop. John Brown then ordered the seventeen men to take to the washed out Santa Fe trail, which was near, and we used it as a rifle pit.

How vividly I can recall the scene. By 6 o'clock four of our party had been wounded. Things were beginning to look pretty blue for our little party and we were getting short of ammunition, with apparently little headway in routing the ruffians. It was between 9 and 10 o'clock when Captain Brown came to my end of the line. "Boys," he said, "something must be done or we will have no force left." He told us he would go ahead to find a position to command the camp of the enemy, and he ordered us to follow him. We had gone only about fifty yards when Brown ordered his men to kill the border ruffians' horses. "Maybe we can scare them into surrendering, but we must kill no more of our enemies than we are obliged to," said the leader. A volley was fired at the horses, killing three of them. We then noticed a commotion in the border ruffian camp and Captain Brown said he would go down and summon them to surrender. Brown then ordered that I, having the poorest gun, keep close behind him, with the others following a little further behind.

"If I wave my hat everybody come rushing," said the captain. On the way we met a border ruffian with a flag of truce. Brown sent him back and told him to tell his comrades he would talk only to their leader. At this Captain H. C. Pate, of the pro-slavery party, came out. When asked by Brown what his business was in that neighborhood, Pate replied that he was arresting lawbreakers. Brown then demanded the unconditional surrender of Pate and his party, which was reluctantly granted by Pate, who then stepped out in front of his men waving a white flag, and called to them that he was ready to leave. The rifles were taken from the men and Pate surrendered his sword. Pate's band was composed of some twenty-four armed men. Some thirty had run away during the fight, and fifteen were wounded.

A few days after the fight Captain Brown left for Iowa, but returned to fight the battle of Osawatomie, which is another story. The fighting for five hours at the battle of Black Jack was the beginning of John Brown's career. "God was there and so was John Brown," was an expression often used by his comrades afterwards. The first organization of which I have been telling was not strictly an anti-slavery body, as many have supposed, but was formed more for the purpose of protecting the settlers and driving the border ruffians from the state. I was with Brown's little army from May 22, 1856, until the latter part of September, the same year.

In telling of the early days in Kansas, Mr. Bondi often said that Kansas City was then a town of about 2,000. Osawatomie was a village of about forty cabins, and there was not a railroad in either Kansas or Missouri. Mr. Bondi served in the civil war. He was mustered in as first sergeant of company K, Fifth Kansas cavalry, and participated in every engagement of the regiment. He carried two ounces of lead in his body as a result of his services in the civil war. June 28, 1860, he was married in Leavenworth to Miss Henrietta Einstein, and after the war he worked in stores, printing offices, on steamboats, kept tavern, taught school and farmed.

In 1877 he engaged in the real estate business in Salina, where he also lent money and practiced law. He was a member of the school board for several years, was township trustee, clerk of the district court, clerk of the United States land office, and was a member of the state board of charities at one time. Under Cleveland's administration in 1894 he was appointed postmaster at Salina, and served in the position until August, 1907.

WILL WED OCTOBER 17

MR. JAMES HORTON, OF BOZEMAN, MONT., AND MISS MOLLIE BOHON, SEDALIA.

THE ENGAGEMENT IS ANNOUNCED

At a Delightful Progressive Luncheon at the Home of Miss Myrtle Higgins on East Thirteenth Street.

A delightful progressive luncheon, during which the engagement of one of Sedalia's most popular young ladies was announced, was given by Miss Myrtle Higgins at her home, Thirteenth and Ingram avenue, last night, fully thirty young ladies and gentlemen being in attendance.

The affair began at 9:30 o'clock, and when all the guests had assembled the announcement was made that Miss Mollie Bohon, daughter of J. T. Bohon, a Katy engineer, and wife, was to be married to James Horton, of Bozeman., Mont., at Bozeman, on October. 17

Immediately the guests began to extend congratulations, after which an engagement box was opened. In it were many beautiful and neat wedding presents, given to the bride to-be by the guests in attendance.

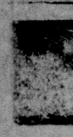

The house was decorated very appropriately in pink, and the refreshments served during the evening follow: Bouillon and salted crackers, salmon salad on lettuce, olive and pickles, ice cream, wafers, coffee and mints. The refreshments were also in pink coloring.

During the evening each guest offered a toast to the bride, after which all returned home, delighted with the evening so pleasantly spent and wishing Miss Bohon a long and happy married life.

Miss Bohon has been private clerk to the wire chief of the Bell Telephone company for some time. By her accomodating manner in attending to patrons of the company she has established a reputation for herself as one of the company's most faithful and valued employes, and it is with regret that the management of the company and her co-workers see her leave, although taking pleasure in extending congratulations.

Miss Bohon will leave here about the 14th of October, and will journey directly to Bozoman, where she will be joined by Mr. Horton, immediately after which the wedding will take place. They will make their home at Bozeman.

Mr. Horton holds a good position with a telephone company at Bozeman and is said to be in every respect worthy of the young lady who is soon to become his wife.

LIEUT. GOV. CHANLER WILL BE NEXT DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENTIAL NOMINEE.

CHAS. MAHONEY IS STAKEHOLDER

'Tis Little Early for a Plunge of This Magnitude, for There Is No Telling Where the Lightning May Strike.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, Oct. 5.—Lieutenant Governor Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler gave his democratic friends quite a shock this week by per-emptorily ordering withdrawn a resolution they had prepared to be introduced at the meeting of the democratic state committee, endorsing him for the democratic presidential nomination.

Congressman Timothy D. Sullivan, who, with Leader Charles F. Murphy, controls the democratic organization in New York, is responsible for putting Governor Chanler into the presidential race.

It developed at the meeting that Senator Patrick H. McCarron, who represents the Brooklyn faction of democracy, and who is closely allied with Standard Oil interests, was antagonistic to a Chanler resolution.

Rather than have a fight in the committee over the matter Governor Chanler asked Congressman Sullivan to have the resolution withdrawn.

Subsequently it appeared that the Sullivan-Murphy combination had McCarron beaten in the committee by a vote of 30 to 18, but this did not alter Governor Chanler's mind, as he refused absolutely to have his name used unless it was certain of unanimous endorsement.

Governor Chanler said that he had never announced that he was a candidate for the presidency, and he realized that men like Bryan, Folk, Johnson, Culberson, Hoke Smith, Gray and William Randolph Hearst have more or less of a following, and he did not wish to have it understood that he, in any way, considered he had a monopoly of all the democrats there are in the country.

After the meeting Congressman Sullivan said that Chanler was a better politician than any of them. "We had," said the congressman, "more than enough votes to put through the resolution, and I am now inclined to agree with him, and unless the vote were unanimous it would be bad politics."

As a side-light on the Chanler situation it is interesting to observe that a bet of $30,000 to $10,000 was made that Chanler would be the next democratic nominee, Charles Mahoney, of the Hoffman house, being the stakeholder.

UNVEILED A MONUMENT

Erected to the Memory of Daniel Boone by the D. A. R.

Special to Democrat-Sentinel.

Richmond, Ky., Oct. 5.—At Boonesboro, this county, the site of the first permanent settlement west of the Alleghenies and the outpost of civilization when Kentucky was a wilderness, inhabited only by Indians and wild beasts, a monument was unveiled today to perpetuate the memory of Daniel Boone and the other hardy pioneers who founded Fort Boone.

The memorial was erected by the Daughters of the American Revolution, who were in charge of the unveiling exercises Addresses were delivered by several prominent Kentuckians.

OPPOSITION TO CLEMENCY

Attorney Examines Papers Filed in Governor's Office.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 5.—M. T. January, an attorney connected with that case, is here looking over the papers filed in the governor's office in the application for a pardon for Dr. Todd, who has served about two years of a seven-year sentence for the killing of a man named Wall, in Vernon county.

The case has been set for hearing before the governor October 31. Mr. January states that there will be much opposition to the granting of executive clemency. Behind the movement to obtain the pardon is Judge Rich.

FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

Man Who Murdered Two Men and One Woman on Trial for Life.

Goshen. N. Y., Oct. 7.—Charles Henry Rogers was called on in court here today to answer to the charge that he murdered Frederick and Willis Olney, prosperous dairy farmers, together with the daughter of their housekeeper, Alice Ingerick.

Rogers, who is 32 years old, and has a wife and five children, is said to have confessed the crime, giving as his reason that he was in need of money, and hearing that the Olneys had received $300, he armed himself with a piece of gas pipe, murdered and then robbed them.

STATE OF MISSOURI, | ss
County of Pettis,

In the Circuit Court of Pettis County, Missouri, ... Term, 1907

W. H. Johnson.....Plaintiff.

vs.

Joseph Davis and Rebecca Davis, his wife, and the unknown heirs of Joseph Davis.....Defendants.

Now, at this day comes the plaintiff herein, by his attorneys, Barnett & Barnett, and files his petition and affidavit, alleging among other things that defendants are not residents of the state of Missouri, and cannot be served with the ordinary process of law in this state;

Whereupon it is ordered by the clerk of said court in vacation that said defendants be notified by publication that plaintiff has commenced a suit against them in this court, the object and general nature of which is to have the plaintiff's record title perfected in and to the northeast quarter of the northeast quarter of section fifteen (15), township forty-seven (47), range twenty-two (22) in Pettis county, Missouri, west of the fifth principal meridian, and to have the title decreed to be in plaintiff by limitation, and to have all record and apparent title of the defendants divested out of them and vested in the plaintiff. And it is alleged in the petition that there are persons to-wit: The unknown heirs of Joseph Davis, who are interested in the subject matter of the petition whose names he can not insert herein because they are unknown to him, but the interest of said unknown heirs is derived from Joseph Davis, they as such heirs having inherited whatever interest said Joseph Davis had at time of his death, in said land, the said Joseph Davis having entered this land from the United States, and the deed by which he conveyed it to the party under whom plaintiff claims being defective in that the description and acknowledgement are defective, and unless the said defendants, Joseph Davis, Rebecca Davis and the unknown heirs of Joseph Davis be and appear at this court at the next December term thereof, to be begun and holden at the court house, in the city of Sedalia, in said county, on the first Monday of December next, and on or before the first day of said term, answer or plead to the petition in said cause, the same will be taken as confessed, and judgment will be rendered accordingly.

And it is further ordered, that a copy hereof be published, according to law, in the Weekly Democrat-Sentinel, a newspaper printed and published in Pettis county, Missouri, and designated by the plaintiff, four weeks successively, the last insertion whereof shall be at least fifteen days before the commencement of the said December term of this court.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

ONE OF THE RIVER FLEET RUN INTO BOAT CARRYING PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

ORDERED CAPTAIN'S SUSPENSION

The Fred Hartweg, While Trying to Secure a Coveted Position, Collided With the Mississippi—President Thrown Down.

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 5.—President Roosevelt's reason for asking the suspension of the officer in charge of the steamer Hartweg, as was made known in Evansville, Ind., yesterday, was told today by some of those who accompanied the president's fleet down the river. According to the reports, Mr. Roosevelt and all those on the Mississippi, the president's boat, were in actual danger by reason of the conduct of the Fred Hartweg.

The Hartweg had on board the delegation to Memphis from Pittsburg, Pa. When the president's fleet left Cairo the Mississippi, of course, led, and the Alton, bearing the St. Louis delegation, was next in line.

The officer in charge of the Hartweg evidently coveted the position of honor held by the Alton and determined to secure it. With this purpose in view, he drove his boat in between the Alton and the Mississippi. There was a miscalculation on his part, however, and the Hartweg bumped the Mississippi with great force. So severe was the shock that the president was thrown against the wall of his cabin and slightly bruised. Others on board met the same fate.

A more serious accident was averted, it is said, by the quick action of the commander of the Mississippi, who, seeing that a collision was impending, made every effort to get his boat out of the way. As it was, the Mississippi was turned partly around and thrown out of its path.

The President Near His Camp.

New Orleans, Oct. 5.—A long distance telephone message to the Associated Press from Lake Providence, La., says that President Roosevelt and his party arrived there this morning and that a large crowd of people was lined up at the station to meet him. The president delivered a speech.

Lake Providence, La., Oct. 5.—President Roosevelt's hunting camp in East Carroll parish is all in readiness for the arrival of the president and his party today. Every preparation has been made to add to the comfort of the party, and yesterday and early this morning men were at work building drains and arranging tents.

Eleven tents have been pitched within a stone's throw of the Tensas river, and the location is a good one. Five of the tents will be occupied by the white members of the party, while two will be turned over to the negro guides and servants, the remaining tents being a kitchen, a dining tent and a canvass spread for the horses.

Squirrels are numerous about the tent and plenty of trout can be caught in the Tensas. The servants left at the camp will hunt for small game during the day and will aid in providing the larder of the president's party. The party will not be disturbed by visitors, as the camp is situated ten miles from a railroad, and in a section of the country that never heard a woodman's ax before this camp was made.

COUNTY COURT DOINGS

David N. Rhodes Appointed Constable of Washington Township.

(From Monday's Daily.)

The Pettis county court is in session at the court house today and a number of important matters of a routine nature are being disposed of.

David N. Rhodes, of Washington township, was appointed constable, vice J. J. Rager, resigned.

A bounty of $3.00 for a wolf scalp was awarded to James W. Neal.

Hiram Chambers, 65 years old, was ordered admitted to the county home.

At this afternoon's session Mrs. Katie C. Tisch was adjudged insane, and was ordered removed to the Nevada asylum by Sheriff Sprecher.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

ORDER MADE IN REGARD TO STUDENTS BELONGING TO SECRET SOCIETIES.

MUST QUIT THEM BY JANUARY 1

All Who Do Not Are to Be Denied All Privileges of the School Except the Class Room—A Medal Is Offered

The Sedalia school board at Friday night's meeting adopted resolutions which will eventually abolish all Greek letter fraternities and sororities from the High school in this city.

Under penalty of being forbidden the privileges of the school, which privileges are embodied in the resolutions given below, the board expects to wipe out all societies of this character. The resolutions follow:

The board of directors of the school district of the city of Sedalia, Missouri, hereby adopt the following rule for the government of the High school in said district with reference to secret societies being organized among the pupils. By secret societies is meant the Greek letter fraternity among the male pupils and the sorority among the female pupils:

First, That all pupils of the Sedalia High school who are now members, or who may hereafter become members of any secret Greek letter fraternity, or any sorority, or any other secret organization, or who shall pledge himself or herself, or any other pupil, to become a member of any such society, or shall in any way foster a fraternity spirit among the pupils of the High school, or shall solicit any pupil to become a member of any such society, shall be, and are hereby denied all the privileges of the High school, except those of the class room.

The privileges of the High school hereby denied are as follows: Membership in any High school athletic team or musical and literary societies, taking part in any class day exercise and the customary graduating honors; provided, that all pupils who are now members of such secret societies, or pledged to become such, who will on or before the 1st day of January, 1908, promise in writing to the principal of the High school, that so long as they remain students of the High school they will not become members of any other secret society, or give any promise or pledge to become such, or solicit any other student to give any promise or pledge to become a member of any High school fraternity or secret society, and withdraw their membership from the High school fraternity or secret society to which such pupil may belong, and in good faith keep such promise, all such students shall be restored to all privileges of the High school.

Second, The board of directors hereby instructs the principal and faculty of the High school of the city of Sedalia to notify each pupil of the adoption of above rule, and enforce the penalty of the rule against all pupils who violate the same.

The board also accepted the proposition of Col. J. West Goodwin, offering a gold medal to the High school student making the greatest progress and advancement in history.

Two Dyspeptics

If you are too fat it is because your food turns to fat instead of muscle—strength. If you are too lean the fat producing foods that you eat are not properly digested and assimilated.

Lean, thin, stringy people do not have enough Pepsin in the stomach, while fat people have too much Pepsin and not enough Pancreatine.

Kodol

For Dyspepsia

Contains all the digestive juices that are found in a healthy stomach, and in exactly those proportions necessary to enable the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all foods that may be eaten. Kodol is not only a perfect digestant, but it is a reconstructive, tissue building tonic as well. Kodol relieves Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Palpitation of the Heart and Constipation. You will like it.

Digests What You Eat

Rests the stomach, rebuilds the tissues and gives firm flesh.

THE CHASNOFF BOYS

One Wins Scholarship: Another Gets Into Glee Club.

M. Chasnoff, the popular merchant, and his good wife, have two of the brightest boys that ever left Sedalia to attend school.

Jacob is a student at Harvard college and has just been awarded a scholarship worth $150 because of his high average in his studies last year, he having been graded "A."

Another son, Joseph, younger than Jacob, is at the state university, after having been graduated from the High school here last June, and has just been elected a member of the University Glee club, an honor truly to be appreciated, and one seldom accorded a freshman.

Like their father, these young men are hustlers, going on the theory that whatever is worth doing is worth doing well, and that they will succeed in life, no matter what their calling, is assured in advance.

HARNESS STEALING CASE

Cummings Fined $1 and Costs and Lee Was Acquitted.

The case of the state against Messrs. Cummings and Lee, well known farmers, charged with the theft of a set of harness from Van Gorrell, was tried before a jury in Justice Hughes' court at Georgetown Friday.

Mr. Cummings testified that he owned the harness in question and loaned them to Mr. Lee.

Mr. Gorrell testified that he owned the harness, and corroborative proof to that effect was adduced.

The jury found Mr. Cummings guilty and assessed a fine of $1 and costs, while in the case of Mr. Lee a verdict of not guilty was returned.

THE COURTNEY SHOE CO.

Buys J. B. Bruns Shoe Company at Jefferson City.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 7.—The Courtney Shoe company, of St. Louis, has acquired the J. B. Bruns Shoe company here. J. H. Guyett, representing the St. Louis company, closed up the deal today.

Though no figures are given out, it is understood that the amount involved exceeds $200,000. The Bruns company is one of the three which moved its shops from the penitentiary about two years ago, and has since been operating outside the walls.

Title to the building does not become vested in the company until the expiration of five years. The employes number about 500. All the details of the deal will be closed by tonight, when the new concern will be in full charge and control.

SAYS SHE HAD NO DATE

With Man Her Father, a Policeman, Shot as a Marauder.

Frankfort, Ind., Oct. 7.—About midnight Police Officer Ben Martin fatally shot Roscoe Douglass, a young man who was attempting to make a clandestine call upon his daughter, Miss Pearl Martin, according to the dying statement of Douglass.

Officer Martin, who is under a bond of $1,000 on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill, says he thought Douglass was intending to break into his house, and that as Douglass started to run he shot him.

Miss Martin denies that she had any date with Douglass. Douglass was barely alive and sinking rapidly. He is a son of Frank Douglass, a well-known horseman.

FELL IN HOT SOAP

Little Boy Was Terribly Scalded in Henry County.

Dr. B. E. Barr was called to the Mt. Carmel neighborhood, west of Clinton, Friday afternoon, by the terrible scalding of Phil, the 3-year-old son of Jacob Snyder, says the Clinton Democrat.

Soap had been made that day in a big kettle over a fire in the yard. The little boy, after coming home from school, was shooting at birds in the trees with a rubber sling-shot, and was so intent in this occupation that he stumbled over the kettle, and fell headlong into it, the hot soap covering his face and arms and scalding the skin off.

Dr. Barr reports his condition as very critical.

JUDGE GEO. F. LONGAN

IS APPOINTED TO TAKE TESTIMONY IN PROSECUTION OF A TRUST.

ROBT. MITCHELL, OF MACON, ALSO

Attorney General Hadley Claims to Have Evidence of Existence of Illegal Combinations, Lumber and Insurance.

Upon application of Attorney General Hadley, Chief Justice Gantt, of the supreme court, late Saturday afternoon appointed special commissioners to take testimony to determine whether sixty-nine insurance companies and forty-seven lumber companies, doing business in Missouri, were operating in violation of the anti-ttrust laws of the state.

The filing of ouster proceedings

by the atttorney general will depend upon the report of the commissioners who take the testimony.

Judge George F. Longan, of Sedalia, was appointed commissioner for the investigation of the insurance companies, and Robert G. Mitchell, of Macon, for the lumber companies.

"I have received a number of complaints and have testimony tending to show the existence of a combination among wholesale lumber companies and insurance companies, in violation of the anti-trust laws of the state," said Attorney General Hadley.

"It has, however, seemed advisable that these complaints and this testimony should be sifted by preliminary examinattion in order that it might be definitely determined whether the facts would justify a prosecution.

"The companies charged will thus have an opportunity to make a full and frank disclosure of the methods in which their business is conducted, and if they are not violating the anti-trust laws of the state they will, of course, gladly avail themselves of the opportunity.

"In this way persons who have knowledge of the workings of these combinations will also be furnished an opportunity to produce their evidence and aid in the prosecution.

"Similar situations exist in a number of contiguous states, and it is probable that in the conduct of this preliminary investigation the atttorneys general of other states will participate.

"The charge that these companies are violating the anti-trust laws of the state is not based upon the association of retail lumber dealers or the local association of insurance agents, although the workings of these associations may be indirectly involved in the inquiry."

In his application to Judge Gantt, Attorney General Hadley stated that he had information that the insurance companies named "have entered into and become members of a trust, pool, agreement, arrangement, combination and understanding in violation of the laws of this state to regulate, fix and maintain the price or premium to be paid for insuring property against loss or damage by fire, lightning or storm and to prevent competition."

He made a similar charge against the lumber companies to the effect that they had formed a pool to regulate the price of lumber.

In appointing the commissioners Judge Gantt gave them poyer to require the witnesses to answer all such relevant and material questions as may be put to them concerning any contract, agreement, arrangement, combination or understanding made between them.

Regarding the appointments the St. Louis Republic says:

Judge George F. Longan, of Sedalia, named to take testimony in the fire insurance inquiry, is one of the best known lawyers in Central Missouri. He represented Pettis county several times in the legislature, and later was elected judge of the criminal court of the Sedalia district, a position he held for many years.

Mr. Mitchell, who will preside over the inquiry into the lumber companies, is a well known lawyer of Macon, one whose reputattion is not merely of a local nature.

When these inquiries will be set in motion can not be predicted. No doubt, the examiners will come here early next week and qualify, and then a program will be arranged. It will be up to the attorney general to outline a plan of campaign, such as naming the witnesses he desires tto interrogate. That the inquiry will be long and exhaustive is not doubted here. It is the most expansive inquiry ever undertaken by one man in this particular field.

HAS FINE HORSES

McAllister's Animals Win Money—Trained by W. B. Taylor.

(Sunday's Daily.)

J. R. McAllister, a thorough horseman, and one of the most enthusiastic members of the Gentlemen's Driving club, is justly proud of the showing made by his two horses, Virginia and Tokomo, in winning first money in the 2:20 pace and the 2:35 trot at the state fair grounds race track yesterday.

In the pace Virginia was driven by W. B. Taylor, and just as the start was made the horse struck her foot into the wheel of a sulky drawn by another horse, causing her to go into the air and break. This gave the other horses in the race a lead of an eighth of a mile, but Virginia showed remarkable speed, overcoming the lead and passing under the wire an easy winner.

Tokomo, entered in the trot, won out, although the horse had just arrived from Kansas City, and with scarcely no rest was put in the harness and won the race. This horse was trained by Mr. Taylor in the early spring and since that time has started fourteen times in racing events in this and adjoining states, and in thirteen instances was in for some portion of the purses offered.

SCHOOL DID NOT OPEN

Do Not Care to Take Any Chance With Diphtheria.

(Monday's Daily.)

The diphtheria scare at Lamonte is now almost at an end, and the few cases that exist are kept in such close quarantine that there is thought to be on danger of the disease spreading. All of the patients are gradually improving, and the board of health in that city feels confident that they have checked the ravages of the disease.

Two weeks ago the schools were closed there, and it was the intention to re-open them today, but fearing that the attendance would be cut short, and also that the disease might start anew, it was deemed advisable to keep them closed this week also.

Never before in the entire history of that city have all public meetings been dispensed with, and it seemed strange, indeed, for the citizens yesterday and the previous Sunday not to hear the usual ringing of the church bells, calling the people to their different places of worship.

BIG VALUE PUT ON KISS

Sued for $200,000 Because He Caressed Jeweler's Wife.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 7.—Elmer E. Poole, a Boston manufacturing jeweler, has brought suit for $200,000 in the superior court of this city, accusing the Rev. William G. Jones, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church, of Seattle, with alienating the affections of Mrs. Poole.

The Rev. Mr. Jones recently married Miss Mattie Horton, the youngest daughter of the late Dexter Horton, Seattle's pioneer banker. Poole charges that the preacher, formerly pastor of Center Street Baptist church of Boston, held Mrs. Poole on his knee and kissed her. Mrs. Jones expresses full confidence in her husband's fidelity to her and characterizes the action as blackmail.

"Our Sign Stands for Quality"

-right now is your chance to get a Buck's stove or range

--Buck's hot blast--the great fuel saver

—this stove produces more heat for less money than any other stove in the world.

—by means of air ducts, in an encircling ring, heated oxygen is admitted to the upper surface of the burning coal, thus allowing all gases to be consumed.

—you will save at least one-third of your fuel expenditures if you use a Buck's hot-blast heater.

—this is just one of the many very good reasons why you should own one.

--we will send to your home on approval any Buck's heater, range or cook stove shown on our sample floor.

--this astonishing offer is made because of our great faith in these truly exceptional stoves.

--if the stove does not in every way fulfill the promises made for it we will cheerfully remove it and refund any money that may have been paid on it.

--a bond goes with every stove guaranteeing that we will do absolutely as we say we will.

--let us show you the stoves and tell you more of this exceptional offer today.

--We will sell any stove or range selected from our stock during the next 30 days on easy payments.

---double heater---furnace as well as stove

—you can heat an "upstairs" room in addition to the one in which the stove stands, with a Buck's hot-blast heater.

—this double heater attachment takes the cold air from the floor, heats it hot, and sends it either out into the room, or—if a pipe is attached—to a room above.

—this advantage alone should make the stove invaluable to you.

—there are many other advantages which this stove possesses over the ordinary stove.

PETER HOFFMAN

---We have a large assortment of coal hods ranging in price from 20c to 65c each.
